Past on parade

It was no ordinary day at Arlington High School.

It seemed that all of history was parading through the hall of the school, 502 W. Euclid Ave., Arlington Heights, when the students and faculty last week decided to dress up and pretend they were Americans from long ago.

This was Arlington's attempt at a noncommercial Bicentennial celebration — to have living figures of the past gracing the halls, even if those figures were still teaching the same old algebra and crowding the lunch lines.

Abraham Lincoln and his wife were in the social science department, and a World War I officer was teaching communications.

Arlington usually has a day where everybody dresses in clothes from the 50s, but for 1976, they gave up their bobby sox for breeches.

Ryan seeks testimony on cop charges

Arlington Heights Village Pres. James T. Ryan will ask that former Arlington Heights Police Capt. Irvin McDougall testify on alleged problems within the department at tonight's village board meeting.

Ryan said McDougall's testimony is needed to place the criticism of the force by former police Capt. Jack Aldrich into perspective.

"I'm going to ask McDougall to come up here, too. I want to hear from both of them," Ryan said.

Both former captains retired from the Arlington Heights force last year to accept positions as chiefs in other towns. Aldrich assumed command in Barrington Hills and McDougall accepted the same post in downstate Mendota.

LAST WEEK Aldrich set off a bombshell when recently resigned trustee Alice Harms delivered a letter of his blasting police operations and department morale.

After Aldrich's letter was read at a meeting of the village board's finance committee, Trustee Frank Palmatier said Aldrich would have to be called before the board to discuss his allegations. Palmatier has called for an independent study of the department to help clear the air.

Palmatier's call for an independent study was endorsed by at least two other trustees.

TRUSTEE DAVID Griffin said an outside consultant "would add credibility" to a village administration study of the department that has yet to be released.

Village Mgr. L.A. Hanson said the village study is still "in rough draft form," and declined to say when it would be made public.

Griffin said, "The people need to be convinced that if there are problems, they will be corrected."

McDougall said he would be willing to testify before the village board if called.

WHEN MRS. Harms resigned from the board, she questioned the motivation behind the resignation of two police captains within weeks of each other.

"I left because I wanted to," McDougall said Friday. "Don't tell me that Jack (Aldrich) left because he didn't want to."

On the heels of Aldrich's allegations came a report from Palmatier that police chief L.W. Calderwood is planning to retire on July 31.

Calderwood has had no comment on Aldrich's allegations and has said he has no plans to retire.

The village board will meet at 8 p.m. in the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. The meeting is open to the public.

Aldrich willing to help clarify police methods

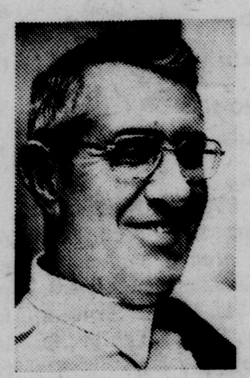
Former Arlington Heights Police Capt. Jack Aldrich said Friday he will appear before village officials, if asked, to clarify a report released last week in which he was highly critical of the police department.

"Since I sent it in I feel I have a duty to respond," said the 50-year-old police veteran, who retired from the Arlington Heights force in September to become police chief in Barrington Hills.

He was a member of the Arlington Heights Police Dept. for 23 years.

THE VILLAGE BOARD is expected to request a special meeting with Aldrich when it meets Monday night.

Village Pres. James T. Ryan and several trustees already have called for the meeting in the wake of the letter and two-page report on "departmental problems" distributed to the village board's finance committee Wednesday. The report was submitted at a budget hearing by former Trustee Alice Harms.



Jack Aldrich

In the letter, Aldrich charged "decisiveness is not encouraged, rather discouraged; innovativeness is downgraded and divisiveness is encouraged."

The morale of the police department "is at the lowest ebb in 24 years," the letter said.

Aldrich's report on problems in the department dealt with budget procedures, direction and goal determination, job descriptions, record keeping and the department's reporting system.

"We need to get Aldrich to come in to detail his allegations. They're stated pretty broadly," Trustee Frank Palmatier said.

"In fairness to everybody, Aldrich should be asked to come forward and give us the right to question him in a sort of cross-examination style in order to document his charges," Trustee David Griffin said.

U.S. subs, enemy collide 9 times

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Intelligence Committee's final report says U.S. nuclear submarines in Soviet waters have collided with nine "hostile vessels" in the last 10 years.

That's only part of a hair-raising story.

Of the collisions reported without details by the committee, five are known to have involved Soviet nuclear submarines — with both craft submerged and carrying either nuclear missiles or nuclear torpedoes.

None resulted in any sinking of U.S. submarines or serious injury to American crews, and the most reliable word available is that "presumably" no Russian sub was sunk.

THIS ALSO LEADS to speculation on a number of sinkings of American and Soviet submarines for which no completely satisfactory reasons have been given.

Leaked segments of the House report — still classified because it contains material the White House did not want released — said of the collision incidents:

"A highly technical U.S. Navy submarine reconnaissance program, often operating within unfriendly waters, has experienced at least 9 collisions with hostile vessels in the last 10 years, over 110 possible detections, and at least three press exposures. Most of the submarines carry nuclear weapons."

The report did not say so but it referred to a top-secret U.S. Navy operation which, at least until last year, was called "Holystone" and was run from an operations center known as the "Spook Shack" at Norfolk, Va., submarine headquarters of the Atlantic Fleet command.

"THE PROGRAM clearly produces useful information on our adversaries' training exercises, weapons, testing, and general naval capabilities," the report said.

"It is also clear that the program is

3-part referendum fails in Dist. 54

The Schaumburg Dist. 54 Board of Education will meet Thursday to plan "where to go from here" after three referendum issues lost by substantial margins Saturday. Voters in all 12 district precincts turned down proposals that would have: authorized $350,000 in construction bonds for financing an administration center; increase the education fund from $1.61 to $1.91 per $100 assessed valuation; and increase the operations and maintenance fund from 37.5 to 55 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Supt. Wayne Schaible said he was disappointed with the results, "but this is what the people were saying. Now we're going to have to go back and analyze what this will mean."

Sticker deadlines extended

Residents in Schaumburg and unincorporated areas of Cook County have received a reprieve on vehicle sticker deadlines, but most Northwest suburban residents were required to have their stickers displayed by 12:01 a.m. today. Schaumburg residents have until 12:01 a.m. Tuesday and residents in unincorporated county have until March 1. However, any motorists caught by police without 1976 state license plates today will be ticketed. Local authorities said Sunday they have not planned any special enforcement blitz. In Rolling Meadows, however, Police Chief Lewis Case says he will have squad cars at entrances of developments and apartments with underground garages to look for violators.

Police seek two bandits

Police are searching for two bandits who robbed a Palatine liquor store of an undetermined amount of cash late Saturday. Robert Kampka, 30, a store clerk for the Southland Corp., 749 W. Palatine Road, said two men, one of them armed with a shotgun, robbed the store about 11 p.m. Kampka was forced at gunpoint to lie on the floor while one of the robbers emptied the cash register. Police said it is not known how the robbers fled the scene.

Woman charged in man's death

An Arlington Hcights woman has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Jan. 3 death of Douglas Moore of Mount Prospect in the underground garage at Dana Point Apartments. Donna J. Wolter 19, of 1615 E. Central Rd., was charged Friday. Miss Wolter had been charged with reckless homicide, but a Cook County Coroner's jury ruled the death involuntary manslaughter. Moore, 19, of 601 E. Prospect Ave., died of shock and internal bleeding after suffering multiple injuries when he was struck by a car in the garage at 1615 E. Central Rd. Police have said preliminary evidence indicated Miss Wolter was the driver of the car. Miss Wolter and Moore had been attending a birthday party at the building and were leaving to go to a local bar when the incident occurred, witnesses told police.

Related company paid Howlett salary

by WANDALYN RICE

An auto junking firm, owned by the same company which paid Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett $15,000 a year for the last 15 years, held an exclusive contract to junk cars with the City of Chicago for seven years, Donald Page Moore, Democratic candidate for Cook County state's attorney said Sunday.

Moore said his investigation revealed that California Auto Reclamation Co., a subsidiary of the M.S. Kaplan Co., had the exclusive right to purchase and junk autos picked up by the Chicago Police Dept. from 1963 until 1970. Sun Steel Co., another Kaplan subsidiary, paid Howlett $225,000 from 1960 to 1975 for consulting work with the company.

Moore also said he has uncovered evidence indicating the auto reclamation company avoided buying state-required auto junking certificates during the period it was dealing with the city.

MOORE IS running in the March 16 primary for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney against Edward J. Egan, who has the support of the regular Cook County Democratic Party. Moore has the support of Gov. Daniel Walker, Howlett's opponent in the gubernatorial primary.

Howlett has been under attack for his connection with Sun Steel since it was revealed last month. Howlett has said he did labor and public relations work for the company.

Moore admitted he has no direct evidence linking Howlett, who was state auditor during the time of the California Auto Reclamation Co. contract, with any of the firm's dealings. However, he said Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Carey should investigate the company and Howlett's connection to see if any wrongdoing was involved.

Moore said the evidence that California Auto Reclamation Co. may have avoided buying the state junking certificates from the secretary of state's office comes from comparing state records on the number of certificates issued with court testimony from the general superintendent of California Auto Reclamation Co. concerning the number of cars scrapped each year.

IN 1968, Moore said, state records indicate 47,192 certificates were sold to auto junking companies in the state, while the California Auto Reclamation Co. general superintendent testified the company junked between 40,000 and 50,000 cars for Chicago.

"Either Carco (California Auto Reclamation Co.) handled 60 to 90 per cent of all the junking business in the state or Carco was somehow exempt from buying the junking certificates," Moore said.

The law was changed in 1970 eliminating the requirement for auto scrapping firms to buy junking certificates.

Moore attacked a contention by Carey that Howlett's dealings with Sun Steel and other business of Kaplan-owned companies do not fall under the jurisdiction of the Cook County state's attorney. "Everyone involved lives in Chicago; the businesses are headquartered here."

State police cars sport birthday stripes

State police are celebrating the nation's Bicentennial birthday with four white squad cars trimmed in red and blue stripes.

Capt. William P. Burt, commander of District 17, which covers the West and Northwest suburbs, said the four squad cars will be assigned to different districts in the state on a rotating basis. The special design is only for this year.

Burt said the change from the traditional beige to white was made to give the cars a higher degree of visibility for motorists. White will remain the color for all state police vehicles.

He added the cars will be available on request this year for any Bicentennial activities.

On cancer treatment developments

Radiology professor plans talk

Dr. William E. Powers, internationally known authority on cancer research, will speak on new developments in cancer treatment Friday in the auditorium of the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory, Batavia.

Powers is professor of radiology at the medical school of Washington University, St. Louis and a member of the National Cancer Advisory Board. His lecture, "The Physical and Biological Basis of Cancer Therapy," will start at 8:30 p.m.

The talk on cancer therapy will highlight the Fermi Laboratory's entry into medical research using high energy particles.

On Feb. 1, the cancer therapy department concluded the first phase of development of a cancer therapy facility in which research will be conducted on the curing properties of neutron beams for certain types of cancer.

Fermilab received a $1 million grant from the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society's Illinois division to fund the therapy facility for the first three years.

The Feb. 20 lecture is free but tickets are required. Seats may be reserved by calling Fermilab at 840-3440 or 840-3091.

The auditorium is located in the Central Laboratory of the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory which is visible from the laboratory entrances on Kirk Road and Ill. Rte. 59, between Butterfield and Roosevelt roads.

'Instant lottery' is given second chance

The "instant lottery" has an additional $2 million in prize money waiting to make 775,000 lottery players richer, Lottery Superintendent Ralph Batch said Sunday.

Batch said the popularity of the instant game has prompted officials to offer residents an another chance to win instant prizes. The remaining 4.5 million instant tickets are being redistributed to sales agents.

"Instead of taking the tickets back as planned," Batch said, "we decided to redistribute the remaining tickets."

When the game was introduced, Batch said he anticipated 55 million tickets would be sold, 20 million tickets given away as prizes and 5 million tickets returned unsold.

He said the sales agents who will sell the remaining supply of tickets will be announced through newspaper ads.

Asthma syrup touted

A new drug product which can be swallowed in a simple syrup form has proven safe and effective in controlling asthma in children, according to a San Diego, Calif., researcher.

The drug — metaproterenol sulfate — is now available in the United States under the trade names of Alupent and Metaprel, Dr. Milan L. Brandon of the Allergy Medical Group of San Diego said in a report in this week's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association published in Chicago.

In another article in the Journal, a Kentucky research group said birth control pills may be the cause of tumors in the liver.

Dr. E. Truman Mays and his colleagues at the University of Louisville school of medicine concluded from a study of 13 young women that the introduction of oral contraceptives in the United States has caused women to suffer from primary tumors of the liver with "increasing frequency."

Medicaid suspensions

The Department of Public Aid has suspended five doctors and four clinical laboratories from the Medicaid program after an investigation of fraudulent billing practices and kickback schemes, the department said Sunday.

The department also said a dozen other laboratories and doctors, pharmacies, nursing homes and other medical providers were currently under investigation for similar practices.

A spokesman for the department would not identify the clinics or the doctors but said the department had turned evidence over to a federal grand jury looking into the Medicaid practices on Jan. 22.

Teen killed in burglary

Police in Springfield shot and killed a 14-year-old boy during an apparent burglary attempt at a flower shop early Sunday.

The burglars tripped an alarm and police responded at about 3 a.m. Police said several shots were fired and they had not yet determined which officer fired the shot that killed Tom Faree, 14, Springfield.

Faree was dead on arrival at a Springfield hospital.

The Department of Public Aid has suspended five doctors and four clinical laboratories from the Medicaid program after an investigation of fraudulent billing practices and kickback schemes, the department said Sunday.

The department also said a dozen other laboratories and doctors, pharmacies, nursing homes and other medical providers were currently under investigation for similar practices.

A spokesman for the department would not identify the clinics or the doctors but said the department had turned evidence over to a federal grand jury looking into the Medicaid practices on Jan. 22.

Asthma syrup touted

A new drug product which can be swallowed in a simple syrup form has proven safe and effective in controlling asthma in children, according to a San Diego, Calif., researcher.

The drug — metaproterenol sulfate — is now available in the United States under the trade names of Alupent and Metaprel, Dr. Milan L. Brandon of the Allergy Medical Group of San Diego said in a report in this week's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association published in Chicago.

In another article in the Journal, a Kentucky research group said birth control pills may be the cause of tumors in the liver.

Dr. E. Truman Mays and his colleagues at the University of Louisville school of medicine concluded from a study of 13 young women that the introduction of oral contraceptives in the United States has caused women to suffer from primary tumors of the liver with "increasing frequency."

Teen killed in burglary

Police in Springfield shot and killed a 14-year-old boy during an apparent burglary attempt at a flower shop early Sunday.

The burglars tripped an alarm and police responded at about 3 a.m. Police said several shots were fired and they had not yet determined which officer fired the shot that killed Tom Faree, 14, Springfield.

Faree was dead on arrival at a Springfield hospital.

Patty believed she was 'walking dead girl': Bailey

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Patty Hearst was convinced by her captors that she was "a walking dead girl" who would be killed by law enforcement authorities if she attempted to turn herself in, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey said on a television program Sunday.

Bailey, interviewed on ABC's Issues and Answers, said her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers knew what they were doing and did a good job of brainwashing Miss Hearst into thinking she would be killed if she tried to escape or did not go along with her captors.

"The entire process destroyed all her confidence in all her old values, in her parents, in the law, in all she knew. It decieved her into thinking she was a walking dead girl."

Bailey said the SLA tried not so much to play on her fear, but to destroy her faith in her old values.

"She believed the FBI would have killed her. The United States has unwittingly reinforced what the SLA had told her," Bailey said, noting that then Attorney General William Saxbe said she was "nothing but a common criminal" and would be treated as such.

"Then she watched the other SLA members killed in the shootout in Los Angeles," he added.

"The fact is, if you were trained over and over as she was almost as a combat soldier, you react as you are told."

Bailey said the brainwashing was so complete that Miss Hearst had no means of escape and was still in that frame of mind when captured. Even noting her occupation as "urban guerrilla" at the jail after her capture last September was in character, he said.

"If she hadn't turned up in a military stance, the experts would have questioned whether she was really brainwashed."

Bailey also said anyone else in her position would not have been prosecuted.

"I'm convinced if this young lady was not Patty Hearst, she would not have been prosecuted," the attorney said, adding that the government was afraid it would be accused of catering to the rich if no charges were brought against the newspaper heiress.

Miss Hearst's state of mind has improved greatly since her capture, Bailey said.

"She reacts now, she takes more interest in her defense."

Bailey said she was a "bright girl" and asks intelligent questions about phases of the trial she does not understand.

"Her questions are usually very relevant. She's a very bright girl."

Occasionally now she smiles, he said. "This is such a deadly business, a smile from time to time is a salvation."

She is still afraid of reprisals, Bailey said. He said she told him at the start of the trial, "I am very fearful that before this trial is over my parents will be shot and people will be shot."

Miss Hearst "is in acute danger and will be in the future," Bailey said. He would like the jury to hear about the recent bombing that damaged a guest house at San Simeon, the castle built by Miss Hearst's grandfather, William Randolph Hearst.

Bailey, who said he would finish calling witnesses in about 1½ days, said he decided against calling Steven Weed, Miss Hearst's fiance before her kidnaping, because "Mr Weed is busy promoting his book."

Hearst jurors today visit houses of SLA fugitives

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The jury in Patricia Hearst's bank robbery trial goes on tour Monday for a look at the scenes in the dramatic episodes two years ago when the young heiress was with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

The jury will be shown the two "safe houses" where the SLA fugitives hid and negotiated by tape-recorded messages while police and FBI were scouring the region looking for the kidnaped Miss Hearst.

At her trial Friday, she testified that she was kept in a closet, blindfolded and abused by SLA chieftain Donald DeFreeze.

In the closet, she said, she recited into a tape recorder the first message to her parents telling them she was all right. She said the words were given her by DeFreeze.

The defense contends that all of the subsequent tapes, including those in which she denounced her parents and her former fiance, Stephen Weed, were made under duress. In one message crucial to her bank robbery trial she stated that she participated freely and that the gun she carried was loaded.

The jury will, at a later date, visit the Hibernia Bank in an outlying neighborhood of the city where Miss Hearst and others took more than $10,000 on April 15, 1974.

The jury will visit the Bank later because the bank's bonding company refused to open it on the holiday, according to Albert Johnson, one of the defense lawyers.

Miss Hearst was featured in the bank's film of the robbery as she stood in the center of the lobby, holding an automatic rifle.

The defense contends that she was standing there under the guns of the SLA team who had terrorized her into believing she would be killed either by them or by the FBI if she was found.

F. LEE BAILY, attorney for Patricia Hearst, is surrounded by newsmen as he departs TV studio Sunday. Bailey said Patty believed she was a "walking dead girl." Jurors will have a courtroom break Monday, but go on tour of a house where Patty was imprisoned by her kidnapers.

Inmates rebel, surrender, in Concord, Mass.

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — About 80 inmates took over three buildings in a short-lived rebellion at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Concord Sunday and set a small fire which quickly spread.

The inmates surrendered shortly after 50 heavily armed state policemen entered the prison three hours later. The fires were put out about the same time. Two officers were reportedly injured when they were punched by inmates.

The state police and corrections officers entered the prison about 2:15 p.m., and shortly afterward David Brown of the state Correctional Department reported that the prisoners had retreated into portions of a dormitory building.

Shortly before 3 p.m. prison Warden Nicolas Genokos told the prisoners over a bull horn that, unless they surrendered, state police would forcibly restore order. Minutes later about half the inmates straggled out of the building.

Brown said the dormitory was "a wreck" and there was heavy water damage to other buildings. He said the prisoners probably would be transferred to other institutions as early as Sunday night.

A specially trained police unit was brought in and all off duty guards were ordered back on the job.

Firemen and six pieces of apparatus stood outside the prison walls, unable to take any action, as police cruisers poured into the area. The police vehicles lined both sides of Rte. 2 as Corrections Department officials arrived to coordinate law enforcement efforts.

The inmates took over a gymnasium, a classroom building and a dormitory, said Brown. The fire apparently was set in a furniture shop, but little smoke was visible outside the building. Fire officials said they didn't consider the fires a serious threat.

About 350 inmates are housed in the prison, a medium security facility which has experienced a number of inmate disturbances in the past.

Authorities said about 90 other prisoners, who did not want to get involved in the disturbance, congregated in another part of the prison under the supervision of guards.

Quake toll reaches 22,088

Fear floods in Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—The Guatemalan government warned Sunday of a flood threat from rivers and streams blocked by tons of rock and earth dislodged by more than 800 earthquakes and tremors since Feb. 4.

The National Emergency Committee, which reported the death toll had risen to 22,088 from the quakes, said engineers hope to clear the blocked streams with explosives.

The worst flood threats were along the Rio Madre Vieja in the Departments of Palencia and Chimaltenango, the committee said.

More sporadic tremors jarred parts of Guatemala Sunday.

In the capital, engineers said many buildings throughout the county, including churches and hotels, may have to be knocked down because of structural damage. Damage to the main cathedral on the square near the Presidential Palace is so great that some experts believe it will have to be torn down.

Open air church services were conducted in some parts of the capital Sunday because churches were considered unsafe.

In an interview with the newpaper El Tiempo, President Kjell Laugerud Garcia was asked how many years it will take to get Guatemala "more or less" back on its feet.

"We are going to try to do it as fast as possible," he said. "But at this moment, it would be foolhardy even to make a tentative guess."

He was asked whether there was any chance that it could be achieved within two years.

"I would like to hope that it could be done in less time but I can give absolutely no assurances on any timetable."

Voter registration files were so badly damaged by the quake that nationwide municipal elections scheduled for next month have been indefinitely postponed.

Laugerud warned that any government official — "no matter how high his rank" — found guilty of "any kind of abuses against the people in this emergency will be most severely punished."

He was referring to published reports of irregularities in the distribution of relief supplies.

Laugerud said anyone trying to take advantage of the confusion caused by the quake to "produce disorders will suffer the most drastic and most radical" punishment.

He did not say what the punishment would be but army troops shot and killed two looters Friday. There were rumors that perhaps as many as 200 others have been shot since the first quake Feb. 4 but the rumors have been denied by the government.

S. Africa exchanges secret peace feelers with Angolan Red faction

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South Africa is exchanging secret peace feelers with the Soviet-backed faction in Angola in a last-minute attempt to avoid a racial confrontation, Johannesburg newspapers reported Sunday.

A Marxist pre-condition for an armed truce was immediate diplomatic recognition from South Africa and pullout of all white troops now in Angola, the reports said.

The Soviet-armed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, spearheaded by 12,000 Cuban troops, has virtually crushed pro-Western rivals and is sweeping unchecked southwards to the South West African Namibian frontier. South African troops are some 30 miles inside Angola guarding a hydro-electric dam.

Only some 100 miles separate the two armies, both equipped with heavy artillery, tanks and backed by air support. Military sources have predicted an imminent clash that could explode in a widening racial confrontation in southern Africa unless current peace initiatives succeed.

"South African troops could pull out of Angola within days. This emerged over the weekend after firm indications of the start of peace negotiations between South Africa and the Popular Movement," the Johannesburg Sunday Times said.

In an editorial it joined a growing chorus of demands by white opposition leaders that Prime Minister John Vorster order troops out of Angola.

Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller said the government was studying the "interesting" offer by his Angolan counterpart, Jose Eduardo dos Santos, that the Marxists would acknowledge South African interests in Angola in exchange for recognition from the South African government. Santos made his statement to the Paris newspaper Le Monde.

The Ivory Coast and Mozambique were reported acting as intermediaries in the exchanges between Angola and South Africa, which was until a few weeks ago heavily involved militarily on the pro-Western side in the war.

First signs of a possible thaw between the two southern African neighbors came last week when Popular Movement President Agostinho Neto told the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug his regime did not plan to interfere in South West Africa.

"What will happen in Namibia will depend entirely on the Namibian people and we do not intend to play any directive role there," Neto said. He said the "problem of South African troops who have allowed themselves to settle down on our territory ...will be solved."

Subs, hostile vessels collide 9 times

inherently risky . . .

"The committee is, therefore, troubled by the completely pro forma nature of the mission risk assessment as it is presently accomplished."

The report gave no details of the nine collisions or the "110 possible detections" of American submarines by the Soviets.

But reports, some sketchy, surfaced in past years on these known collisions:

• Unidentified U.S. nuclear submarine and Soviet submarine "in the early 1960's . . . low speed impact."

• U.S. nuclear submarine Gato in collision November, 1969, with a Soviet nuclear missile submarine at the entrance to the White Sea.

At one point, the American sub was only a mile off Soviet territory because of a navigational error, according to one report.

Gato was monitoring Soviet submarine traffic in and out of the White Sea and picked up one north-bound Red Fleet sub and began "tailgating" it with the Russian vessel's propellers acting as a protective shield against detection.

The Soviet sub turned, the American crew miscalculated and Gato was hit amidships, fortunately in the heavily armored section around the nuclear reactor.

Gato prepared for action with nuclear torpedoes but the Soviet crew was so confused about what had been encountered that the Americans were able to steal away.

• A collision between an American and Soviet sub in March, 1971; details lacking.

• U.S. nuclear sub Pintado, May, 1974, in head-on collision with Soviet nuclear-powered submersible off the Soviet Far East port of Petropavlosk on the Kamchatka Peninsula. Damage seen and photographed when it pulled into Guam for repairs.

• Nov. 3, 1974, U.S. nuclear submarine Madison, carrying 16 new Poseidon multi-warhead atomic missiles, hit or hit by Soviet sub in the North Sea off Britain.

Some 800 to 900 submarines are in service or mothballed in the world's navies, and they congregate like mating whales around the most traveled sea lanes and straits and harbors.

The most modern submarines often go "blind," their sensing apparatus "blacked out" or distorted.

What incidents have there been in the last three years — hits, misses, near-misses.

• A rosary service has been scheduled Monday for Lilly Pons, one of the most popular opera singers of the 20th century, who died in Dallas Friday of cancer. Miss Pons, 71, will be buried in France, the country she rejected officially three decades ago, but returned to many times professionally and emotionally.

Subs, hostile vessels collide 9 times

inherently risky . . .

"The committee is, therefore, troubled by the completely pro forma nature of the mission risk assessment as it is presently accomplished."

The report gave no details of the nine collisions or the "110 possible detections" of American submarines by the Soviets.

But reports, some sketchy, surfaced in past years on these known collisions:

• Unidentified U.S. nuclear submarine and Soviet submarine "in the early 1960's . . . low speed impact."

• U.S. nuclear submarine Gato in collision November, 1969, with a Soviet nuclear missile submarine at the entrance to the White Sea.

At one point, the American sub was only a mile off Soviet territory because of a navigational error, according to one report.

Gato was monitoring Soviet submarine traffic in and out of the White Sea and picked up one north-bound Red Fleet sub and began "tailgating" it with the Russian vessel's propellers acting as a protective shield against detection.

The Soviet sub turned, the American crew miscalculated and Gato was hit amidships, fortunately in the heavily armored section around the nuclear reactor.

Gato prepared for action with nuclear torpedoes but the Soviet crew was so confused about what had been encountered that the Americans were able to steal away.

• A collision between an American and Soviet sub in March, 1971; details lacking.

• U.S. nuclear sub Pintado, May, 1974, in head-on collision with Soviet nuclear-powered submersible off the Soviet Far East port of Petropavlosk on the Kamchatka Peninsula. Damage seen and photographed when it pulled into Guam for repairs.

• Nov. 3, 1974, U.S. nuclear submarine Madison, carrying 16 new Poseidon multi-warhead atomic missiles, hit or hit by Soviet sub in the North Sea off Britain.

Some 800 to 900 submarines are in service or mothballed in the world's navies, and they congregate like mating whales around the most traveled sea lanes and straits and harbors.

The most modern submarines often go "blind," their sensing apparatus "blacked out" or distorted.

What incidents have there been in the last three years — hits, misses, near-misses.

Were any fatal?

Village must approve Sunday date

Track seeks July 4 racing OK

Arlington Park Race Track will ask for approval of one day of Sunday racing this summer at tonight's meeting of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

Approval is being sought for racing on the Fourth of July which falls on a Sunday this year.

The track is petitioning the village board to permit the one Sunday date under the revised racing statutes of 1975. The new laws permit Sunday racing with the permission of the municipality in which a track is located.

The authorization may come through either ordinance or popular referendum, according to the law.

VILLAGE PRES. James T. Ryan opposed Sunday racing in principle during his campaign last year.

"In my opinion, the institution of Sunday racing at Arlington Park would only serve to make what is intended to be a day of rest to be instead a day of noise, traffic jams and general confusion," Ryan said at that time.

However, Ryan recently said he was "keeping an open mind" on the holiday request. He said if the date were granted it would not set a precedent for future Sunday racing.

He said the village could get about $3,500 in revenues from admission taxes for the Sunday racing card. He said that about equaled the amount of property taxes from 35 houses.

CAPT. MAURICE English of the Arlington Heights police said he foresaw no extraordinary problems with the proposed holiday racing date. He said track patrons would not be competing with commuter traffic as they do during the week.

Trustee Richard Durava said he would have to talk with the police and residents living near the track before taking a position on the Sunday request.

"I personally don't have any opinion yet. I'm not opposed to Sunday racing on principle," he said.

The board will meet at 8 p.m. at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Spanish-English library opening soon in Palatine

A bilingual library program for Spanish-speaking residents in eight Northwest suburbs will begin next month with the aid of a two-year federal grant.

The service will be based at the Palatine Public Library, 500 N. Benton St., and will be coordinated by Stephanie Arditio, field librarian. Other libraries participating in the program are Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg Township, Indian Trails, Elk Grove Village and Barrington.

Arditio said the state, which distributes the federal money, has approved a grant of $34,355 for the first year of the program and an additional $36,395 for funding the second year.

THE MONEY will be used to purchase books, records, tapes and magazines for Spanish speaking residents. The salaries of Arditio and a part-time library clerk also will come from the grant money.

Arditio said she also plans to conduct an adult education class for Spanish-speaking residents including workbooks and study material for the general educational development test, which is a program leading to a high school equivalency test.

Most of the material will be housed at the Palatine Library, a $1.3 million facility which was opened in November. She said the materials will be available to residents in all eight municipalities through the libraries' reciprocal borrowing program.

Two workshop sessions will be scheduled at the end of this month to acquaint reference and circulation librarians from the communities with the program. Arditio said she also may plan some Spanish classes for library workers unfamiliar with the language.

"THAT MAY be our biggest problem because if Spanish speaking people come into the library and no one can understand them, they will leave and may never come back," Arditio said.

Books will become available in the libraries by the second week in March and three-fourths of the material will be written in Spanish, Arditio said.

Arditio said there are an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 Spanish-speaking residents in the eight communities to be served through the program. Each of the communities also has contributed funds totalling $3,350 toward the program, she said.

The federal grant is administered under the Library Services and Construction Act. Applications for funds available through the act are channeled and approved by the Illinois State Library Assn.

PACKING FOOD: U.S. Rep. Donald Riegle (D-Flint, Mich.) worked as a bagger in a Pontiac grocery store Saturday. He did not identify himself as a candidate for the U.S. Senate to his fellow workers or customers. Riegle said he wanted to find out what voters are thinking; he also may work in a steelmill.

Ford's campaign gaining steam for primary: aide

President Ford's campaign is gaining momentum as the Feb. 24 New Hampshire primary approaches, an aide said Sunday. A conservative senator passed a chance to name his choice, Ford or Ronald Reagan.

Meldrim Thomson, the New Hampshire governor who is backing Ford's opponent, predicted Reagan will win the first Republican primary of 1976 by a 5 per cent margin.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., declined to say whether he would join South Carolina Gov. James Edwards in backing Reagan for the GOP nomination. Thurmond spoke in Washington at a meeting of the Conservative Political Action Conference.

Edwards was expected to announce his support of the former California governor Monday. Most of those attending the conservative meeting favored Reagan.

SEN. JAMES L. BUCKLEY, a New York conservative up for reelection, told his fellow conservatives, "The president opposes . . . Congress disposes . . . We would not be able to achieve our goals unless the president has a Congress with which he can work."

In Westport, Conn., Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., said he expects the battle for the GOP presidential nomination will "go right down to the convention."

If Reagan were to become the party's candidate, it would devastate the chances of local Republicans, Weicker said, adding: "You go off into one extreme or the other and you're going to get killed."

As Ford flew home early Sunday from a campaign trip to Florida, Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters his appearances there and in New Hampshire will prove critics wrong.

"HE'S GOING to win," said Nessen.

"The feeling is that the momentum in the president's campaign turned around at the University of New Hampshire last weekend," he said. "Something has happened in terms of mood and feeling and momentum."

In a television appearance Sunday on NBC-TV Meet the Press, Thomson predicted Reagan will defeat Ford by a 5 per cent margin in the New Hampshire primary, taking 55 per cent of the vote. But William Loeb, who publishes the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader and appeared with Thomson, said he expects a "horse race."

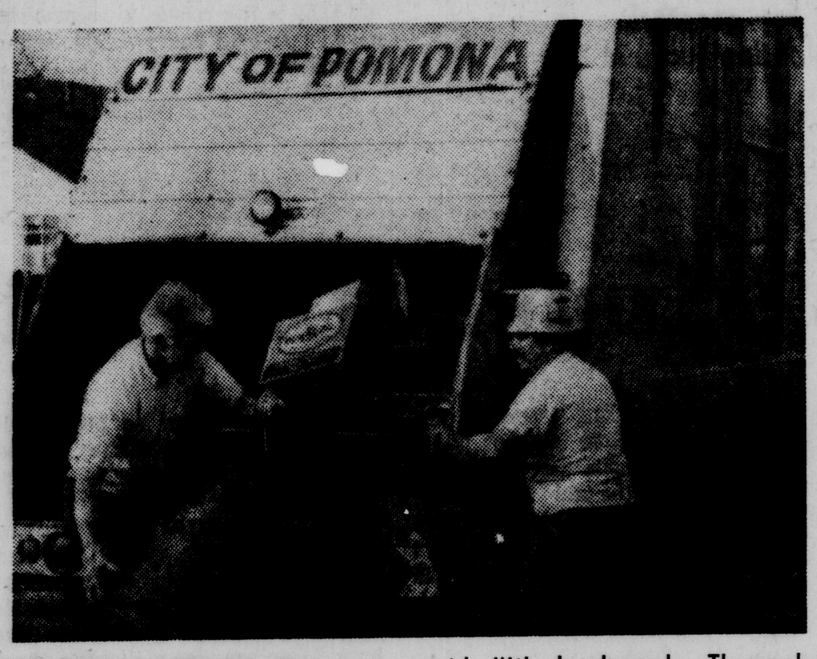
Loeb's newspaper has editorially characterized Ford as "Jerry the Jerk," and the publisher was asked if that is still an apt description of the President.

"YES, SIR," replied Loeb. "Some of his incompetence . . . his deviousness, in the vernacular sum up to that phrase."

In Florida, George Wallace served Sunday as grand marshal of the Daytona 500 stock car race after picking up added strength in Mississippi's Democratic county conventions.

Wallace captured almost 50 per cent of the delegate votes in Saturday's county balloting, the second step in selecting Mississippi's delegation to the national party convention this summer. However, 28.2 per cent of the delegate votes were uncommitted, going into district meetings next weekend. Jimmy Carter and Sargent Shriver fought for second place with 11.5 and 10.8.

(United Press International)



PACKING GARBAGE: Democratic Congressman Jim Lloyd, left, works as a garbageman in Pomona, Calif., as part of his "District Workdays Program." He said, "It's hard work. The only harder work I've done was shoveling coal." Lloyd tossed 25 to 60 pound cans for a half day.

Campaign blitz pays off

Maine's delegates back Carter

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)—Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter's personal blitz seems to have paid off in Maine's month long series of Democratic town caucuses.

With two-thirds of the delegates to the state's Democratic convention already chosen, 30 per cent are pledged to Carter. His nearest rivals, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris and Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., each have 4 per cent.

A full 60 per cent of the delegates to the convention, which will select 20 delegates to the national convention, are uncommitted.

Maine Democrats were given special permission by the national party to hold their caucuses over the entire month of February, although all towns with over 5,000 population were directed to complete the meetings by Feb. 14.

CARTER VISITED Maine three times before the caucusing began and made a triumphant appearance in Portland on the first day of caucusing, after Democrats in that city awarded him 46 per cent of the delegates. His wife visited the state twice as well.

In the more heavily populated 1st Congressional District, including Portland, Carter accumulated 214 delegates as compared to 310 uncommitted delegates.

In the 2nd Congressional District, made up of many small towns and Bangor, the state's second largest city, Carter picked up only 87 delegates, compared with 330 uncommitted.

David Smith, chairman of the Bangor Democratic committee, cited three reasons its caucus gave Carter only 8 per cent and suggested they might apply to other communities as well:

• His city's Democrats were afraid to commit the state's delegation so early in the race for fear they would be ignored by other candidates.

• A highly critical article on Carter in this month's Harper's Magazine hurt his image.

• The Carter organization in Maine may have pushed too much.

Robert Nolette, caucus chairman of Biddeford where over half the delegates went to Carter, disagreed.

"Carter had a pretty good machine in Biddeford and his people worked awfully hard," Nolette saod. "The reason for the uncommitted delegates was they think it's too early in the game to decide. But I think a lot of them will go for Carter at the convention."

PACKING FOOD: U.S. Rep. Donald Riegle (D-Flint, Mich.) worked as a bagger in a Pontiac grocery store Saturday. He did not identify himself as a candidate for the U.S. Senate to his fellow workers or customers. Riegle said he wanted to find out what voters are thinking; he also may work in a steelmill.

Ford's campaign gaining steam for primary: aide

President Ford's campaign is gaining momentum as the Feb. 24 New Hampshire primary approaches, an aide said Sunday. A conservative senator passed a chance to name his choice, Ford or Ronald Reagan.

Meldrim Thomson, the New Hampshire governor who is backing Ford's opponent, predicted Reagan will win the first Republican primary of 1976 by a 5 per cent margin.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., declined to say whether he would join South Carolina Gov. James Edwards in backing Reagan for the GOP nomination. Thurmond spoke in Washington at a meeting of the Conservative Political Action Conference.

Edwards was expected to announce his support of the former California governor Monday. Most of those attending the conservative meeting favored Reagan.

SEN. JAMES L. BUCKLEY, a New York conservative up for reelection, told his fellow conservatives, "The president opposes . . . Congress disposes . . . We would not be able to achieve our goals unless the president has a Congress with which he can work."

In Westport, Conn., Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., said he expects the battle for the GOP presidential nomination will "go right down to the convention."

If Reagan were to become the party's candidate, it would devastate the chances of local Republicans, Weicker said, adding: "You go off into one extreme or the other and you're going to get killed."

As Ford flew home early Sunday from a campaign trip to Florida, Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters his appearances there and in New Hampshire will prove critics wrong.

"HE'S GOING to win," said Nessen.

"The feeling is that the momentum in the president's campaign turned around at the University of New Hampshire last weekend," he said. "Something has happened in terms of mood and feeling and momentum."

In a television appearance Sunday on NBC-TV Meet the Press, Thomson predicted Reagan will defeat Ford by a 5 per cent margin in the New Hampshire primary, taking 55 per cent of the vote. But William Loeb, who publishes the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader and appeared with Thomson, said he expects a "horse race."

Loeb's newspaper has editorially characterized Ford as "Jerry the Jerk," and the publisher was asked if that is still an apt description of the President.

"YES, SIR," replied Loeb. "Some of his incompetence . . . his deviousness, in the vernacular sum up to that phrase."

In Florida, George Wallace served Sunday as grand marshal of the Daytona 500 stock car race after picking up added strength in Mississippi's Democratic county conventions.

Wallace captured almost 50 per cent of the delegate votes in Saturday's county balloting, the second step in selecting Mississippi's delegation to the national party convention this summer. However, 28.2 per cent of the delegate votes were uncommitted, going into district meetings next weekend. Jimmy Carter and Sargent Shriver fought for second place with 11.5 and 10.8.

Campaign blitz pays off

Maine's delegates back Carter

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)—Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter's personal blitz seems to have paid off in Maine's month long series of Democratic town caucuses.

With two-thirds of the delegates to the state's Democratic convention already chosen, 30 per cent are pledged to Carter. His nearest rivals, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris and Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., each have 4 per cent.

A full 60 per cent of the delegates to the convention, which will select 20 delegates to the national convention, are uncommitted.

Maine Democrats were given special permission by the national party to hold their caucuses over the entire month of February, although all towns with over 5,000 population were directed to complete the meetings by Feb. 14.

CARTER VISITED Maine three times before the caucusing began and made a triumphant appearance in Portland on the first day of caucusing, after Democrats in that city awarded him 46 per cent of the delegates. His wife visited the state twice as well.

In the more heavily populated 1st Congressional District, including Portland, Carter accumulated 214 delegates as compared to 310 uncommitted delegates.

In the 2nd Congressional District, made up of many small towns and Bangor, the state's second largest city, Carter picked up only 87 delegates, compared with 330 uncommitted.

David Smith, chairman of the Bangor Democratic committee, cited three reasons its caucus gave Carter only 8 per cent and suggested they might apply to other communities as well:

The way we see it

Let's renew our democracy

American voters face a critical choice this election year, but it has nothing to do with the Presidency or any single political race.

We either must renew our democratic system by participating actively in its election-year politics or allow apathy, indifference and cynicism to further undermine our basic freedom.

Too often, it appears we are taking the latter route. Survey after survey concludes that we, as Americans, are indifferent to our political system. The New York Times reports:

"If the clear trend of modern elections continues this year, as many as half of the roughly 150 million eligible voters in the country will declare by not voting that they see no choice worth bothering to exercise."

The Wall Street Journal, which conducted a similar review of the public's mood, agreed:

"A grim array of political evidence indicates that alienation and cynicism . . . and massive hostility . . . toward politics and government have become pervasive after the confidence-shattering decade stretching from Vietnam through Watergate and a deep recession."

Voter apathy regrettably has long been a part of our system. Other nations regularly draw almost all of their eligible voters to the polls; only in the United States do barely half of all eligible voters cast ballots.

State Rep. Richard Mugalian, D-Palatine, in a letter to The Herald last week, noted that election and political workers are harder to find in 1976 than in most election years.

Whatever the root causes of 1976's renewed public cynicism, Mugalian suggests a simple cure: much as we were "citizen-soldiers" to win our independence in the 1700's, we now should become "citizen-politicians" to restore the life-blood of our democracy.

The formula is simple. We must contribute to the candidates of our choice. We must work as election judges, as precinct workers and, most importantly, as voters.

Mugalian's prescription is an old one, but in our still-young nation, it must never be viewed as a cliche. The United States possesses no God-given right of survival; our nation can destroy itself if it allows a small handful to select our government.

This Presidential election year, the first after Watergate, should be a time of renewal, not of complacent and destructive apathy. What we leave to our children depends on our political decisions today.

Someday they'll probably take all of this for granted, and it'll be difficult even to get election judges!

The most undiplomatic diplomat

Moynihan makes a timely UN exit

by NEA/London Economist News Service

Daniel Patrick Moynihan has a peculiar talent. He may give pleasure to many people and pain to many others, but it should be universally agreed that he is a master of the dramatic unities. His resignation as American Ambassador to the United Nations was well timed both for the retention of his professorial tenure at Harvard and for his widely predicted entry into the contest for one of the New York Senate seats.

In the few months since he took over the UN post last June, he had unquestionably made his mark in it. He was the man of the moment, in the purest sense of that phrase. At any other moment, he would have been the wrong man for the job.

It should be remembered that when he was given that job the general American view of the United Nations had become unprecedently sour. Congress had already suspended the American contributions to UNESCO and imposed sharp cuts on contributions to other UN agencies and programs. Actual withdrawal, at least from some of the agencies and possibly from the UN itself, was being publicly proposed (notice of withdrawal has in fact been served on the International Labor Organization).

DURING THE FIRST months of 1975, the Arab governments were pushing their anti-Israel campaign to the forefront at every meeting of UN agencies and organs, and trying to line up the whole third-world majority for a vote at the assembly session in the autumn either to expel Israel, or to suspend it from membership, or at least to reject its delegation's credentials, as had been done to South Africa in 1974.

In July, Henry Kissinger felt it necessary to give public warning that such a move could oblige the United States to withdraw its delegates and cut off its payments. The American public mood was so embittered that President Ford and his Secretary of State might well have decided to take these actions — especially at the start of an election year. In the event, the Arabs contented themselves with rounding up 72 votes (out of 142) for the notorious assembly resolution that equated zionism with racialism, and Kissinger settled for equating American economic help to the recipient states' UN voting performances.

In this context, the appointment of Moynihan in the full knowledge that he would blow his top in the assembly may be seen as having provided an alternative to a really drastic American pull-back from the United Nations. If so, it can be claimed that it worked.

MOYNIHAN HIMSELF makes a more ambitious claim. In the leaked text of the long message that he addressed to Kissinger and to all American embassies on Jan. 23, he argued that his bluntly forceful tactics had repeatedly swayed votes in his country's favor — specifically in reducing the majority for the "zionism" resolution. More generally: "our new stance is having more or less the effect that was hoped for; governments are beginning to think that anti-American postures at the UN and elsewhere are not without cost . . ."

The proof of that pudding will be sequent digestion. The hope of receiving favors from big country A may induce little country B not to vote against A in the assembly, but it will not necessarily make B like A any better in the long run. What is much more immediately clear is that Moynihan's performance has made a lot of Americans feel better, for the simple reason that they felt they had been shouted at long enough in the UN and it was time to shout back; and that it has made some of his colleagues, both in the State Department and in the UN missions of America's allies and friends, feel worse. The chief British representative at the UN, Ivor Richard, still felt much worse:

"The United States has put herself into a position where she has isolated herself, irritated her friends and encouraged her enemies."

WHATEVER THE MERITS of the Moynihan approach to the UN's kind of public diplomacy in the special circumstances of the 1975 assembly, its long-run limitations are evident. The basic Moynihan idea is that the democracies have become a shrinking minority in the UN. Shrinking, yes; but there has never yet been a democratic majority either in the UN or in the real world outside its walls.

To most people democracy is an attractive luxury they are unlikely to enjoy. The basic Moynihan posture is one of defiance of the big, bad majority. But the Western minority would be wiser to recognize, belatedly, that other political systems exist and will assert their existence in the crudest possible way. To speak on equal terms with this emerging majority is a much harder business with the hardest part of being one of a resentment of the fact that the majority of nondemocracies has emerged at all.

A real appeal to moderate elements in the third world would include an appeal to them to listen to basic facts. In that sense, the Moynihan shows many have been timely, but its time is up.

Repair or close Golf

Hazardous. Dangerous. Terrible. Treacherous. Inexcusable.

All these words describe Golf Road between Higgins and Barrington roads in Schaumburg Township.

The state is widening this section of highway to four lanes and has opened a temporary two-lane road which is filled with ruts, potholes and bumps.

While the state accepts responsibility for the roadway, it says it has offset the dangerous conditions by lowering the speed limit to 35 m.p.h.

State officials also claim the contractor checks the roadway weekly and fills the holes. The Herald has found this to be untrue.

We urge officials to repair or close the roadway until a safe roadbed is poured. Continued use of Golf Road in its present state could result in fatal mishaps, and we question if the state is ready to accept that responsibility.

They owe us damages

Proposed lawsuits against dozens of former county and local officials recently convicted of extortion should be initiated immediately.

The suits would seek damages and recovery of payoff and shakedown funds the officials extorted while they were in the public's trust.

At least three former Wheeling officials, nine former employes of the county assessor's office, a former county board member, a former county clerk and a former zoning administrator might be named in suits seeking millions of dollars in damages.

There have been similar court cases in Illinois in which the public has been successful in recovering funds and damages.

We urge Wheeling officials and State's Atty. Bernard Carey to follow through with the suits and recover some of the damages these officials brought upon the communities they supposedly served.

He backs safety

Kurt Baer paid tribute to our ground service drivers who are indeed unsung heroes of aviation. (Mount. Prospect Herald, Feb. 2). We are proud of their contribution to the total airline picture, and are pleased that he recognized them.

He reported that the "over-all traffic is not well planned, often lacking land markings, etc." at O'Hare.

We are very safety conscious, both in the air and on the ground. We have our rules of the ramp, similar to rules of the road. For instance, lines are painted on the ramp at arrival and departure gates to denote minimum clearance of aircraft for ground equipment drivers. No one drives under aircraft wings. Vehicles not in use are parked in areas with specific markings for various sized pieces of equipment. Our drivers undergo complete physical examinations annually. Governors are on vehicles to regulate ground speed. Continuous refresher and on-the-job safety driving courses are given.

On the field, drivers observe stop signs which are strategically placed at runway intersections and service routes. In addition to looking to the right and left, drivers look up to observe proximity of aircraft landing or taking off.

We pride ourselves on our safety record, both in the air and on the ground. This record is not possible without the safety performance of our ground service personnel.

Thank you for your interest in aviation.

'Library needs you now'

The City of Rolling Meadows has many good features that attract families to live here and one of the best is the public library.

To all the library and city supporters, the library needs you now. If all the people who ever made use of the interlibrary loan service, those who have used the reference collection, the parents of children who have spent hours using the computer terminal and the children's room, members of organizations and private citizens who have used the film service, checked out magazines, taken a cassette player home for their own use and those who have used the book collection would stand up and be counted as a yes vote for the referendum on Saturday, Feb. 28, the library could at least maintain what we have and not let it crumble and become a useless shell of a building. Please stand by the library now. It needs every one of you.

'Library needs you now'

The City of Rolling Meadows has many good features that attract families to live here and one of the best is the public library.

To all the library and city supporters, the library needs you now. If all the people who ever made use of the interlibrary loan service, those who have used the reference collection, the parents of children who have spent hours using the computer terminal and the children's room, members of organizations and private citizens who have used the film service, checked out magazines, taken a cassette player home for their own use and those who have used the book collection would stand up and be counted as a yes vote for the referendum on Saturday, Feb. 28, the library could at least maintain what we have and not let it crumble and become a useless shell of a building. Please stand by the library now. It needs every one of you.

Grandma thrived on hardships

Sarah Howes Burton, my "four-greats" grandmother who lived at the time of the Revolutionary War, exemplifies the determination and perseverance that helped the colonists in their struggle to win independence.

Born in 1733 at Stratford, Conn., Sarah married Josiah Burton there in 1756. Fifteen years later, Josiah decided to move to a less populated area, the Hampshire Grants, later to become the state of Vermont.

So in the fall of 1771, he, Sarah, heavily pregnant, and their eight children started up the Housatonic River. They wintered there, where twins were born. In the spring they continued overland to Manchester, Vt., with the infant twins riding in leather saddle bags specially made by Josiah. At Manchester, the family settled on 80 acres.

THE DIFFICULTIES of life as a pioneer wife and mother were compounded by the rigors of war. The responsibility for the farm and the family, which, by 1780, included three more children, fell on Sarah's shoulders while Josiah served in the Green Mountain Boys regiment. In 1777, Josiah suffered a head wound that incapacitated him for the rest of his life. The eldest son, 17-year-old Elijah (my ancestor) enlisted as his replacement and served till the fall of 1780. Sarah had to manage with the help of two teenage daughters and three sons just younger.

According to family history, when there were alarms of raids by Indians or Tories in the area, Sarah would immediately gather up the children and valuables and run for a cave in the woods. Praying with her children, she wondered if the Tories would kill them all and they would wake up in another world.

FORTUNATELY none of the raids reached their farm. But one of the twins years later remembered hearing the cannon roar during the Battle of Bennington, down the valley to the south.

Sarah must have thrived on her life of hardships for she lived to be 98, and, to judge from another family story, evidently with undampened spirits. She spent her later years with her son, Isaac, a rather sober-sided church deacon. One evening when he came home from a church meeting, he was puzzled to see a shadow passing back and forth across the window in the firelight. He knew his mother, then past 90, was alone in the house.

He went in quietly. There was Sarah, stepping about while she sang an old square dance tune, "High Betty Martin." He chided her for being so carefree at her age. She replied tartly, "I know this is a dying world, Isaac, but we needn't be dying all the time!"

Justice Burger calls for review of judicial system

ABA chief sees need for court change

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Justin A. Stanley ponders world population growth, limits on natural resources and whether civilization bypassed the American legal system.

He isn't daydreaming. As president-elect of the American Bar Assn., he hopes to start people thinking in new ways about strain in the courts and the legal profession.

Relaxing briefly in his suite for an interview during the ABA's mid-year convention, Stanley, a prominent Chicago attorney, said:

"We are living under a federal judicial structure put together long, long ago. It worked remarkably well, but now it is subject to strains . . . Our court system really was designed to handle an entirely different civilization."

STANLEY, A TALL, gray-haired man who just turned 65, isn't sure how to solve the problems of a burdened court system, or how to make legal services available to all.

His ideas include expanding small claims courts, where arguments can be settled without lawyers, and providing legal clinics for problems which a lawyer can solve easily.

He is excited about two projects he hopes will culminate before his one-year term as ABA president expires in August, 1977: A conference on the impact of limited resources and growing population on legal and governmental systems, and expansion of programs aimed at showing students how they can influence government through legal and political channels.

"The living world population is about 25 per cent of all those who ever lived," Stanley said. "This means a tremendous increase in just the number of personal relations, and personal relations are the basis of litigation."

"WE ARE TERRIBLY litigious today. If you look at someone cross-eyed, you're apt to find yourself a defendant in a lawsuit. I don't think we should look at litigation as the object of every dispute, but as a safety valve."

Stanley envisions a conference in the spring of 1977 to discuss how government and the law can deal with expanding society.

The school project already is under way, with 400 schools involved compared to only a half-dozen in 1972. Through ABA sponsorship, students at all grade levels are introduced to the adversary system, channels of political and government communication, and other ways the individual can be heard or resolve disputes with others.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger called on the legal profession Sunday to re-examine the roots of the nation's judicial process with an eye toward a complete restructuring by the end of the century.

Burger, in his annual "State of the Judiciary" address to the American Bar Assn. said:

"We should take a searching look at some of the basic aspects and underlying assumptions of our legal and judicial institutions and try to determine, not merely how to tighten the 'nuts and bolts' of the existing mechanisms of the judicial system, but whether fundamental changes need to be made."

He compared the system, which faces increasingly overloaded courts and demands for effecting social change, to the automobile industry, which he said "finally" began producing smaller, cheaper automobiles "in response to a public demand of at least 20 years standing."

"PERHAPS WHAT we lawyers have been doing for many, many years is to scrape the barnacles off the hulls of the 'judicial ships' and clean the boilers and engines when we should have been considering new and different kinds of vessels more fitted to the 20th century world," Burger said.

Burger did not attend the ABA meeting because of the flu, and his speech was read by association President Lawrence E. Walsh.

Burger said the initial step in re-examining the basic legal structure would come in April at a conference designed to study the nation's judicial system.

The conference will "take a hard look at how we lawyers and judges fulfill our historic function as the 'healers' and 'lubricators' and 'resolvers' of the conflicts of society," Burger said, and "to ask whether there are other, simpler, speedier and less costly ways to reach desired objectives."

Burger said the April meeting of federal and state lawyers and judges will "consider what we must do to be ready for the year 2000 when, in place of 200 million Americans, there will be 260 million, with social, economic, and political forces that will generate incalculable problems and conflicts to be resolved."

'Talk back' aids emergency cases

Doctors at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, now can "talk back" to paramedics at the scene of an emergency and follow through until the patient is brought to the hospital.

Formerly, the hospital's emergency room staff was only authorized to "listen in" as other hospitals transmitted orders for Lutheran General's emergency patients.

The new two-way communication is possible because Lutheran General was recently designated by the Illinois Dept. of Public Health an associate hospital in the St. Francis Hospital telemetry network.

LUTHERAN GENERAL uses a transmitter owned by St. Francis Hospital, Evanston, and linked to Evanston Hospital and Skokie Valley Hospital. This permits Lutheran General personnel to talk directly with paramedics in Glenbrook, Glenview, Morton Grove, Niles and Skokie.

Similar base station transmitters are at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, and Highland Park Hospital.

The telemetry equipment at Lutheran General is manned by a physician and a nurse who transmit doctor's orders to the paramedics.

"IF YOU CAN give initial orders and then follow through and see the results of those orders, there is a much greater continuity of care for the patient," said Deborah Buckley, R.N., Lutheran General's coordinator of emergency medical services.

"It's much better to begin treatment with one physician giving the orders and have him follow through in person when the patient arrives," she said.

Studies show in cases of cardiac arrest, when the heart has stopped beating, only 1 out of 10,000 people will survive after 12 minutes if no resuscitation is given, Miss Buckley said.

If an ambulance arrives four minutes after the cardiac arrest and paramedics render emergency care under a doctor's order, 50 out of 100 cases will survive. If resusciation is given immediately 98 out of 100 will survive, she said.

Oksana Moros

by ELEANOR RIVES

In her tasteful Arlington Heights home, beautifully appointed with art objects and accents of another culture, Oksana Moros, a handsome dark-haired woman talked proudly of her Ukrainian heritage, but painfully of her past.

She spent much of her toddlerhood in Dachau, the German concentration camp, where she and her parents were incarcerated during World War II. Her sister was born there.

She spent much of her young childhood in a displaced persons camp in Berchtesgaden, Germany. Her brother was born there.

"MY EARLIEST memories are of constantly being hungry," she said. "I remember the DP camp, the long breadlines. But I also remember the park where we played and the beautiful scenery."

In 1950, when Oksana was 7 years old, she and her family came to the United States and settled in Detroit, the common destination of many Ukrainian families and the adopted home of the Ukrainian Bandurist Chorus, now a nationally acclaimed musical group which includes among its members Oksana's father, husband and brother-in-law.

Being an immigrant child in Detroit was difficult at first. "We were poor; things were pretty hard for us," said Oksana, adding that children can be cruel by ridiculing other children who can't speak English. "But once we adjusted and our parents dressed us as the other kids, everything was fine," she said.

OKSANA'S HUSBAND, Roman Moros, studied art and music in Paris, and had just returned to Detroit from his studies at the Sorbonne when he met Oksana. They were married in 1963.

Armed with his first pistol when he was only 12, Roman fought beside his father with the Ukrainian Freedom Fighters during World War II. Miraculously the pair escaped through Czechoslovakia from the Ukraine, now a part of the Soviet Socialist Republic, by crossing the Carpathian Mountains on foot.

Roman and Oksana have lived in their present home 10 years. The walls are alive with Roman's oil paintings ("Sunflowers and poppies are almost considered national flowers," Oksana said with a smile.) Fine examples of Trypilian art with its geometric motifs abound in their ceramic pieces — many of which were made by Oksana's mother.

"TRYPILIAN ART dates back thousands of years," she said. "It flourished from 3,000 to 2,000 B.C."

Other ceramic pieces are decorated with the flowery, swirly Kiev-type art. Wood carvings and wood inlays, the work of the Hutsuls, Carpathian Mountain people, are exquisite table and piano decorations in the Moros' home. A basket of pysanky, intricately decorated Ukrainian Easter eggs, occupies a permanent place in the dining room china cabinet.

Ukrainian folk art abounds in pillows, tablecloths, runners and other textile objects in colorful, complex, finely stitched embroidery that is painstakingly accomplished by counting threads without benefit of stamped pattern.

PERHAPS MOST important to the Moros family is the wood plaque above the fireplace. It bears a Trident, the Ukrainian symbol of freedom.

In 1965, Oksana and her sister were granted permission to go back to the Ukraine on a visit. Relatives there were amazed that the two women could still speak Ukrainian — they had been told that only English is allowed in the United States.

"Conditions were bad in every way," said Oksana. "The clothing, the food. But worse than these was the fright. They were afraid to talk, afraid to sing. One of our hosts insisted on locking us in a room and maintaining silence every time he heard a noise on the stairs outside.

"AND RELIGIOUS freedom? Forget it. They couldn't believe that I would dare to wear a holy medal, especially in sight. There was no political freedom either. The news was all twisted."

Roman's father who lives with them in Arlington Heights, has been separated from his wife for 32 years — by an ocean, a continent and by political circumstance. A learned man with many scholastic degrees, he speaks 14 languages. An author, an historian, a philosopher, he spends many hours laboriously writing in longhand a 3-volume epic on man's relation to the universe.

The joy of the Moros household is 2-year-old Dorian who is rapidly learning Ukrainian at an age when it easily absorbed. "English will be his language the rest of his life," said Oksana. "It's too difficult to learn Ukrainian later."

ROMAN AND Oksana are instilling in their son a proud sense of his heritage in still other ways. They observe Ukrainian Christmas, New Year and Easter customs. They take Dorian with them to the Ukrainian Catholic Church, Next year, when he is 3, he will go to the Ukrainian nursery school three times a week. He will learn Ukrainian songs and games. Later he will attend Ukrainian school on Saturdays.

"He has a heritage he can really be proud of," said his mother. "It will help him to be a better American, too."

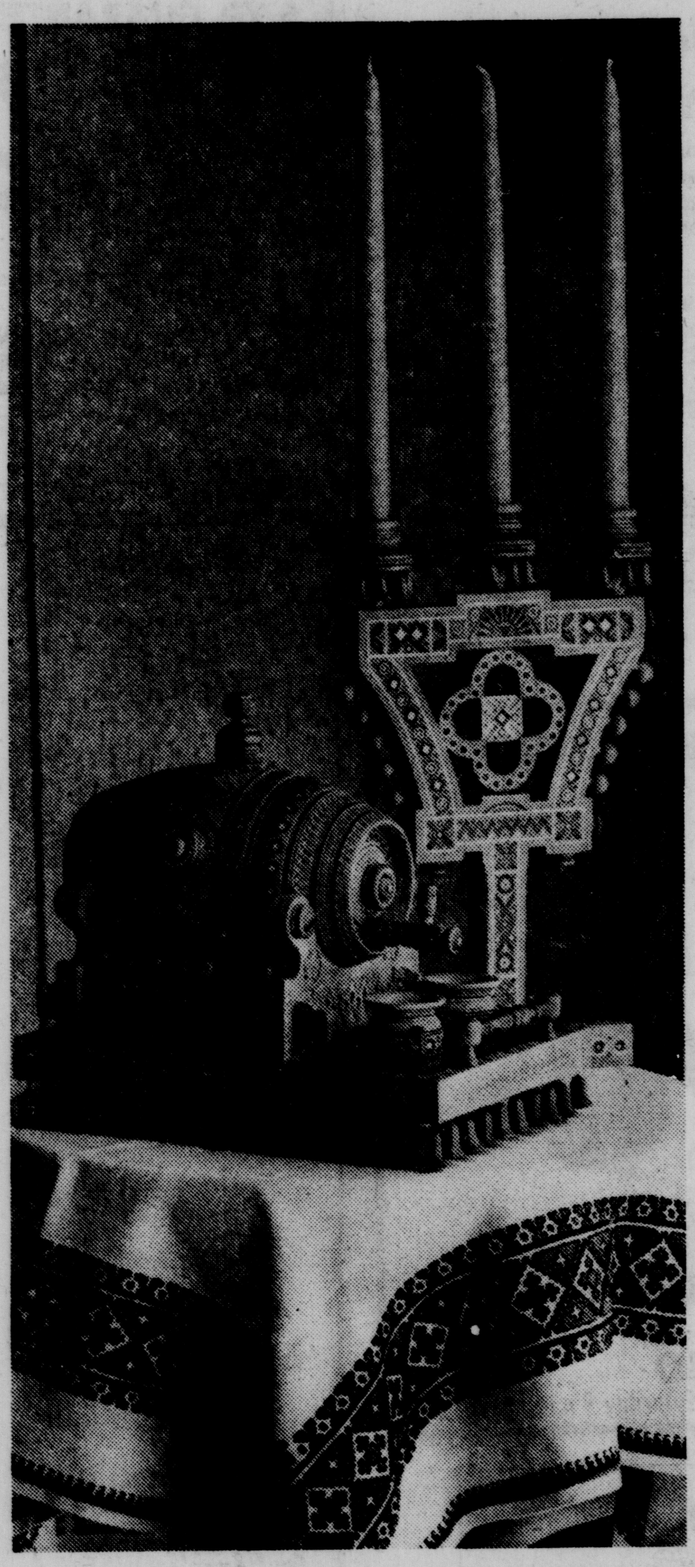
PROUD OF HER CULTURAL heritage, Oksana Moros of Arlington Heights, member of the Ukrainian National Women's League, is one of two million Ukrainians in America. Besides English and Ukrainian, she speaks German, Polish, Spanish, and reads and understands Russian.



FINE EXAMPLES OF the exquisite wood-inlay of the Hutsul folk artists in the Ukraine are these two pieces, the buchivka (barrel) and candelabrum. The three candles represent the Trinity.

TOO YOUNG TO appreciate the wealth of Ukranian culture around him, Dorian Moros, 2, enjoys looking through the family albums, unaware of their wood inlay covers or embroidered pillow on which he sits. Large vase is an example of Kiev type art.

Birth control death risk revealed in new study

by PATRICIA McCORMACK

A new study shows the death risk associated with use of any major method of birth control is much less than the risk of death from childbearing.

The latter is less than the risk of dying in a car crash.

The exception in the investigation of mortality risk: the pill when used by those past 40.

At the older ages, pill use carries a mortality risk slightly greater than that associated with childbirth.

Research into mortality risks when using the various methods of birth control was conducted by Dr. Christopher Tietze, senior consultant with The Population Council, and his colleagues, Drs. John Bongaarts and Bruce Schearer.

THE REPORT WILL be published later this month in Family Planning Perspectives, the journal of Planned Parenthood's Alan Guttmacher Institute. The report was released in New York by Planned Parenthood.

Mortality risk is lowest for women who use traditional methods backed up by early legal abortion.

But such a course would require most women to have one or more abortions in the course of their reproductive lifetime — a practice medical authorities do not condone, especially if a wanted pregnancy subsequently is in a women's plans.

Some studies have shown children born after a mother has had multiple abortions don't always turn out quite right.

Dr. Louise Tyrer, Planned Parenthood's vice president for Medical Affairs, said in a press briefing that the organization's policy on the pill calls for outlining the risks to a woman over 40 after certain laboratory tests are added to a thorough physical.

Even then, if a woman wants to go on oral contraceptives, the policy calls for her signing an "informed consent."

In the over-40 women, pill use has been implicated in deaths from heart attacks and strokes.

In patients receiving oral contraceptives serious adverse reactions seen also include pulmonary embolism, hypertension, thrombophlebitis and gall bladder disease.

THE POSSIBILE carcinogenicity of estrogens for the oral contraceptive user can't be ruled in or ruled out at this time, according to authorities.

At the briefing authorities acknowledged that the cancer-causing potential of the oral contraceptives is in the back of a great many minds.

But it was noted that information confirming or denying this potentiality can only be gained in time — as many women take oral contraceptives for a long time.

Among other findings noted by Dr. Tietze and associates:

• With advancing age the relative risk of mortality associated with Intra-Uterine Devices declines, until by age 35, it is about as low as that with traditional methods backed up by abortion.

• For women who have completed their childbearing, tubal ligation is associated with very low mortality levels — especially when desired family size has been reached by an early age. It carries a lower death risk at all ages than do orals, abortion and no method of control.

• The only method of birth control that carries no known risk of death is vasectomy.

The investigators developed a "computer model" to estimate age-specific and lifetime mortality risks associated with various risks of childbearing without fertility regulation.

The model is based on information from the United States and Britain and therefore applies only to women living in the United States and other developed countries.

Even in the United States, they cautioned it may not be applicable to every ethnic or socioeconomic group.

Commenting on the findings in an accompanying Perspectives article, Dr. Tietze and Frederick S. Jaffe, the Institute's president, point to the absence of significant variation in mortality risks of the various methods for women under age 30 as evidence that "women in these age groups who are otherwise satisfied with oral contraceptives, for example, have little reason to switch to other methods out of concern over the risk of mortality."

They note that if the 6.3 million married women in the United States under age 40 who are currently using the pill were to switch to the diaphragm or condom, the result would be an additional 800,000 unwanted births per year - or 1.1 million additional abortions (more than doubling the current number).

"THE HEALTH RISKS for some women associated with some existing methods of fertility control . . . are serious enough to cause concern," the authors conclude. But "there are few currently available practical alternatives to large-scale dependence on these methods, and none that are risk-free.

"The availability of safer, effective methods depends on rapid expansion of research in reproductive biology and contraceptive development. Legislators and other public officials, organizations, scientists and others concerned with women's health would be well advised to use their voices and their influence to seek increased support for such a research effort."

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Homogenized milk theory lacks proof

I am enclosing an article from the National Enquirer pointing out the danger of drinking homogenized milk. According to the article, "the fat in milk contains a substance called zanthine oxidase, an enzyme. This enzyme will attack the heart and its arteries if it enters the bloodstream and it is able to get into the blood from homogenized milk." Since then I've been worried about drinking homogenized milk. Is it really dangerous? Is it really a good idea to boil the milk before drinking to kill the xanthine oxidase? I would be very much interested in your opinion.

This idea has been publicized through the efforts of Dr. Kurt A. Oster and is about as you relate it. Dr. Oster thinks that heart disease first became a problem about the time that homogenized milk came on the market. He claims that homogenizing the milk breaks down the fat molecules into small particles (which is true) and makes it easier then for the enzyme, which is attached to fat globules, to be absorbed through the intestinal wall.

Dr. Edwin L. Bierman of the University of Washington in Seattle and Dr. Robert E. Shank of Washington University in St. Louis recently reviewed this theory in an editorial for the Journal of the American Medical Assn. and they point out several important facts that the Oster theory ignores.

The truth is that the increase in heart and vascular disease had already begun well before homogenized milk was widely used. Moreover, the incidence has declined recently although the use of homogenized milk has not.

Still more important, enzymes are proteins and the acid and pepsin material in the stomach breaks down proteins as the first stage of digestion. Presumably the Oster enzyme is not immune to normal digestion and would no longer be an enzyme after passing through the stomach.

THERE IS no satisfactory proof the enzyme would be absorbed through the intestine into the blood stream if it escaped the digestive process of the stomach. Small protein molecules with molecular weights of less than 80,000 can be absorbed, but the Oster enzyme has a molecular weight of 300,000. Neither Drs. Bierman nor Shank think any of the research Oster has advanced to support the idea that it is absorbed permits any such conclusion at all.

Finally, there is no proof that the enzyme in question really does decrease the normal protective mechanisms within arteries and permit atherosclerosis to occur, leading to heart and vascular disease.

Drs. Bierman and Shank pretty well sum up the attitude of knowledgeable scientists with this statement in their editorial. "The conclusion seems warranted that a hypothesis has been stated and restated by a single protagonist (Oster). It remains tenuous and implausible and requires support from critically designed experiments. At this time it is far from an established fact that the drinking of homogenized milk contributes to mortality from coronary artery disease through the intestinal absorption of bovine xanthine oxidase. To advise the public to avoid homogenized milk or to boil milk for this purpose, on the basis of the meager published evidence, is unwarranted and unjustified."

Reader has question on proper humidity

Dear Dorothy: Recently I moved from an apartment to a house and since I love indoor plants acquired new ones at moving time. Looking at them now, I wonder whether the humidity in the house is the right level. I have a small portable humidifier. It puts out a lot of moisture, but how much should it be used? Do you know what the humidity in a house ought to be? — Patricia Foster

The best winter humidity rate in a home is around 30 per cent. Simple humidity gauges give accurate readings. Many say they don't have to check gauges — that they know the moment their throats get dry. Static electricity when walking on carpets is another signal. I have no idea what type of humidifier you have. Most portables have built-in humidistats which determine the amount of water needed to replenish moisture. Not only will your plants do far better with proper humidity, but you'll be healthier, too; your furniture won't dry out — and, most important in these days of high fuel cost, you will find your fuel consumption running lower.

Dearth Dorothy: I have a wooden bread board and some wooden spoons (they were mother's and made of pretty good stuff). They have gotten rough and I've been sanding them and then rubbing with fine steel wool in an effort to give them a good surface again. Any other suggestions? —Edwina Sparkman

None. I'd say you've handled the problem like a professional.

Dear Dorothy: Is it true that bread put in the freezer should not be touching the freezing plate? What happens if it does? Does it spoil? — Mary Ellen Hegeman

It doesn't spoil, but if ice crystals form the bread turns soggy when thawed.

Joseph Eberhardt, editor of Keen-Ager News, will speak at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday to the St. James Friendship Club which meets in the convent hall, 820 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights. He will discuss the latest benefits for senior citizens. Coffee will be served at 11:30 a.m.

Summit Auxiliary

Summit School's Dundee campus will be the setting for an informal potluck luncheon Tuesday at 12:45 p.m. for Summit School Auxiliary. Summit also operates a school for children with learning disabilities at the First Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights.

Luncheon reservations should be made locally with Joyce Pierce, 392-0193.

Overeaters Anonymous

An open meeting of Overeaters Anonymous is scheduled Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Lincoln Federal Savings in Hoffman Estates. Men and women are welcome.

Elk Grove Nurses

Elk Grove Village Nurses Club meets Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Niehoff Pavilion of Alexian Medical Center. A program on "Ostomates," from the American Cancer Society will be given by Margie Deisenroth.

Too warm

Bathroom medicine cabinets are too warm and steamy for storing some medicines. Prescription and over-the-counter drugs labeled for cool, dry storage usually contain special storage instructions, which should be followed for safety's sake. To maintain medicinal strength, pills such as nitroglycerine never should be carried in pill boxes. Many other medicines stored in pill boxes for long periods either lose strength or become too strong.

Make your own

A quick, easy astringent can be made by combining two tablespoons rubbing alcohol with one cup witch hazel. Apply as you would any astringent.

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Homogenized milk theory lacks proof

I am enclosing an article from the National Enquirer pointing out the danger of drinking homogenized milk. According to the article, "the fat in milk contains a substance called zanthine oxidase, an enzyme. This enzyme will attack the heart and its arteries if it enters the bloodstream and it is able to get into the blood from homogenized milk." Since then I've been worried about drinking homogenized milk. Is it really dangerous? Is it really a good idea to boil the milk before drinking to kill the xanthine oxidase? I would be very much interested in your opinion.

This idea has been publicized through the efforts of Dr. Kurt A. Oster and is about as you relate it. Dr. Oster thinks that heart disease first became a problem about the time that homogenized milk came on the market. He claims that homogenizing the milk breaks down the fat molecules into small particles (which is true) and makes it easier then for the enzyme, which is attached to fat globules, to be absorbed through the intestinal wall.

Dr. Edwin L. Bierman of the University of Washington in Seattle and Dr. Robert E. Shank of Washington University in St. Louis recently reviewed this theory in an editorial for the Journal of the American Medical Assn. and they point out several important facts that the Oster theory ignores.

The truth is that the increase in heart and vascular disease had already begun well before homogenized milk was widely used. Moreover, the incidence has declined recently although the use of homogenized milk has not.

Still more important, enzymes are proteins and the acid and pepsin material in the stomach breaks down proteins as the first stage of digestion. Presumably the Oster enzyme is not immune to normal digestion and would no longer be an enzyme after passing through the stomach.

THERE IS no satisfactory proof the enzyme would be absorbed through the intestine into the blood stream if it escaped the digestive process of the stomach. Small protein molecules with molecular weights of less than 80,000 can be absorbed, but the Oster enzyme has a molecular weight of 300,000. Neither Drs. Bierman nor Shank think any of the research Oster has advanced to support the idea that it is absorbed permits any such conclusion at all.

Finally, there is no proof that the enzyme in question really does decrease the normal protective mechanisms within arteries and permit atherosclerosis to occur, leading to heart and vascular disease.

Drs. Bierman and Shank pretty well sum up the attitude of knowledgeable scientists with this statement in their editorial. "The conclusion seems warranted that a hypothesis has been stated and restated by a single protagonist (Oster). It remains tenuous and implausible and requires support from critically designed experiments. At this time it is far from an established fact that the drinking of homogenized milk contributes to mortality from coronary artery disease through the intestinal absorption of bovine xanthine oxidase. To advise the public to avoid homogenized milk or to boil milk for this purpose, on the basis of the meager published evidence, is unwarranted and unjustified."

The home line

by Dorothy Ritz

Reader has question on proper humidity

Dear Dorothy: Recently I moved from an apartment to a house and since I love indoor plants acquired new ones at moving time. Looking at them now, I wonder whether the humidity in the house is the right level. I have a small portable humidifier. It puts out a lot of moisture, but how much should it be used? Do you know what the humidity in a house ought to be? — Patricia Foster

The best winter humidity rate in a home is around 30 per cent. Simple humidity gauges give accurate readings. Many say they don't have to check gauges — that they know the moment their throats get dry. Static electricity when walking on carpets is another signal. I have no idea what type of humidifier you have. Most portables have built-in humidistats which determine the amount of water needed to replenish moisture. Not only will your plants do far better with proper humidity, but you'll be healthier, too; your furniture won't dry out — and, most important in these days of high fuel cost, you will find your fuel consumption running lower.

Dearth Dorothy: I have a wooden bread board and some wooden spoons (they were mother's and made of pretty good stuff). They have gotten rough and I've been sanding them and then rubbing with fine steel wool in an effort to give them a good surface again. Any other suggestions? —Edwina Sparkman

None. I'd say you've handled the problem like a professional.

Dear Dorothy: Is it true that bread put in the freezer should not be touching the freezing plate? What happens if it does? Does it spoil? — Mary Ellen Hegeman

It doesn't spoil, but if ice crystals form the bread turns soggy when thawed.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Ask Andy

Mount Rushmore is very special

Andy sends a 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to Bill Kelleher, 14, of Salt Lake City, Utah, for his question:

HOW WERE THE FOUR PRESIDENTS ON MOUNT RUSHMORE CHOSEN?

The road leading to South Dakota's Mount Rushmore takes you through a stately park and winds through an area of about two square miles. As you approach the massive granite bluff that contains the memorial, you begin to get the feeling that this is really going to be something special. And when you finally get your first peek of it through the trees, you know you were right.

In 1923 the idea for Mount Rushmore was born in the imagination of Jonah Leroy Robinson, who was superintendent of the South Dakota State Historical Society for many years. By 1925 the concept had been approved by the federal and South Dakota governments. In October of that year it was dedicated as a national memorial.

The famous American Sculptor Gutzon Borglum was selected to design the memorial and supervise its construction. Work on the project began in 1927, and it is a tribute to his engineering genius that the project was completed. The hugeness of the task necessitated that Borglum invent new methods of sculpting.

Four American Presidents were selected as subjects for the sculpture — George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Washington was selected to represent our nation's founding; Jefferson, our political philosophy; Lincoln, the preservation of our nation, and Roosevelt, the expansion and conservation of our resources.

The heads of the Presidents are carved on a huge granite cliff that rises 500 feet above the floor of the valley. Each face is about 60 feet from chin to forehead — as tall as a five-story building. A full-size statue built to the same scale would be 465 feet high. More than 400,000 tons of solid rock were blasted and chiseled away to form the memorial. Models, built on the scale of one inch to one foot, were lifted to the edge of the cliff to serve as guides for the workmen.

The head of Washington was completed in 1930, and seven years later the heads of Jefferson and Lincoln were finished. Though not completed, the head of Roosevelt was dedicated in 1939. Work on the project halted in 1941, still leaving it not quite finished. In the 14 years spent on the memorial only six and a half were spent in actual labor due to lack of funds or unfavorable weather. The total cost was just under $1 million.

Gutzon Borglum died in early 1941, leaving his son, Lincoln Borglum, to continue the work. Today, a quarter of a century later, almost 1 million people each year visit Mount Rushmore to marvel at the beauty and greatness of his tribute to the men who helped formulate, shape and strengthen American democracy.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Pamela Zygmunt, age 8, of Utica, N.Y., for her question:

HOW DO ANIMALS LAP UP LIQUIDS?

Next time you give your pet a dish of water, watch how easily his tongue laps it up. Most mammals lap water frequently and effortlessly, and their tongues are designed perfectly for the task. They are long enough and curl just right, forming a sort of built-in mini cup with which to take in liquids. Animals' tongues differ greatly, however, because besides drinking they serve other important purposes.

The giraffe's black tongue, for example, is long and sticky so that leaves, shoots and twigs in tall trees can be grabbed and munched easily. Members of the cat family have extremely coarse tongues, as rough as files, to enable them to clean themselves and also to lick meat off the bones of fallen prey. The tongue of the anteater is truly specialized, darting out eight inches or more to press hundreds of insects to its sticky surface.

Farrell loves 'M-A-S-H' but not TV

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Farrell joined the "M-A-S-H" cast last fall and walked into what seemed like an actor's ultimate nightmare.

Farrell took on the role of B.J. Hunnicutt, who became "Hawkeye" Pierce's sidekick when "Trapper" John Wayne Rogers left the highly successful CBS half-hour comedy after last season.

"It's very frightening," Farrell said in an interview, explaining that an actor coming into a successful show worries that the ratings will start to go downhill and he'll be blamed.

"It almost happened," Farrell said. "Here was a show that had been very successful for three years and it started to slip in the ratings. It could have looked like it was my fault."

INSTEAD THE blame probably lies with the programming department, which had switched "M-A-S-H" to Friday night opposite NBC's "Chico and the Man." Returned to Tuesday night, the show zoomed back up among the leaders.

"Quite often I grind my teeth at the lack of taste on television and in movies," Farrell said, explaining why he is getting into theatrical production in Los Angeles.

"I'd like to try out being in the driver's seat. Television, for instance, suffers from some horrendous writing, but the problem goes beyond that. It's a question of choices. I watch things on television and in motion pictures and I cringe at the choices.

Farrell, who finds "M-A-S-H" an exception, also wrote a series premise for television about a parole officer, "an antipolice show where the hero gets people out of jail and back into society — no violence, no guns allowed."

The networks said no, and now Farrell says, "I want to be the guy who can say yes. I don't agree with the network philosophy, the trend of sitcoms and whatever sells. I believe we need to find good dramatic and comedic formats and put them on the air, instead of everybody playing it safe."

Diamond bid is best shot

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Oswald: "No matter what system you play there are going to be occasions when you just don't have a proper bid."

Jim: "Even when you have an obvious bid, it doesn't mean that you will get the best result from your action."

Oswald: "South has 14 highcard points, made up of aces and kings. His hand clearly calls for an opening bid, but he is too weak for one notrump and has no biddable suit. He opens one diamond. North bids rather unscientifically to six diamonds."

Jim: "The contract wraps up. South draws trumps with three leads, cashes dummy's king and queen of hearts, enters his hand with the ace of spades, discards one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts and winds up with twelve easy tricks."

Oswald: "I have to admit that I constructed the North, East and West hands. A club lead beats six diamonds if North plays the hand and six notrump is beaten by perfect defense so South's doubtful diamond opening is a real winner."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Farrell loves 'M-A-S-H' but not TV

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Farrell joined the "M-A-S-H" cast last fall and walked into what seemed like an actor's ultimate nightmare.

Farrell took on the role of B.J. Hunnicutt, who became "Hawkeye" Pierce's sidekick when "Trapper" John Wayne Rogers left the highly successful CBS half-hour comedy after last season.

"It's very frightening," Farrell said in an interview, explaining that an actor coming into a successful show worries that the ratings will start to go downhill and he'll be blamed.

"It almost happened," Farrell said. "Here was a show that had been very successful for three years and it started to slip in the ratings. It could have looked like it was my fault."

INSTEAD THE blame probably lies with the programming department, which had switched "M-A-S-H" to Friday night opposite NBC's "Chico and the Man." Returned to Tuesday night, the show zoomed back up among the leaders.

"Quite often I grind my teeth at the lack of taste on television and in movies," Farrell said, explaining why he is getting into theatrical production in Los Angeles.

"I'd like to try out being in the driver's seat. Television, for instance, suffers from some horrendous writing, but the problem goes beyond that. It's a question of choices. I watch things on television and in motion pictures and I cringe at the choices.

Farrell, who finds "M-A-S-H" an exception, also wrote a series premise for television about a parole officer, "an antipolice show where the hero gets people out of jail and back into society — no violence, no guns allowed."

The networks said no, and now Farrell says, "I want to be the guy who can say yes. I don't agree with the network philosophy, the trend of sitcoms and whatever sells. I believe we need to find good dramatic and comedic formats and put them on the air, instead of everybody playing it safe."

Diamond bid is best shot

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Oswald: "No matter what system you play there are going to be occasions when you just don't have a proper bid."

Jim: "Even when you have an obvious bid, it doesn't mean that you will get the best result from your action."

Oswald: "South has 14 highcard points, made up of aces and kings. His hand clearly calls for an opening bid, but he is too weak for one notrump and has no biddable suit. He opens one diamond. North bids rather unscientifically to six diamonds."

Jim: "The contract wraps up. South draws trumps with three leads, cashes dummy's king and queen of hearts, enters his hand with the ace of spades, discards one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts and winds up with twelve easy tricks."

Oswald: "I have to admit that I constructed the North, East and West hands. A club lead beats six diamonds if North plays the hand and six notrump is beaten by perfect defense so South's doubtful diamond opening is a real winner."

The Accepted Influence in the Northwest Suburbs

Unless Congress acts fast

Court order may hurt candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unless Congress acts within two weeks, the federal purse will snap shut on candidates for the Presidential nominations.

The Supreme Court has ordered the Federal Elections Commission to disband at the end of the month unless the law creating it is rewritten so all members are Presidential appointees. The court gave Congress 30 days to make the change.

Without a commission, there would be no agency to distribute the federal matching funds on which most candidates are counting to help finance pre-convention campaigns.

Republicans, fighting the court-imposed deadline, will attempt a rare maneuver Tuesday to force House consideration of legislation under which all FEC members would be chosen by the president.

LED BY REP. John Anderson, R-Ill., they will ask the House Rules Committee to send legislation to the floor with all amendments barred. This would bypass the House Administration Committee, whose chairman, Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, is hostile to the FEC.

Anderson's chances are rated even at best, and Hays plans to call a meeting of his committee this week. Although the Hays committee failed to reach agreement last week, the consensus appeared to favor restructuring the commission but limiting its duties to dispensing federal funds.

The Senate and House scheduled the traditional reading of George Washington's Farewell Address in both chambers Monday before resuming fulltime duties after the Lincoln's Day recess.

The Senate plans to vote Wednesday on a $3 billion package of foreign military aid, but only after administration-backed Republicans seek to kill or modify provisions that would make overseas arms sales more public.

In other action this week:

• The House is scheduled to vote on overriding Ford's veto of a $6.2 billion public works jobs program which sponsors say would create 600,000 new jobs.

• The Senate plans to continue considering a major revision of U.S. copyright laws.

• The House has scheduled a vote on a four-year, $1.9 billion appropriation for ConRail, the 17,000-mile rail system to be formed April 1 from the best lines of seven bankrupt railroads.

• The House must decide what to do with the report of its Intelligence Committee, which is classified although it has been publicly printed. The House could permit only members to read it, or a highlevel committee could determine what should be made public.

Walker worst manager in state, Howlett charges

by STEVE BROWN

Sec. of State Michael Howlett issued two statements during the weekend which he said will show Gov. Daniel Walker is the "worst manager the state has ever had."

Howlett, Walker's opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor in Illinois' March 16 primary, cited the problems with the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid and the state Medicaid program as examples of Walker's poor management.

Howlett said the public aid dept. erroneously spent $400 million in state and federal tax money. He charged the department aids nearly four times the number of ineligible persons than the federal government allows. He also said the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare is withholding $30 million from Illinois because of mismanagement.

Turning to the Medicaid program, Howlett charged the program has grown at a "runaway fashion under Gov. Walker."

Payment for services are delayed, fraud goes unchecked, few effective audit procedures have been undertaken," he said.

Walker administration officials have denied reports of mismanagement. There have been conflicting statements over reports that Walker aides are delaying payments to hospitals and other agencies claiming funds under the Medicaid program.

Political briefs

Mikva and his aides have consistently declined to respond to comments made by the candidates in the Republican primary contest.

Results of Mikva poll

Residents in the 10th District want more federal funds for domestic programs, according to a poll taken by U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th.

More than 13,000 persons responded to the questionnaire mailed by the congressman recently. Mikva noted a majority of persons favor maintaining or increasing federal funds for health, education, social security benefits and the creation of new jobs.

He said the highest positive response, 73 per cent, came from persons who favored new tax breaks or tax incentives for small businesses.

In another section of the poll, 97 per cent of the respondents called increased development of coal, solar and geothermal energy.

The respondents were nearly even split on the issue of sharply increasing the number of public service jobs during periods of high unemployment. Forty-five per cent favored the move, while 44 per cent said they were opposed.

Bakalis asks overhaul

Michael Bakalis, Democratic candidate for comptroller, has called for a "massive managerial overhaul" of state government.

Bakalis cited his record as superintendent of public instruction, where he cut his administrative costs and spending.

"If every agency was able to do for only one year, what we accomplished in the state office of education, the state could save between $10 to $20 million," he said.

Props not needed: Nimrod

State Sen. John Nimrod, R-Glenview, said he does not need props to develop issues in the campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 10th Congressional District.

"All I need is U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva's, D-10th, record."

"In the 10th District, our congressman (Mikva) says he is concerned for small business. In Washington he votes with organized labor right down the line regardless of who it hurts," Nimrod charged.

State budget meets urged

Michael Bakalis, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, has called for a series of statewide meetings on the proposed Illinois budget for the next fiscal year.

Gov. Daniel Walker is scheduled to introduce his budget to the Illinois General Assembly next month.

Bakalis said the hearings will allow persons from throughout the state to express their views about how the government proposes to spend their tax dollars.

"State budget making remains a vague and a distant process in which who, when and how anyone is consulted remains a great mystery," Bakalis said.

Mikva and his aides have consistently declined to respond to comments made by the candidates in the Republican primary contest.

Results of Mikva poll

Residents in the 10th District want more federal funds for domestic programs, according to a poll taken by U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th.

More than 13,000 persons responded to the questionnaire mailed by the congressman recently. Mikva noted a majority of persons favor maintaining or increasing federal funds for health, education, social security benefits and the creation of new jobs.

He said the highest positive response, 73 per cent, came from persons who favored new tax breaks or tax incentives for small businesses.

In another section of the poll, 97 per cent of the respondents called increased development of coal, solar and geothermal energy.

The respondents were nearly even split on the issue of sharply increasing the number of public service jobs during periods of high unemployment. Forty-five per cent favored the move, while 44 per cent said they were opposed.

State budget meets urged

Michael Bakalis, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, has called for a series of statewide meetings on the proposed Illinois budget for the next fiscal year.

Gov. Daniel Walker is scheduled to introduce his budget to the Illinois General Assembly next month.

Bakalis said the hearings will allow persons from throughout the state to express their views about how the government proposes to spend their tax dollars.

"State budget making remains a vague and a distant process in which who, when and how anyone is consulted remains a great mystery," Bakalis said.

Schlickman fundraiser set

Supporters of State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, have announced plans for a Feb. 22 fundraiser at Allgauer's Fireside Restaurant in Northbrook.

Tickets for the event are $25 per couple or $12.50 per person and can be obtained by calling 253-1976 or 259-3640.

You're throwing away money, if you're throwing away old newspapers

Pioneer Paper Stock is paying money for old newspapers.

We need paper for recycling mills, so we're paying to get it. Individuals, companies, municipalities—anyone who has old newspapers and can bring them in, can make money.

Just deliver your old newspapers to the Pioneer facility at 1750 W. Fullerton (just off Route 53) in Addison, or 900 N. Ogden Avenue in Chicago. You can drop off newspapers between 7:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday. We'll weigh them and pay you on the spot—$1.25 per hundred pounds (about a 4' stack) or $25 per ton.

If you have a large load (8 tons or more), we'll provide trailers or bins and pick them up. For newspaper that we pick up, we pay 85¢ per hundred pounds or $17 per ton.

We are also paying for old corrugated containers, computer print-out paper and cards, and many other grades of wastepaper.

It's easy to make extra money from old newspapers—almost easier than throwing them away.

Elk Grove gymnasts take league honors

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Gymnastics Editor

Fred Gaines had his hands happily filled Saturday night, juggling a huge cake and handshakes and, most importantly, the championship trophy of the Mid-Suburban League gynastics season. His Elk Grove Grenadiers edged the Hersey Huskies 142.44 to 141.53 and five other contenders for a title that meant so much.

"This is great, just great," Gaines laughed. "We didn't even look good where we were supposed to."

The Grens looked good enough to the eight judges to put a halt to the Hersey Habit, an addiction the Huskies held for the league championship three years in a row.

"We've had a lot of problems this year," Gaines said. "But this team has come together like champions. We're closer now, as a team, than we've ever been."

The closeness was inspired by a masterful team effort and a pleasant surprise from a gymnast who has been standing backstage most of the year.

Dan Wudtke, a tough little senior who has been in the sport of gymnastics only three years, came out of the pack to place fourth in the all-around.

"More than any other kid on this team," Gaines said. "Dan came through in the clutch to help us win this meet."

Wudtke's 7.02 all-around average was highlighted by a 7.7 still rings routine that held off the charging Huskies.

"I was confident going into the final events," Gaines remarked. "Then Dan came along and hit his potential and I knew we had it."

But Wudtke was just a small part of the Grens' story as they battled their way to the title in a meet that was as close as everyone expected.

Gene Christensen stepped out as the finest all-around gymnast in the league, taking that title with an 8.14 average and also proving himself the best on free exercise (8.65) and P-Bars (8.80).

"Gene can do better," Gaines said. "But he did well enough tonight to prove what I've felt all year. He's the best in the league."

Christensen took the all-around lead after one event and then lost it to Hersey's Danny Muenz on side horse. But an 8.65 showing on high bar put him back on top for good.

Muenz, despite a painful rib separation injury, put up a gallant fight.

"Danny was bothered the whole meet," said Hersey head coach Don Von Ebers. "We put ice on him after every event but he was still in a lot of pain.

"He's a gritty little kid, though, and under the circumstances I think he did a super job."

Muenz' 7.98 all-around average included medals on side horse and P-Bars. His courage was most evident on the parallel bars, where the pain was greatest and he still threw an 8.50 to place second.

Perhaps the best routine of the night was fashioned by Elk Grove's Tim Connelly, who blew away the still rings field with a masterful 8.90.

Gaines knew it, too. Even before Connelly had completed his routine the Elk Grove coach was striding across the floor to wrap his arms around him in congratulations.

"Tim was nearly perfect," Gaines said. "If I were a judge and a kid finished with an 8.9 I'd go ahead and give him a 9.00. Tim deserved it tonight."

Connelly, more than any other gymnast in the meet, had something to prove to MSL skeptics Saturday night. In last year's conference meet he was tabbed as the league's best, and a possible state championship contender, only to blow his routine and finish a disappointing tenth.

The Elk Grove high bar team of Christensen and Tom Balla established a slight superiority over the Rolling Meadows tandem of Keith Liszewski and Mark Waclawski.

Liszewski won the event title with a snappy 8.70 and Waclawski grabbed a fifth place medal at 8.10 but Christensen (8.65) and Balla (8.55) took sec-

Forest View girls rally in bowling finals for 2nd

by PAUL LOGAN

According to the car rental commercial, you should try harder when you're No. 2.

The Forest View girls finished second in the state bowling tourney at Peoria Saturday. But the Falcons didn't feel too bad, according to Coach Pam Frase. They escaped finishing third!

Forest View entered the semifinal morning session with a 54-pin lead over Abingdon. "I think being ahead sometimes takes the pressure off of you," said Frase. "But sometimes it's better to have a little on them."

Abingdon, like Forest View a former state champ, was red-hot in the semifinals, taking the lead for good. The Commandos won the fourth annual tourney at Town and Country Lanes with 9,490 pins. The Falcons nosed out Rockford East for runner-up honors, 9,381 to 9,357.

"I think they were really happy to pull through for second," said Frase.

Heading into the four-team finals, Forest View trailed Abingdon 7120 to 7087. In the first game, Abingdon rolled a 771 compared to Forest View's 774, opening up a 36-pin margin. Nancy Lachus and Cheryl Hanson led the Falcons with games of 178 and 172, respectively.

But the second game proved the Falcons' downfall. The Commandos scored a 790 to Forest View's 702, increasing their lead to an almost insurmountable 124 pins heading into the last game.

The best individual effort by a Falcon in that game was a 163 by Judy Pleickhardt.

In the meantime, Rockford had rolled back-to-back super games of 882 and 895. "No one was really worried about them (the Rockford E-Rabs) until then," said Frase.

"They (the Falcons) didn't seem to have anything going for them."

Maybe the Forest View pride in having finished first ('74) and second ('75) helped shake the girls out of their slump.

"Their third game was great," said Frase, who was hoarse from cheering.

"They needed a little cheering, so we gave them the best we could."

The Falcons' 818 was the best they had Saturday. It was enough to hold off Rockford, but Abingdon nearly matched the Falcons with an 809 to win the first-place trophy.

Leading Forest View in the last game was Julie Mathews with a 203.

Lachus paced the Falcons for the tourney. The strong junior had a 12-game average of 165.6. Sophomore Pleickhardt, who led the Mid-Suburban League in average this year, followed with a 164.9. Both bettered their averages in the two-day affair.

Pleickhardt's 581 series in the second round was a state tourney record and her high for the year.

Mathews was also right around her season average with a 158.9. Hanson averaged 149.4, Debbie Compton 144.7 (for 3 rounds) and substitute Linda Desrosiers 139.0 (for one round).

Leading Abingdon was Shelly Onion with a 168.6.

"Abingdon bowled excellently," said Frase. "Even if we bowled really well, it would have been really tight.

"I don't think we were overconfident. I really don't. Only two girls had been there before. I think they just started too late (in the finals).

"I'm pleased with them. They did a fine job. They may be a little disappointed game-wise in themselves, but I don't think they should be disappointed in their position.

"As long as they did the best they could. When you do, you should be satisfied with it. That's the name of the game, doing your best."

Elk Grove gymnasts take league honors

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Gymnastics Editor

Fred Gaines had his hands happily filled Saturday night, juggling a huge cake and handshakes and, most importantly, the championship trophy of the Mid-Suburban League gynastics season. His Elk Grove Grenadiers edged the Hersey Huskies 142.44 to 141.53 and five other contenders for a title that meant so much.

"This is great, just great," Gaines laughed. "We didn't even look good where we were supposed to."

The Grens looked good enough to the eight judges to put a halt to the Hersey Habit, an addiction the Huskies held for the league championship three years in a row.

"We've had a lot of problems this year," Gaines said. "But this team has come together like champions. We're closer now, as a team, than we've ever been."

The closeness was inspired by a masterful team effort and a pleasant surprise from a gymnast who has been standing backstage most of the year.

Dan Wudtke, a tough little senior who has been in the sport of gymnastics only three years, came out of the pack to place fourth in the all-around.

"More than any other kid on this team," Gaines said. "Dan came through in the clutch to help us win this meet."

Wudtke's 7.02 all-around average was highlighted by a 7.7 still rings routine that held off the charging Huskies.

"I was confident going into the final events," Gaines remarked. "Then Dan came along and hit his potential and I knew we had it."

But Wudtke was just a small part of the Grens' story as they battled their way to the title in a meet that was as close as everyone expected.

Gene Christensen stepped out as the finest all-around gymnast in the league, taking that title with an 8.14 average and also proving himself the best on free exercise (8.65) and P-Bars (8.80).

"Gene can do better," Gaines said. "But he did well enough tonight to prove what I've felt all year. He's the best in the league."

Christensen took the all-around lead after one event and then lost it to Hersey's Danny Muenz on side horse. But an 8.65 showing on high bar put him back on top for good.

Muenz, despite a painful rib separation injury, put up a gallant fight.

"Danny was bothered the whole meet," said Hersey head coach Don Von Ebers. "We put ice on him after every event but he was still in a lot of pain.

"He's a gritty little kid, though, and under the circumstances I think he did a super job."

Muenz' 7.98 all-around average included medals on side horse and P-Bars. His courage was most evident on the parallel bars, where the pain was greatest and he still threw an 8.50 to place second.

Perhaps the best routine of the night was fashioned by Elk Grove's Tim Connelly, who blew away the still rings field with a masterful 8.90.

Gaines knew it, too. Even before Connelly had completed his routine the Elk Grove coach was striding across the floor to wrap his arms around him in congratulations.

"Tim was nearly perfect," Gaines said. "If I were a judge and a kid finished with an 8.9 I'd go ahead and give him a 9.00. Tim deserved it tonight."

Connelly, more than any other gymnast in the meet, had something to prove to MSL skeptics Saturday night. In last year's conference meet he was tabbed as the league's best, and a possible state championship contender, only to blow his routine and finish a disappointing tenth.

The Elk Grove high bar team of Christensen and Tom Balla established a slight superiority over the Rolling Meadows tandem of Keith Liszewski and Mark Waclawski.

Liszewski won the event title with a snappy 8.70 and Waclawski grabbed a fifth place medal at 8.10 but Christensen (8.65) and Balla (8.55) took sec-

Forest View girls rally in bowling finals for 2nd

by PAUL LOGAN

According to the car rental commercial, you should try harder when you're No. 2.

The Forest View girls finished second in the state bowling tourney at Peoria Saturday. But the Falcons didn't feel too bad, according to Coach Pam Frase. They escaped finishing third!

Forest View entered the semifinal morning session with a 54-pin lead over Abingdon. "I think being ahead sometimes takes the pressure off of you," said Frase. "But sometimes it's better to have a little on them."

Abingdon, like Forest View a former state champ, was red-hot in the semifinals, taking the lead for good. The Commandos won the fourth annual tourney at Town and Country Lanes with 9,490 pins. The Falcons nosed out Rockford East for runner-up honors, 9,381 to 9,357.

"I think they were really happy to pull through for second," said Frase.

Heading into the four-team finals, Forest View trailed Abingdon 7120 to 7087. In the first game, Abingdon rolled a 771 compared to Forest View's 774, opening up a 36-pin margin. Nancy Lachus and Cheryl Hanson led the Falcons with games of 178 and 172, respectively.

But the second game proved the Falcons' downfall. The Commandos scored a 790 to Forest View's 702, increasing their lead to an almost insurmountable 124 pins heading into the last game.

The best individual effort by a Falcon in that game was a 163 by Judy Pleickhardt.

In the meantime, Rockford had rolled back-to-back super games of 882 and 895. "No one was really worried about them (the Rockford E-Rabs) until then," said Frase.

"They (the Falcons) didn't seem to have anything going for them."

Maybe the Forest View pride in having finished first ('74) and second ('75) helped shake the girls out of their slump.

"Their third game was great," said Frase, who was hoarse from cheering. "They needed a little cheering, so we gave them the best we could."

The Falcons' 818 was the best they had Saturday. It was enough to hold off Rockford, but Abingdon nearly matched the Falcons with an 809 to win the first-place trophy.

Leading Forest View in the last game was Julie Mathews with a 203.

Lachus paced the Falcons for the tourney. The strong junior had a 12-game average of 165.6. Sophomore Pleickhardt, who led the Mid-Suburban League in average this year, followed with a 164.9. Both bettered their averages in the two-day affair.

Pleickhardt's 581 series in the second round was a state tourney record and her high for the year.

Mathews was also right around her season average with a 158.9. Hanson averaged 149.4, Debbie Compton 144.7 (for 3 rounds) and substitute Linda Desrosiers 139.0 (for one round).

Leading Abingdon was Shelly Onion with a 168.6.

"Abingdon bowled excellently," said Frase. "Even if we bowled really well, it would have been really tight.

"I don't think we were overconfident, I really don't. Only two girls had been there before. I think they just started too late (in the finals).

"I'm pleased with them. They did a fine job. They may be a little disappointed game-wise in themselves, but I don't think they should be disappointed in their position.

"As long as they did the best they could. When you do, you should be satisfied with it. That's the name of the game, doing your best."

BURNING RUBBER are leader Richard Petty and David Pearson, top right, after a collision near the finish line of the Daytona 500 Sunday. Petty hit the wall just before taking the checkered flag and then spun into Pearson, sending both off the track. Pearson managed to get his car started first to edge out Petty.

Pearson does 'The Bump' to beat Petty at Daytona

David Pearson captured the Daytona 500, a race usually won at speeds of more than 180 miles an hour, by surviving a wreck on the last turn and limping over the finish line in his Mercury at less than 20 miles an hour at Datona, Fla.

"I was going about 15 or 20 miles an hour when I crossed the finish line," Pearson said after the 500-mile event at Daytona International Speedway. Petty, who finished second, was going even slower. The two drivers were running bumper-to-bumper in the last lap when their cars wrecked on the front stretch, both sliding into the infield grass. Petty's car would not start. Pearson's engine never shut off.

"I pulled back into low gear," said Pearson, whose car limped back on to the track and across the checkered flag for his first Daytona 500 victory ever. "I knew it was going to be close, but I didn't know it was going to be that close," he said.

When the cars halted after the collison, Petty, of Randleman, N.C., was about 30 feet from the finish line. Pearson, who stopped about 50 feet behind him, passed the stock car king as he sat in his Dodge.

Petty's crew rushed to the scene and pushed his crippled car, which managed to cross the finish line under its own power.

Ratelle rips Hawks with hat trick

Jean Ratelle's three-goal hat trick led the visiting Boston Bruin's past the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday at the Stadium, 4-1.

The Bruins jumped on Hawk goalie Gilles Villemure early in the first period. Jean Ratelle accounted for both goals, scoring at 3:00 and at 5:25. The Hawks had two power play opportunities, but Bruin goalie Gilles Gilbert was up to the task.

Pit Martin put the Hawks on the scoreboard in the second period. But Ratelle came right back with his third goal. Teammate Bobby Schmautz made it 4-1 late in the period.

Tony Esposito replaced Villemure in the nets in the third period. The veteran goalie blanked the Bruins, turning back several offensive charges. Gilbert also put in another solid period of goal keeping for the winners.

Olympics conclude on high, low notes

While all Austria celebrated a double victory by its 90-meter hill ski jumpers, the 12th Winter Olympic Games ended on a sour note for two U.S. hockey players who were fined $18 each after being involved in a midnight nightclub brawl in Innsbruck.

Gary Ross, of Roseau, Minn., and Bob Miller, of Billerica, Mass., were charged with disturbing the peace after police dropped the original charge of assaulting a policeman.

Phillip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said the matter had been resolved amicably after the authorities conducted an investigation at the team's quarters in the athletes' village.

Ausgria ended the Games the way it began it, with a gold medal. Karl Schnabl won the 90-meter ski jumping with 234.8 points following jumps of 319 feet 1¼ inches and 318.3. Teammate Toni Innauer, only 17, finished second with 232.9 points after getting off the longest jump of the competition, 336, 3¾, and East Germany's Henry Glass was third with 221.7 points.

Jim Denny of Duluth, Minn., was the best placed American, finishing 18th in the field of 55 with 191.1 points. He had jumps of 292-0 and 278, 10½.

Krumm refused to release the names of the other players involved in the brawl, but said four were treated for lacerations and contusions by the U.S. team medical officer and another was taken to the hospital with a suspected fractured jaw. "The X-ray showed no fracture," Krumm said, "but he had three stitches for a cut inside his mouth."

The brawl broke out when the players tried to enter a nightclub which was full. Police said the players were pushed back by patrons using fire extinguishers. Then the fists began to fly. The players were driven back into the street and it was here, the police charged, that Ross and Miller attacked the law officers.

Hoosiers give fans winning snack

Thanks to the Indiana basketball team's defensive play last weekend, Hoosier fans enjoyed a hamburger and a drink Sunday at a Bloomington restaurant. Indiana held Illinois to 48 points, one under the minimum set by the hamburger stand, while winning its 21st game Saturday. So every Hoosier fan who attended the contest and kept the ticket stub chowed down for free. Ranked No. 1 nationally, the Hoosiers will be trying to keep that lofty ranking at arch-rival Purdue tonight. . .

Defending champion J. C. Snead, wasting most of a five stroke lead while playing it safe, rolled in a four-foot birdie putt on the final hole for an even par 72 to beat Don Bies by a stroke and win the $180,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

A Minnesota Vikings spokesman admitted that the team has been approached by New York City officials about playing at the newly renovated Yankee Satdium, but he said the team was waiting to see what developed i Minnesota before seriously considering a move.

Joanne Carner blew a four-shot lead but came back and defeated Sandra Palmer on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the $45,000 Orange Blossom Classic in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Phil Esposito's two goals and one assist moved him into fifth place on the NHL's all-time scoring list Sunday night and paced the New York Rangers to a 5-1 victory over the Kansas City Scouts.

Can spring training be far behind?

Despite threatening skies, an estimated 28,500 baseball fans turned out at Dodger Stadium Sunday and saw the Los Angeles Dodgers and University of Southern California play to a 3-3 tie in a five-inning exhibition.

Cards' soph swimmers capture league title; Meadows' Rowland stars

The Arlington sophomore swimming team took its league title over the weekend by winning the Mid-Suburban League sophomore level conference meet.

The Young Cards won easily with 228 points to runner-up Prospect (175) and third place Rolling Meadows (173).

Rolling Meadows' Jim Rowland took two firsts in the meet, breaking two league records. Rowland also swam on his squad's winning medley relay team.

Rowland's 23.49 in the 50-yard freestyle broke a 1972 record of 24.2 set by Arlington's Brian Kelly. In winning the 100-yard backstroke, Rowland's time of 1:01.39 eclipsed the 1972 mark of 1:03.5, set by Arlington's Rob Carstens.

Arlington took four first enroute to its second victory of the weekend. The Cards' varsity won its conference meet Friday, giving them the league championship also.

Brandon Tanner took a first for the Cards in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:05.17. Paul Neave took the top spot in diving earlier in the week with 262.05 points. John Maves took first for Arlington in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 56.32 seconds. The Cards also won the free relay.

Maves, Tanner, Matt Malone and Steve Hall made up the winning entry for Arlington in the free relay, which won with a time of 3:51.26.

Other first place winners were: Medley Relay — Rolling Meadows (Rowland, Meisenheimer, Mate Ulbrick) 1:54.85; Individual Medley, — Earl Keegan, Elk Grove, 2:23.72; Butterfly — Scott Baete, Elk Grove; 1:04.03; Breaststroke — Mark Meisenheimer, Rolling Meadows, 1:12.57.

The meet results mean that conference champ Arlington will be followed in the final league standings by Prospect. Hersey finished third in the final league standings.

Marriott hosts tennis clinic

An array of talented and well-known tennis authorities, headed by Bill Murphy, tennis coach at the University of Arizona, will be featured at the second annual Midwest Tennis Coaches Clinic at the Chicago Marriott Hotel (8535 West Higgins Road), March 5-6.

Murphy, the former head coach at the University of Michigan for 19 seasons, has guided his Arizona teams to a 32-6 dual meet record over the past two seasons, along with two Western Athletic Conference Championships and top ten national finishes.

Murphy's two-day topics will include: "Key Drills for Intermediate and Advanced Players," and "Play Situation, Tactical Analysis."

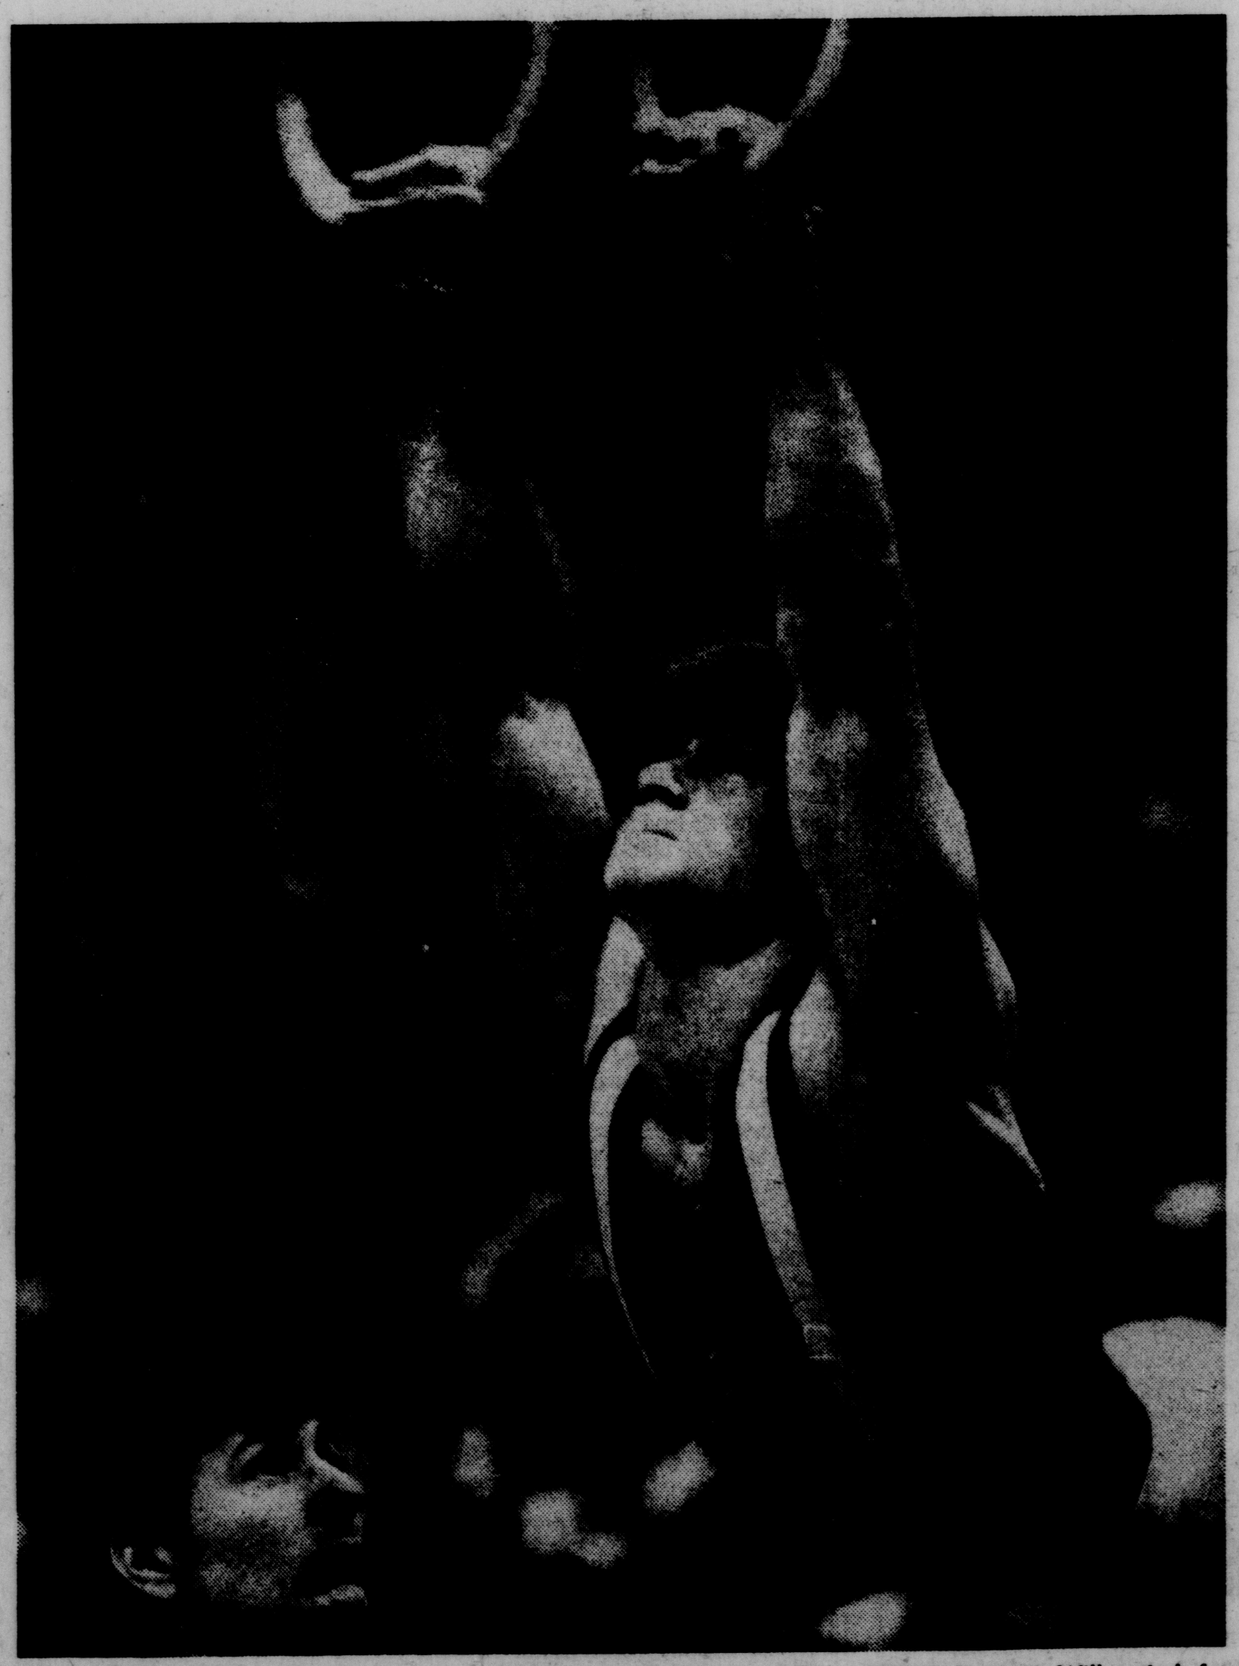
Other speakers to appear will include: Joan Ramey, head tennis pro at the Northeast Indoor Club, Indianapolis; Jack Wayne, head coach at Homewood-Flossmoor High School; Al Kranz, head trainer for Standard Oil, Allan Carvell, president of Rainbo Sports Center, Chicago; and Stephen Wilkinson, head tennis coach, Gustavus Adolphus College.

The clinic speakers will present their lectures from a regulation court, while the spectators view their presentations from an elevated seating arrangement.

All interested persons should contact clinic directors Lee Frederick, head tennis coach at Western Illinois, or Bill Callahan, head tennis coach at DeKalb High School.

DePaul on radio

The basketball game between DePaul and nationally ranked Virginia Tech tonight will be broadcast live on WWMM-FM (92.7), starting at 7:45 p.m. with The Coach Ray Meyer Show. Bob Houghton of WWMM will call the plays and Bob Frisk of The Herald will give color commentary.



RING BOUND. Prospect's still rings specialist Glenn Wilke gets the eye from head coach Pat Kivland during the MSL conference meet. Wilke tied for fifth place with an 8.15 judging.

Sectional battles ahead for area mat qualifiers

by KEITH REINHARD
Wrestling Editor

Quality rather than quantity was the area's wrestling battle cry Saturday while Maine West and Buffalo Grove were putting forth the best local efforts at four district wrestling tournaments.

The Warriors, somewhat expectedly, and the Bison, very unexpectedly, sauntered off with repeat championships over the weekend to head up the march into sectional warfare beginning this Friday.

On an individual basis, however, pickings were much slimmer than in recent years with only 41 total area wrestlers qualifying for the next round of the state tourney.

Dick Carlini's West crew, with a well-balanced attack, racked up 126 points to win the Ridgewood district gathering handily and marched seven grapplers into West Leyden's sectional showdown.

Dennis Riccio's Grove outfit crowned four champs and qualified five at Highland Park while bursting past the favored hosting Little Giants, Barrington and Glenbrook North to win by a nose.

At Crown's district it was Dundee unseating the defending champions from Hersey while at Elgin the favored Addison Trail Blazers roared off with another throne while qualifying two thirds of their team.

The Huskies, along with Elk Grove out of the Elgin District, and the Bison were the only schools in the Mid-Suburban League to advance more than three wrestlers to the sectionals and the conference produced only 32 overall . . . a far cry from last year's 44.

Here's the rundown by district:

RIDGEWOOD

With two champs, five runnersup and a pair of third place finishers, Maine West outdistanced the rest of the pack by nearly 50 points. There was only one repeating champ — Maine South's John Carroll dropping down from heavyweight to win the 185-pound division — but two Warriors, Tom Krauser at 98 and Mike Tramel at 119, requalified as runnersup and Maine East's Mike Fiorio and Maine South's Kurt Fiech will also go to sectionals again.

The two West champs were Rob Krusinski at 105 and Bill Barringer at 155. Krusinski logged a shutout and a pair of pins to win his title handily.

Also advancing for West were Dave Cavazos at 185 and heavyweight Bob Smith. Louie DePasquale at 132 and Dan Cavazos at 145 notched thirds, the latter losing out 10-7 to Fiorio in the wrestlebacks.

The wrestleback route was employed with better success by Prospect's Carl Schimmelman at 167 and he won over Notre Dame's Dave Mandolini by default to qualify. Another Knight, Jim Audet, was turned back at 155 after rallying through the lower bracket and settled for third.

Forest View had third place windups from Frank Roemisch at 112 and Lon Reitz at 185, the latter winning four out of five bouts — three by pin to earn his ranking.

HIGHLAND PARK

The Bison were down by 13 points going into the final session but dumped Highland Park four times in head-to-head combat Saturday night and squeaked off with the title by a narrow 2½-point margin. Rich Wilhelm remained unbeaten at 126 and was joined in the winner's circle by teammates Doug Browning at 145, Greg Thomson at 132 and Tim Foley at 112.

Foley turned no easy trick in winning his crown. His victims were GBN's Dave Gimbel (20-8), Barrington's Pat Connolly (14-9) and Highland Park's Billy Clark (25-2-1).

Also advancing for Buffalo Grove was Tim Dunn, via the wrestlebacks at 138, while Bob Fechtner at 155 and Chris Rugg at 167 annexed thirds.

CROWN

A well-balanced tournament saw every team qualify two or more wrestlers and Hersey's five advancing matmen was tops although they were beaten out by Dundee on the scoreboard 86-70½.

Rolling Meadows came in third and produced three champs — Pete Martin at 145, Ted Tyk at 167 and Jim Carlstrom at 119. The latter Mustang barely edged Huskie Jim Watters in a rerun of their MSL title duel.

Other Hersey grapplers advancing included champions Dan Lococo at 132 and John Haney at 185 and runnersup Rick Dewar at 145 and Brett Benz at 138.

St. Viator had a pair of champs in Scott Malouf at 105 and repeat heavyweight victor Scott Zettek. Fremd also had first place performances from two entries — Doug McCarthy at 126 and Russ Pollard at 155 — along with a second through the wrestlebacks by 105-pound Bob Dean.

Arlington had second place efforts from Dan Weber at 112, John Preissing at 126 and Dan Kennedy at 132. For Palatine it was Mike Cullen qualifying at 98 and Jim Popp advancing at 155, both in second place.

ELGIN

The surprise at Elgin was Larkin's strong second place windup behind Addison Trail and they led the meeting with five champions.

Elk Grove dominated only one class, 138 with John Carpenter, but Steve King at 112, Tim Bush at 119, Tim McGuire at 167 and Mike Malone at heavyweight all chipped in with seconds and Wayne Stoltzman at 185 and Bill Lancaster at 105 added thirds to the cause.

Lancaster was blanked in the wrestlebacks by Al Blount of Schaumburg, who lost his first bout of the campaign but still went on to qualify. Saxon Dave Cooke also qualified behind Conant's Jon Gluck in a rough and tumble 98-pound division that left MSL champ Darcy Rice of Hoffman Estates by the wayside.

For the Hawks Jim Thomas at 155 and Chad McCreary at 145 both became repeat qualifiers, the latter in the wrestlebacks at the expence of another defending area qualifier, Cougar Tim Goergen.

Coach finds the way to avoid rabbit stew

Well, I suppose it's the function of a university to prepare people to become captains of industry. So I don't see why everyone should be so shocked that Dick Vermeil should leave the state-supported ivy halls of UCLA to go to work for a Philadelphia corporation.

Isn't that what universities are for — to keep the National Football League freshly supplied?

Does any department of our multiversity function half as efficiently as the athletic? No one from UCLA has yet been elected President or named to the Supreme Court. But its basketball team goes directly and intact to the Hall of Fame. Its football coach goes to the Philadelphia Eagles. Or the Rams. Its backs go to the Super Bowl.

If the biology and pre-med departments were run nearly as efficiently, cancer would have been stamped out years ago. If the psychology department had as much success, mental illness would be as extinct as the dinosaur. If economics processed its scholars with half the care the football department does, there'd be no unemployment.

You see, the atheletic department takes a no-nonsense approach to its education. No cockamamie theories about sight-reading, experimental studies. The football department doesn't care how many frivolous courses its students take in the regular curriculum, but there are no snap courses in the locker room. You hit the sled — or you hit the road. You block and tackle — or you go home and take your chances in the post office.

Everyone clearly understands what he's there for — the Green Bay Packers. Or the Philadelphia Eagles. Everyone from the coach on down appreciates that his main obligation is to become a fully-trained, fully-publicized, fully-skilled football commodity, so that someday he'll be paid a million dollars a minute to jump over counters in rent-a-car commercials, or someday he'll sell himself for half of Tampa.

The Prussian War College was sloppy compared to a modern college football brain trust. Kids who can see an eye chart at 100 paces but don't know what the letters are can solve the most complicated diagrams of a playbook and carry them out on the field. The only letters in the alphabet they know right off are "X's" and "O's" but they are letter-perfect in their blocking assignments.

If English Lit professors were one-tenth as proficient, UCLA would be turning out Hemingways instead of halfbacks. If the Physics Department had a Rose Bowl, we'd be colonizing Mars by now.

No one should be shocked at Dick Vermeil jumping the club for more money than any university president can ever make. Football coaches historically have driven out of town with better jobs and new cars just given them by the alumni. Think they care about all that hype, the old blue-and-gold or scarlet-and-gray or boola-boola or card tricks? Think they care what color their teaam wears? Or what school they play for?

But, what other group of educators can take an illiterate, incoherent, uncommunicative, barely social mass of muscle, and, in four years, have it accepting a trophy in a tuxedo from a bunch of the nation's business elite, making a gracious speech, and handing it over to one of his many agents or lawyers to carry to the plane for him?

Dick Vermeil just speeded up the process, is all. He achieved Instant Genius with one ride out of the Rose Bowl on the shoulders of his players. But he's no dummy. He's getting out of the mines. Now he has 150 colleges and universities and 150 million taxpayers working for him, providing his product at no cost to management.

Instead of having to beat Woody Hayes and Bo Schembechler, he now has full-time employes, suppliers, as it were, scouring the country and finding his product for him. When he looks at films of Archie Griffin now, he doesn't have to figure how to tackle him, but how to sign him. He'll never again have to gag down rabbit stew in the house of some 3-2, 220-pound allstate prospect. Bear Bryant and Woody and Darrell and all those other unpaid hirelings of the NFL will do it for him.

Assil's hurdles victories highlight Conant success

Conant's track team captured seven firsts to take top honors in a triangular meet at Niles East Saturday. Among the Cougar victories were a pair of wins for junior hurdler Sam Assil.

In other indoor track action Saturday, Rolling Meadows opened its season with an impressive second-place finish behind Niles West, and Schaumburg and Elk Grove turned in some good performances in running behind a strong team from Addison Trail.

Conant (75) beat Dundee (61) and Niles East (12) as Assil won the 50-yard low hurdles (:06.4) and the 50-yard highs (:06.9) and sophomore teammate Bill Baird took first in the mile in 4:39. Other Cougar winners were Pat Hagen in the two-mile, Mike Walston in the 440 (:58.2), Jeff Carter in the pole vault (12-0), and Dave Janzow and Steve Frederick who tied for first in the high jump at 5-8.

The Rolling Meadows squad was operating at about one-half effectiveness effots were turned in by Jeff Lund, Dave Boursaw, and Tom Choice, among others. The Mustangs totaled 72 points to finish behind Niles West (92) and ahead of Taft (41).

Lund won the high jump (6-0) and the triple jump (38-8½), and Boursaw took first in the 50-yard dash (:05.9) and second in the long jump, where his 19-6½ mark was a half-inch better than teammate Pat Murphy. Choice overcame illness to register a win in the 880 in 2:11.2.

Mustang shotputters Dave Thompson and Rich Huber took first and second, reaching marks of 47-6¼ and 46-3¼ respectively. Mike Quinnett won the pole vault with a 9-6 effort against little competition.

At Addison Trail, the host Blazers won with 80½ points, followed by Schaumburg (50½) and Elk Grove (38).

Elk Grove's first meet of the season was highlighted by a double victory for Joe Cullen, who won the mile (4:52) and the two-mile (10:26), and a pair of wins for hurdler Pat O'Brien (:06.3 in the lows and :06.9 in the highs).

Elk Grove's John Fabbrini won the 660 in 1:30.5.

Schaumburg's Mike Christy won the shot put (44-5½) and took second in the long jump (19-5). Teammate Mark Seltzer was first in the 880 in 2:11.3.

Schaumburg's Mike Christy won the hot put (44-5½) and took second in the long jump (19-5). Teammate Mark Seltzer was first in the 880 in 2:11.3. Saxons Scott Mielke and Bill Bolger were second in the high jump (5-10) and the shot put (42-9) respectively.

Sectional battles ahead for area mat qualifiers

by KEITH REINHARD
Wrestling Editor

Quality rather than quantity was the area's wrestling battle cry Saturday while Maine West and Buffalo Grove were putting forth the best local efforts at four district wrestling tournaments.

The Warriors, somewhat expectedly, and the Bison, very unexpectedly, sauntered off with repeat championships over the weekend to head up the march into sectional warfare beginning this Friday.

On an individual basis, however, pickings were much slimmer than in recent years with only 41 total area wrestlers qualifying for the next round of the state tourney.

Dick Carlini's West crew, with a well-balanced attack, racked up 126 points to win the Ridgewood district gathering handily and marched seven grapplers into West Leyden's sectional showdown.

Dennis Riccio's Grove outfit crowned four champs and qualified five at Highland Park while bursting past the favored hosting Little Giants, Barrington and Glenbrook North to win by a nose.

At Crown's district it was Dundee unseating the defending champions from Hersey while at Elgin the favored Addison Trail Blazers roared off with another throne while qualifying two thirds of their team.

The Huskies, along with Elk Grove out of the Elgin District, and the Bison were the only schools in the Mid-Suburban League to advance more than three wrestlers to the sectionals and the conference produced only 32 overall . . . a far cry from last year's 44.

Here's the rundown by district:

RIDGEWOOD

With two champs, five runnersup and a pair of third place finishers, Maine West outdistanced the rest of the pack by nearly 50 points. There was only one repeating champ — Maine South's John Carroll dropping down from heavyweight to win the 185-pound division — but two Warriors, Tom Krauser at 98 and Mike Tramel at 119, requalified as runnersup and Maine East's Mike Fiorio and Maine South's Kurt Fiech will also go to sectionals again.

The two West champs were Rob Krusinski at 105 and Bill Barringer at 155. Krusinski logged a shutout and a pair of pins to win his title handily.

Also advancing for West were Dave Cavazos at 185 and heavyweight Bob Smith. Louie DePasquale at 132 and Dan Cavazos at 145 notched thirds, the latter losing out 10-7 to Fiorio in the wrestlebacks.

The wrestleback route was employed with better success by Prospect's Carl Schimmelman at 167 and he won over Notre Dame's Dave Mandolini by default to qualify. Another Knight, Jim Audet, was turned back at 155 after rallying through the lower bracket and settled for third.

Forest View had third place windups from Frank Roemisch at 112 and Lon Reitz at 185, the latter winning four out of five bouts — three by pin to earn his ranking.

ond and third.

Hersey and Prospect were caught in a running battle for second place throughout with the Huskies overhauling the Knights on P-Bars and taking the second spot by half a point.

The trampoline title, which went to Hersey's Mike Kropp last year, stayed in the school as Bob Barut bounced to an 8.60 to take the title for the Huskies.

Ray Peters, showing no ill effects from the knee injury that sidelined him part of the season, took third with an 8.25.

Elk Grove's trampoline team, the weak link in an otherwise formidable team, was lead by Christensen's 7.10.

"We aren't very good on trampoline," Gaines said. "But we're getting better."

The Prospect Knights, with only an outside chance at taking the team title because of two dual meet losses in the conference during the regular season, got off to a good start when Doug Zahour took second on free ex.

They were helped further by Dave Scheible's showing on side horse. His 8.20 placed him in second behind Elk Grove's Connelly.

Jim Tangney and Glenn Wilke provided the Knights with their other two medals. Tangney fired off an 8.25 to place third on P-Bars and Wilke's 8.15 still rings score tied him for fifth.

Rolling Meadows had medalists in all but two events as they copped fourth place.

All-arounder Mike Illingworth grabbed the fourth place award on free ex when he scored an 8.15. Liszewski and Waclawski teamed up for medals on high bar and Dave Bycroft, the final competitor in the meet, sent the Mustang fans home happy when he won the still rings competition with an 8.50 score.

Meadows all-arounder Guy Owsiany tied for fifth with Fremd's Doug Smidl with an 6.90 mean.

Trampolinists Glenn Johnson (8.40) and Tom Sidor (7.70) established the Mustang tramp team as second to only Hersey's as they took second and fifth place medals respectively.

The surprising Smidl, who, with his brother Dave is half of a look alike duo that has brought the Vikings from ridicule to respectability, also placed third on the side horse with a 7.90.

Buffalo Grove's Bison fell short of their goal of a 135 score but their 131.62 score pushed them into fifth place and they, along with the Wheeling Wildcats, will be title contenders next year.

Dewey Deal, the Bison sophomore all-arounder, fulfilled coach Dennis Mazur's projection of a third place all-around finish when he averaged out to 7.27.

He also picked up a medal on P-Bars when he tied with Hersey's Rich Stange for fourth place at 7.80.

The Bison also picked up some spare change when Lee Battaglia's 8.20 took fourth on high bar and Mark Farrington tied for second with Arlington's Tom Staley on rings with an 8.35.

Wheeling's Wildcats got off to a good start when Jim Geske tied for fourth on side horse at 7.45. The Wildcats, who placed sixth as a team, got their only other medal from a familiar source. Still rings specialist Dale Brungraber grabbed the fourth place medal with an 8.25.

Arlington's Cardinals, edged out of a North Division team spot by Wheeling, fared best of the at-large competitors.

Besides Staley's still rings medal, Chris Smith took fourth on the trampoline with a 7.85 score.

Hersey defended one title Saturday as their frosh-soph team took the league championship.

ond and third.

Hersey and Prospect were caught in a running battle for second place throughout with the Huskies overhauling the Knights on P-Bars and taking the second spot by half a point.

The trampoline title, which went to Hersey's Mike Kropp last year, stayed in the school as Bob Barut bounced to an 8.60 to take the title for the Huskies.

Ray Peters, showing no ill effects from the knee injury that sidelined him part of the season, took third with an 8.25.

Elk Grove's trampoline team, the weak link in an otherwise formidable team, was lead by Christensen's 7.10.

"We aren't very good on trampoline," Gaines said. "But we're getting better."

The Prospect Knights, with only an outside chance at taking the team title because of two dual meet losses in the conference during the regular season, got off to a good start when Doug Zahour took second on free ex.

They were helped further by Dave Scheible's showing on side horse. His 8.20 placed him in second behind Elk Grove's Connelly.

Jim Tangney and Glenn Wilke provided the Knights with their other two medals. Tangney fired off an 8.25 to place third on P-Bars and Wilke's 8.15 still rings score tied him for fifth.

Rolling Meadows had medalists in all but two events as they copped fourth place.

All-arounder Mike Illingworth grabbed the fourth place award on free ex when he scored an 8.15. Liszewski and Waclawski teamed up for medals on high bar and Dave Bycroft, the final competitor in the meet, sent the Mustang fans home happy when he won the still rings competition with an 8.50 score.

Meadows all-arounder Guy Owsiany tied for fifth with Fremd's Doug Smidl with an 6.90 mean.

Trampolinists Glenn Johnson (8.40) and Tom Sidor (7.70) established the Mustang tramp team as second to only Hersey's as they took second and fifth place medals respectively.

The surprising Smidl, who, with his brother Dave is half of a look alike duo that has brought the Vikings from ridicule to respectability, also placed third on the side horse with a 7.90.

Buffalo Grove's Bison fell short of their goal of a 135 score but their 131.62 score pushed them into fifth place and they, along with the Wheeling Wildcats, will be title contenders next year.

Dewey Deal, the Bison sophomore all-arounder, fulfilled coach Dennis Mazur's projection of a third place all-around finish when he averaged out to 7.27.

He also picked up a medal on P-Bars when he tied with Hersey's Rich Stange for fourth place at 7.80.

The Bison also picked up some spare change when Lee Battaglia's 8.20 took fourth on high bar and Mark Farrington tied for second with Arlington's Tom Staley on rings with an 8.35.

Wheeling's Wildcats got off to a good start when Jim Geske tied for fourth on side horse at 7.45. The Wildcats, who placed sixth as a team, got their only other medal from a familiar source. Still rings specialist Dale Brungraber grabbed the fourth place medal with an 8.25.

Arlington's Cardinals, edged out of a North Division team spot by Wheeling, fared best of the at-large competitors.

Besides Staley's still rings medal, Chris Smith took fourth on the trampoline with a 7.85 score.

Hersey defended one title Saturday as their frosh-soph team took the league championship.

Past on parade

It was no ordinary day at Arlington High School.

It seemed that all of history was parading through the hall of the school, 502 W. Euclid Ave., Arlington Heights, when the students and faculty last week decided to dress up and pretend they were Americans from long ago.

This was Arlington's attempt at a noncommercial Bicentennial celebration — to have living figures of the past gracing the halls, even if those figures were still teaching the same old algebra and crowding the lunch lines.

Abraham Lincoln and his wife were in the social science department, and a World War I officer was teaching communications.

Arlington usually has a day where everybody dresses in clothes from the 50s, but for 1976, they gave up their bobby sox for breeches.

Ryan seeks testimony on cop charges

Arlington Heights Village Pres. James T. Ryan will ask that former Arlington Heights Police Capt. Irvin McDougall testify on alleged problems within the department at tonight's village board meeting.

Ryan said McDougall's testimony is needed to place the criticism of the force by former police Capt. Jack Aldrich into perspective.

"I'm going to ask McDougall to come up here, too. I want to hear from both of them," Ryan said.

Both former captains retired from the Arlington Heights force last year to accept positions as chiefs in other towns. Aldrich assumed command in Barrington Hills and McDougall accepted the same post in downstate Mendota.

LAST WEEK Aldrich set off a bombshell when recently resigned trustee Alice Harms delivered a letter of his blasting police operations and department morale.

After Aldrich's letter was read at a meeting of the village board's finance committee, Trustee Frank Palmatier said Aldrich would have to be called before the board to discuss his allegations. Palmatier has called for an independent study of the department to help clear the air.

Palmatier's call for an independent study was endorsed by at least two other trustees.

TRUSTEE DAVID Griffin said an outside consultant "would add credibility" to a village administration study of the department that has yet to be released.

Village Mgr. L.A. Hanson said the village study is still "in rough draft form," and declined to say when it would be made public.

Griffin said, "The people need to be convinced that if there are problems, they will be corrected."

McDougall said he would be willing to testify before the village board if called.

WHEN MRS. Harms resigned from the board, she questioned the motivation behind the resignation of two police captains within weeks of each other.

"I left because I wanted to," McDougall said Friday. "Don't tell me that Jack (Aldrich) left because he didn't want to."

On the heels of Aldrich's allegations came a report from Palmatier that police chief L.W. Calderwood is planning to retire on July 31.

Calderwood has had no comment on Aldrich's allegations and has said he has no plans to retire.

The village board will meet at 8 p.m. in the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. The meeting is open to the public.

Aldrich willing to help clarify police methods

Former Arlington Heights Police Capt. Jack Aldrich said Friday he will appear before village officials, if asked, to clarify a report released last week in which he was highly critical of the police department.

"Since I sent it in I feel I have a duty to respond," said the 50-year-old police veteran, who retired from the Arlington Heights force in September to become police chief in Barrington Hills.

He was a member of the Arlington Heights Police Dept. for 23 years.

THE VILLAGE BOARD is expected to request a special meeting with Aldrich when it meets Monday night.

letter and two-page report on "departmental problems" distributed to the village board's finance committee Wednesday. The report was submitted at a budget hearing by former Trustee Alice Harms.

In the letter, Aldrich charged "decisiveness is not encouraged, rather discouraged; innovativeness is downgraded and divisiveness is encouraged."

The morale of the police department "is at the lowest ebb in 24 years," the letter said.

Aldrich's report on problems in the department dealt with budget procedures, direction and goal determination, job descriptions, record keeping and the department's reporting system.

"We need to get Aldrich to come in to detail his allegations. They're stated pretty broadly," Trustee Frank Palmatier said.

"In fairness to everybody, Aldrich should be asked to come forward and give us the right to question him in a sort of cross-examination style in order to document his charges," Trustee David Griffin said.

U.S. subs, enemy collide 9 times

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Intelligence Committee's final report says U.S. nuclear submarines in Soviet waters have collided with nine "hostile vessels" in the last 10 years.

That's only part of a hair-raising story.

Of the collisions reported without details by the committee, five are known to have involved Soviet nuclear submarines — with both craft submerged and carrying either nuclear missiles or nuclear torpedoes.

None resulted in any sinking of U.S. submarines or serious injury to American crews, and the most reliable word available is that "presumably" no Russian sub was sunk.

THIS ALSO LEADS to speculation on a number of sinkings of American and Soviet submarines for which no completely satisfactory reasons have been given.

Leaked segments of the House report — still classified because it contains material the White House did not want released — said of the collision incidents:

"A highly technical U.S. Navy submarine reconnaissance program, often operating within unfriendly waters, has experienced at least 9 collisions with hostile vessels in the last 10 years, over 110 possible detections, and at least three press exposures. Most of the submarines carry nuclear weapons."

The report did not say so but it referred to a top-secret U.S. Navy operation which, at least until last year, was called "Holystone" and was run from an operations center known as the "Spook Shack" at Norfolk, Va., submarine headquarters of the Atlantic Fleet command.

"THE PROGRAM clearly produces useful information on our adversaries' training exercises, weapons, testing, and general naval capabilities," the report said.

"It is also clear that the program is

3-part referendum fails in Dist. 54

The Schaumburg Dist. 54 Board of Education will meet Thursday to plan "where to go from here" after three referendum issues lost by substantial margins Saturday. Voters in all 12 district precincts turned down proposals that would have: authorized $350,000 in construction bonds for financing an administration center; increase the education fund from $1.61 to $1.91 per $100 assessed valuation; and increase the operations and maintenance fund from 37.5 to 55 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Supt. Wayne Schaible said he was disappointed with the results, "but this is what the people were saying. Now we're going to have to go back and analyze what this will mean."

Sticker deadlines extended

Residents in Schaumburg and unincorporated areas of Cook County have received a reprieve on vehicle sticker deadlines, but most Northwest suburban residents were required to have their stickers displayed by 12:01 a.m. today. Schaumburg residents have until 12:01 a.m. Tuesday and residents in unincorporated county have until March 1. However, any motorists caught by police without 1976 state license plates today will be ticketed. Local authorities said Sunday they have not planned any special enforcement blitz. In Rolling Meadows, however, Police Chief Lewis Case says he will have squad cars at entrances of developments and apartments with underground garages to look for violators.

Police seek two bandits

Police are searching for two bandits who robbed a Palatine liquor store of an undetermined amount of cash late Saturday. Robert Kampka, 30, a store clerk for the Southland Corp., 749 W. Palatine Road, said two men, one of them armed with a shotgun, robbed the store about 11 p.m. Kampka was forced at gunpoint to lie on the floor while one of the robbers emptied the cash register. Police said it is not known how the robbers fled the scene.

Woman charged in man's death

An Arlington Heights woman has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Jan. 3 death of Douglas Moore of Mount Prospect in the underground garage at Dana Point Apartments. Donna J. Wolter 19, of 1615 E. Central Rd., was charged Friday. Miss Wolter had been charged with reckless homicide, but a Cook County Coroner's jury ruled the death involuntary manslaughter. Moore, 19, of 601 E. Prospect Ave., died of shock and internal bleeding after suffering multiple injuries when he was struck by a car in the garage at 1615 E. Central Rd. Police have said preliminary evidence indicated Miss Wolter was the driver of the car. Miss Wolter and Moore had been attending a birthday party at the building and were leaving to go to a local bar when the incident occurred, witnesses told police.

Related company paid Howlett salary

by WANDALYN RICE

An auto junking firm, owned by the same company which paid Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett $15,000 a year for the last 15 years, held an exclusive contract to junk cars with the City of Chicago for seven years, Donald Page Moore, Democratic candidate for Cook County state's attorney said Sunday.

Moore said his investigation revealed that California Auto Reclamation Co., a subsidiary of the M.S. Kaplan Co., had the exclusive right to purchase and junk autos picked up by the Chicago Police Dept. from 1963 until 1970. Sun Steel Co., another Kaplan subsidiary, paid Howlett $225,000 from 1960 to 1975 for consulting work with the company.

Moore also said he has uncovered evidence indicating the auto reclamation company avoided buying state-required auto junking certificates during the period it was dealing with the city.

MOORE IS running in the March 16 primary for the Democratic nomination for state's attorney against Edward J. Egan, who has the support of the regular Cook County Democratic Party. Moore has the support of Gov. Daniel Walker, Howlett's opponent in the gubernatorial primary.

Howlett has been under attack for his connection with Sun Steel since it was revealed last month. Howlett has said he did labor and public relations work for the company.

Moore admitted he has no direct evidence linking Howlett, who was state auditor during the time of the California Auto Reclamation Co. contract, with any of the firm's dealings. However, he said Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Carey should investigate the company and Howlett's connection to see if any wrongdoing was involved.

Moore said the evidence that California Auto Reclamation Co. may have avoided buying the state junking certificates from the secretary of state's office comes from comparing state records on the number of certificates issued with court testimony from the general superintendent of California Auto Reclamation Co. concerning the number of cars scrapped each year.

IN 1968, Moore said, state records indicate 47,192 certificates were sold to auto junking companies in the state, while the California Auto Reclamation Co. general superintendent testified the company junked between 40,000 and 50,000 cars for Chicago.

"Either Carco (California Auto Reclamation Co.) handled 60 to 90 per cent of all the junking business in the state or Carco was somehow exempt from buying the junking certificates," Moore said.

The law was changed in 1970 eliminating the requirement for auto scrapping firms to buy junking certificates.

Moore attacked a contention by Carey that Howlett's dealings with Sun Steel and other business of Kaplan-owned companies do not fall under the jurisdiction of the Cook County state's attorney. "Everyone involved lives in Chicago; the businesses are headquartered here."

State police cars sport birthday stripes

State police are celebrating the nation's Bicentennial birthday with four white squad cars trimmed in red and blue stripes.

Capt. William P. Burt, commander of District 17, which covers the West and Northwest suburbs, said the four squad cars will be assigned to different districts in the state on a rotating basis. The special design is only for this year.

Burt said the change from the traditional beige to white was made to give the cars a higher degree of visibility for motorists. White will remain the color for all state police vehicles.

He added the cars will be available on request this year for any Bicentennial activities.

On cancer treatment developments

Radiology professor plans talk

Dr. William E. Powers, internationally known authority on cancer research, will speak on new developments in cancer treatment Friday in the auditorium of the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory, Batavia.

Powers is professor of radiology at the medical school of Washington University, St. Louis and a member of the National Cancer Advisory Board. His lecture, "The Physical and Biological Basis of Cancer Therapy," will start at 8:30 p.m.

The talk on cancer therapy will highlight the Fermi Laboratory's entry into medical research using high energy particles.

On Feb. 1, the cancer therapy department concluded the first phase of development of a cancer therapy facility in which research will be conducted on the curing properties of neutron beams for certain types of cancer.

Fermilab received a $1 million grant from the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society's Illinois division to fund the therapy facility for the first three years.

The Feb. 20 lecture is free but tickets are required. Seats may be reserved by calling Fermilab at 840-3440 or 840-3091.

The auditorium is located in the Central Laboratory of the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory which is visible from the laboratory entrances on Kirk Road and Ill. Rte. 59, between Butterfield and Roosevelt roads.

'Instant lottery' is given second chance

The "instant lottery" has an additional $2 million in prize money waiting to make 775,000 lottery players richer, Lottery Superintendent Ralph Batch said Sunday.

Batch said the popularity of the instant game has prompted officials to offer residents an another chance to win instant prizes. The remaining 4.5 million instant tickets are being redistributed to sales agents.

"Instead of taking the tickets back as planned," Batch said, "we decided to redistribute the remaining tickets."

When the game was introduced, Batch said he anticipated 55 million tickets would be sold, 20 million tickets given away as prizes and 5 million tickets returned unsold.

He said the sales agents who will sell the remaining supply of tickets will be announced through newspaper ads.

Medicaid suspensions

The Department of Public Aid has suspended five doctors and four clinical laboratories from the Medicaid program after an investigation of fraudulent billing practices and kickback schemes, the department said Sunday.

The department also said a dozen other laboratories and doctors, pharmacies, nursing homes and other medical providers were currently under investigation for similar practices.

A spokesman for the department would not identify the clinics or the doctors but said the department had turned evidence over to a federal grand jury looking into the Medicaid practices on Jan. 22.

Asthma syrup touted

A new drug product which can be swallowed in a simple syrup form has proven safe and effective in controlling asthma in children, according to a San Diego, Calif., researcher.

The drug — metaproterenol sulfate — is now available in the United States under the trade names of Alupent and Metaprel, Dr. Milan L. Brandon of the Allergy Medical Group of San Diego said in a report in this week's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association published in Chicago.

In another article in the Journal, a Kentucky research group said birth control pills may be the cause of tumors in the liver.

Dr. E. Truman Mays and his colleagues at the University of Louisville school of medicine concluded from a study of 13 young women that the introduction of oral contraceptives in the United States has caused women to suffer from primary tumors of the liver with "increasing frequency."

Teen killed in burglary

Police in Springfield shot and killed a 14-year-old boy during an apparent burglary attempt at a flower shop early Sunday.

The burglars tripped an alarm and police responded at about 3 a.m. Police said several shots were fired and they had not yet determined which officer fired the shot that killed Tom Faree, 14, Springfield.

Faree was dead on arrival at a Springfield hospital.

Patty believed she was 'walking dead girl': Bailey

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Patty Hearst was convinced by her captors that she was "a walking dead girl" who would be killed by law enforcement authorities if she attempted to turn herself in, defense attorney F. Lee Bailey said on a television program Sunday.

Bailey, interviewed on ABC's Issues and Answers, said her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers knew what they were doing and did a good job of brainwashing Miss Hearst into thinking she would be killed if she tried to escape or did not go along with her captors.

"The entire process destroyed all her confidence in all her old values, in her parents, in the law, in all she knew. It decieved her into thinking she was a walking dead girl."

Bailey said the SLA tried not so much to play on her fear, but to destroy her faith in her old values.

"She believed the FBI would have killed her. The United States has unwittingly reinforced what the SLA had told her," Bailey said, noting that then Attorney General William Saxbe said she was "nothing but a common criminal" and would be treated as such.

"Then she watched the other SLA members killed in the shootout in Los Angeles," he added.

"The fact is, if you were trained over and over as she was almost as a combat soldier, you react as you are told."

Bailey said the brainwashing was so complete that Miss Hearst had no means of escape and was still in that frame of mind when captured. Even noting her occupation as "urban guerrilla" at the jail after her capture last September was in character, he said.

"If she hadn't turned up in a military stance, the experts would have questioned whether she was really brainwashed."

Bailey also said anyone else in her position would not have been prosecuted.

"I'm convinced if this young lady was not Patty Hearst, she would not have been prosecuted," the attorney said, adding that the government was afraid it would be accused of catering to the rich if no charges were brought against the newspaper heiress.

Miss Hearst's state of mind has improved greatly since her capture, Bailey said.

"She reacts now, she takes more interest in her defense."

Bailey said she was a "bright girl" and asks intelligent questions about phases of the trial she does not understand.

"Her questions are usually very relevant. She's a very bright girl."

Occasionally now she smiles, he said. "This is such a deadly business, a smile from time to time is a salvation."

She is still afraid of reprisals, Bailey said. He said she told him at the start of the trial, "I am very fearful that before this trial is over my parents will be shot and people will be shot."

Miss Hearst "is in acute danger and will be in the future," Bailey said. He would like the jury to hear about the recent bombing that damaged a guest house at San Simeon, the castle built by Miss Hearst's grandfather, William Randolph Hearst.

Bailey, who said he would finish calling witnesses in about 1½ days, said he decided against calling Steven Weed, Miss Hearst's fiance before her kidnaping, because "Mr Weed is busy promoting his book."

Hearst jurors today visit houses of SLA fugitives

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The jury in Patricia Hearst's bank robbery trial goes on tour Monday for a look at the scenes in the dramatic episodes two years ago when the young heiress was with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

The jury will be shown the two "safe houses" where the SLA fugitives hid and negotiated by tape-recorded messages while police and FBI were scouring the region looking for the kidnaped Miss Hearst.

At her trial Friday, she testified that she was kept in a closet, blindfolded and abused by SLA chieftain Donald DeFreeze.

In the closet, she said, she recited into a tape recorder the first message to her parents telling them she was all right. She said the words were given her by DeFreeze.

The defense contends that all of the subsequent tapes, including those in which she denounced her parents and her former fiance, Stephen Weed, were made under duress. In one message crucial to her bank robbery trial she stated that she participated freely and that the gun she carried was loaded.

The jury will, at a later date, visit the Hibernia Bank in an outlying neighborhood of the city where Miss Hearst and others took more than $10,000 on April 15, 1974.

The jury will visit the Bank later because the bank's bonding company refused to open it on the holiday, according to Albert Johnson, one of the defense lawyers.

Miss Hearst was featured in the bank's film of the robbery as she stood in the center of the lobby, holding an automatic rifle.

The defense contends that she was standing there under the guns of the SLA team who had terrorized her into believing she would be killed either by them or by the FBI if she was found.

F. LEE BAILY, attorney for Patricia Hearst, is surrounded by newsmen as he departs TV studio Sunday. Bailey said Patty believed she was a "walking dead girl." Jurors will have a courtroom break Monday, but go on tour of a house where Patty was imprisoned by her kidnapers.

Inmates rebel, surrender, in Concord, Mass.

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) — About 80 inmates took over three buildings in a short-lived rebellion at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Concord Sunday and set a small fire which quickly spread.

The inmates surrendered shortly after 50 heavily armed state policemen entered the prison three hours later. The fires were put out about the same time. Two officers were reportedly injured when they were punched by inmates.

The state police and corrections officers entered the prison about 2:15 p.m., and shortly afterward David Brown of the state Correctional Department reported that the prisoners had retreated into portions of a dormitory building.

Shortly before 3 p.m. prison Warden Nicolas Genokos told the prisoners over a bull horn that, unless they surrendered, state police would forcibly restore order. Minutes later about half the inmates straggled out of the building.

Brown said the dormitory was "a wreck" and there was heavy water damage to other buildings. He said the prisoners probably would be transferred to other institutions as early as Sunday night.

A specially trained police unit was brought in and all off duty guards were ordered back on the job.

Firemen and six pieces of apparatus stood outside the prison walls, unable to take any action, as police cruisers poured into the area. The police vehicles lined both sides of Rte. 2 as Corrections Department officials arrived to coordinate law enforcement efforts.

The inmates took over a gymnasium, a classroom building and a dormitory, said Brown. The fire apparently was set in a furniture shop, but little smoke was visible outside the building. Fire officials said they didn't consider the fires a serious threat.

About 350 inmates are housed in the prison, a medium security facility which has experienced a number of inmate disturbances in the past.

Authorities said about 90 other prisoners, who did not want to get involved in the disturbance, congregated in another part of the prison under the supervision of guards.

Hassan reports bloody Sahara battle

King Hassan II announced Sunday Moroccan and Algerian soldiers fought another bloody desert battle in the disputed former Spanish Sahara over the weekend leaving "tens of Moroccan soldiers dead." In a letter to Algerian President Houari Boumedienne, Hassan charged that Algerian soldiers Saturday "traitorously ambushed" the Moroccan garrison in the Amgala area, 125 miles inside the Moroccan sector of the Sahara.

Saigon forces kill two rebels

Security forces killed two rebels from the former South Vietnamese army in all-night fighting last week at a Saigon Roman Catholic church and arrested their leaders, authorities said Sunday. Government spokesman said the rebels had links to the Centrel Intelligence Agency and were equipped with counterfeiting machinery and radio transmitters in addition to arms. The battle was first reported organized armed resistance in Saigon since the new Communist government took over last April 30.

New surge of violence in Belfast

British troops killed one man and four other persons were seriously wounded Sunday in a new surge of violence in Belfast sparked by the starvation death of an Irish Republican Army activist. Bombs, riots, and sniper and mortar fire have ripped Northern Ireland since IRA activist Frank Stagg, 34, died Thursday in Britain's Wakefield prison after a 61-day hunger strike.

Police, demonstrators clash in S. Boston

Police clashed with at least several hundred demonstrators Sunday as groups of men, protesting court-ordered busing to desegragate city schools, converged on South Boston High School. Ten persons were arrested, three of them juveniles, and seven persons were slightly injured, including two policeman. All of the injured were taken to hospitals where they were treated for lacerations and other superficial injuries, police said. The groups were part of a "fathers march" organized by a group calling itself the "South Boston Marshals," a vocal antibusing group.

A broke Lockheed no catastrophe: Proxmire

It would not be a catastrophe if Lockheed went broke, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Sunday. But the chairman of the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee predicted the big defense contractor which has admitted paying millions of dollars in foreign bribes will recover under its new leadership. "It is possible Lockheed will move ahead," said Proxmire in an appearance on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation."

Quake toll reaches 22,088

Fear floods in Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—The Guatemalan government warned Sunday of a flood threat from rivers and streams blocked by tons of rock and earth dislodged by more than 800 earthquakes and tremors since Feb. 4.

The National Emergency Committee, which reported the death toll had risen to 22,088 from the quakes, said engineers hope to clear the blocked streams with explosives.

The worst flood threats were along the Rio Madre Vieja in the Departments of Palencia and Chimaltenango, the committee said.

More sporadic tremors jarred parts of Guatemala Sunday.

In the capital, engineers said many buildings throughout the county, including churches and hotels, may have to be knocked down because of structural damage. Damage to the main cathedral on the square near the Presidential Palace is so great that some experts believe it will have to be torn down.

Open air church services were conducted in some parts of the capital Sunday because churches were considered unsafe.

In an interview with the newpaper El Tiempo, President Kjell Laugerud Garcia was asked how many years it will take to get Guatemala "more or less" back on its feet.

"We are going to try to do it as fast as possible," he said. "But at this moment, it would be foolhardy even to make a tentative guess."

He was asked whether there was any chance that it could be achieved within two years.

"I would like to hope that it could be done in less time but I can give absolutely no assurances on any timetable."

Voter registration files were so badly damaged by the quake that nationwide municipal elections scheduled for next month have been indefinitely postponed.

Laugerud warned that any government official — "no matter how high his rank" — found guilty of "any kind of abuses against the people in this emergency will be most severely punished."

He was referring to published reports of irregularities in the distribution of relief supplies.

Laugerud said anyone trying to take advantage of the confusion caused by the quake to "produce disorders will suffer the most drastic and most radical" punishment.

He did not say what the punishment would be but army troops shot and killed two looters Friday. There were rumors that perhaps as many as 200 others have been shot since the first quake Feb. 4 but the rumors have been denied by the government.

S. Africa exchanges secret peace feelers with Angolan Red faction

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South Africa is exchanging secret peace feelers with the Soviet-backed faction in Angola in a last-minute attempt to avoid a racial confrontation, Johannesburg newspapers reported Sunday.

A Marxist pre-condition for an armed truce was immediate diplomatic recognition from South Africa and pullout of all white troops now in Angola, the reports said.

The Soviet-armed Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola, spearheaded by 12,000 Cuban troops, has virtually crushed pro-Western rivals and is sweeping unchecked southwards to the South West African Namibian frontier. South African troops are some 30 miles inside Angola guarding a hydro-electric dam.

Only some 100 miles separate the two armies, both equipped with heavy artillery, tanks and backed by air support. Military sources have predicted an imminent clash that could explode in a widening racial confrontation in southern Africa unless current peace initiatives succeed.

"South African troops could pull out of Angola within days. This emerged over the weekend after firm indications of the start of peace negotiations between South Africa and the Popular Movement," the Johannesburg Sunday Times said.

In an editorial it joined a growing chorus of demands by white opposition leaders that Prime Minister John Vorster order troops out of Angola.

Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller said the government was studying the "interesting" offer by his Angolan counterpart, Jose Eduardo dos Santos, that the Marxists would acknowledge South African interests in Angola in exchange for recognition from the South African government. Santos made his statement to the Paris newspaper Le Monde.

The Ivory Coast and Mozambique were reported acting as intermediaries in the exchanges between Angola and South Africa, which was until a few weeks ago heavily involved militarily on the pro-Western side in the war.

First signs of a possible thaw between the two southern African neighbors came last week when Popular Movement President Agostinho Neto told the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug his regime did not plan to interfere in South West Africa.

"What will happen in Namibia will depend entirely on the Namibian people and we do not intend to play any directive role there," Neto said. He said the "problem of South African troops who have allowed themselves to settle down on our territory ...will be solved."

Subs, hostile vessels collide 9 times

inherently risky . . .

"The committee is, therefore, troubled by the completely pro forma nature of the mission risk assessment as it is presently accomplished."

The report gave no details of the nine collisions or the "110 possible detections" of American submarines by the Soviets.

But reports, some sketchy, surfaced in past years on these known collisions:

• Unidentified U.S. nuclear submarine and Soviet submarine "in the early 1960's . . . low speed impact."

• U.S. nuclear submarine Gato in collision November, 1969, with a Soviet nuclear missile submarine at the entrance to the White Sea.

At one point, the American sub was only a mile off Soviet territory because of a navigational error, according to one report.

Gato was monitoring Soviet submarine traffic in and out of the White Sea and picked up one north-bound Red Fleet sub and began "tailgating" it with the Russian vessel's propellers acting as a protective shield against detection.

The Soviet sub turned, the American crew miscalculated and Gato was hit amidships, fortunately in the heavily armored section around the nuclear reactor.

Gato prepared for action with nuclear torpedoes but the Soviet crew was so confused about what had been encountered that the Americans were able to steal away.

• A collision between an American and Soviet sub in March, 1971; details lacking.

• U.S. nuclear sub Pintado, May, 1974, in head-on collision with Soviet nuclear-powered submersible off the Soviet Far East port of Petropavlosk on the Kamchatka Peninsula. Damage seen and photographed when it pulled into Guam for repairs.

• Nov. 3, 1974, U.S. nuclear submarine Madison, carrying 16 new Poseidon multi-warhead atomic missiles, hit or hit by Soviet sub in the North Sea off Britain.

Some 800 to 900 submarines are in service or mothballed in the world's navies, and they congregate like mating whales around the most traveled sea lanes and straits and harbors.

The most modern submarines often go "blind," their sensing apparatus "blacked out" or distorted.

What incidents have there been in the last three years — hits, misses, near-misses.

Were any fatal?

Village must approve Sunday date

Track seeks July 4 racing OK

Arlington Park Race Track will ask for approval of one day of Sunday racing this summer at tonight's meeting of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

Approval is being sought for racing on the Fourth of July which falls on a Sunday this year.

The track is petitioning the village board to permit the one Sunday date under the revised racing statutes of 1975. The new laws permit Sunday racing with the permission of the municipality in which a track is located.

The authorization may come through either ordinance or popular referendum, according to the law.

VILLAGE PRES. James T. Ryan opposed Sunday racing in principle during his campaign last year.

"In my opinion, the institution of Sunday racing at Arlington Park would only serve to make what is intended to be a day of rest to be instead a day of noise, traffic jams and general confusion," Ryan said at that time.

However, Ryan recently said he was "keeping an open mind" on the holiday request. He said if the date were granted it would not set a precedent for future Sunday racing.

He said the village could get about $3,500 in revenues from admission taxes for the Sunday racing card. He said that about equaled the amount of property taxes from 35 houses.

CAPT. MAURICE English of the Arlington Heights police said he foresaw no extraordinary problems with the proposed holiday racing date. He said track patrons would not be competing with commuter traffic as they do during the week.

Trustee Richard Durava said he would have to talk with the police and residents living near the track before taking a position on the Sunday request.

"I personally don't have any opinion yet. I'm not opposed to Sunday racing on principle," he said.

The board will meet at 8 p.m. at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Spanish-English library opening soon in Palatine

A bilingual library program for Spanish-speaking residents in eight Northwest suburbs will begin next month with the aid of a two-year federal grant.

The service will be based at the Palatine Public Library, 500 N. Benton St., and will be coordinated by Stephanie Arditio, field librarian. Other libraries participating in the program are Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg Township, Indian Trails, Elk Grove Village and Barrington.

Arditio said the state, which distributes the federal money, has approved a grant of $34,355 for the first year of the program and an additional $36,395 for funding the second year.

THE MONEY will be used to purchase books, records, tapes and magazines for Spanish speaking residents. The salaries of Arditio and a part-time library clerk also will come from the grant money.

Arditio said she also plans to conduct an adult education class for Spanish-speaking residents including workbooks and study material for the general educational development test, which is a program leading to a high school equivalency test.

Most of the material will be housed at the Palatine Library, a $1.3 million facility which was opened in November. She said the materials will be available to residents in all eight municipalities through the libraries' reciprocal borrowing program.

Two workshop sessions will be scheduled at the end of this month to acquaint reference and circulation librarians from the communities with the program. Arditio said she also may plan some Spanish classes for library workers unfamiliar with the language.

"THAT MAY be our biggest problem because if Spanish speaking people come into the library and no one can understand them, they will leave and may never come back," Arditio said.

Books will become available in the libraries by the second week in March and three-fourths of the material will be written in Spanish, Arditio said.

Arditio said there are an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 Spanish-speaking residents in the eight communities to be served through the program. Each of the communities also has contributed funds totalling $3,350 toward the program, she said.

The federal grant is administered under the Library Services and Construction Act. Applications for funds available through the act are channeled and approved by the Illinois State Library Assn.

Kloman to sing before DAR group

Blanche Kloman, a member of the Arlington Heights Eli Skinner chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present a program of songs popular in 1776 at a meeting Saturday of the Gen. Henry Dearborn DAR chapter.

The meeting will begin at 11:30 a.m. at the Chicago Athletic Assn. It is the 61st White Breakfast birthday celebration for the Dearborn chapter.

U.S. Rep. Henry J. Hyde, R-6th, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Kloman of Palatine is Bicentennial chairman for the Eli Skinner chapter.

PACKING FOOD: U.S. Rep. Donald Riegle (D-Flint, Mich.) worked as a bagger in a Pontiac grocery store Saturday. He did not identify himself as a candidate for the U.S. Senate to his fellow workers or customers. Riegle said he wanted to find out what voters are thinking; he also may work in a steelmill.

Ford's campaign gaining steam for primary: aide

President Ford's campaign is gaining momentum as the Feb. 24 New Hampshire primary approaches, an aide said Sunday. A conservative senator passed a chance to name his choice, Ford or Ronald Reagan.

Meldrim Thomson, the New Hampshire governor who is backing Ford's opponent, predicted Reagan will win the first Republican primary of 1976 by a 5 per cent margin.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., declined to say whether he would join South Carolina Gov. James Edwards in backing Reagan for the GOP nomination. Thurmond spoke in Washington at a meeting of the Conservative Political Action Conference.

Edwards was expected to announce his support of the former California governor Monday. Most of those attending the conservative meeting favored Reagan.

SEN. JAMES L. BUCKLEY, a New York conservative up for reelection, told his fellow conservatives, "The president opposes . . . Congress disposes . . . We would not be able to achieve our goals unless the president has a Congress with which he can work."

In Westport, Conn., Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., said he expects the battle for the GOP presidential nomination will "go right down to the convention."

If Reagan were to become the party's candidate, it would devastate the chances of local Republicans, Weicker said, adding: "You go off into one extreme or the other and you're going to get killed."

As Ford flew home early Sunday from a campaign trip to Florida, Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters his appearances there and in New Hampshire will prove critics wrong.

"HE'S GOING to win," said Nessen.

"The feeling is that the momentum in the president's campaign turned around at the University of New Hampshire last weekend," he said. "Something has happened in terms of mood and feeling and momentum."

In a television appearance Sunday on NBC-TV Meet the Press, Thomson predicted Reagan will defeat Ford by a 5 per cent margin in the New Hampshire primary, taking 55 per cent of the vote. But William Loeb, who publishes the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader and appeared with Thomson, said he expects a "horse race."

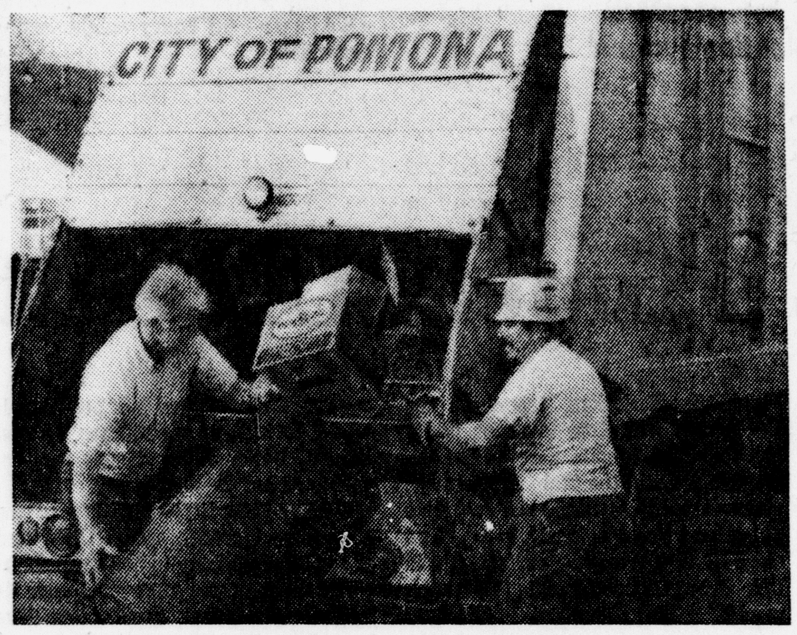
Loeb's newspaper has editorially characterized Ford as "Jerry the Jerk," and the publisher was asked if that is still an apt description of the President.

"YES, SIR," replied Loeb. "Some of his incompetence . . . his deviousness, in the vernacular sum up to that phrase."

In Florida, George Wallace served Sunday as grand marshal of the Daytona 500 stock car race after picking up added strength in Mississippi's Democratic county conventions.

Wallace captured almost 50 per cent of the delegate votes in Saturday's county balloting, the second step in selecting Mississippi's delegation to the national party convention this summer. However, 28.2 per cent of the delegate votes were uncommitted, going into district meetings next weekend. Jimmy Carter and Sargent Shriver fought for second place with 11.5 and 10.8.

(United Press International)



PACKING GARBAGE: Democratic Congressman Jim Lloyd, left, works as a garbageman in Pomona, Calif., as part of his "District Workdays Program." He said, "It's hard work. The only harder work I've done was shoveling coal." Lloyd tossed 25 to 60 pound cans for a half day.

Campaign blitz pays off

Maine's delegates back Carter

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)—Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter's personal blitz seems to have paid off in Maine's month long series of Democratic town caucuses.

With two-thirds of the delegates to the state's Democratic convention already chosen, 30 per cent are pledged to Carter. His nearest rivals, former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris and Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., each have 4 per cent.

A full 60 per cent of the delegates to the convention, which will select 20 delegates to the national convention, are uncommitted.

Maine Democrats were given special permission by the national party to hold their caucuses over the entire month of February, although all towns with over 5,000 population were directed to complete the meetings by Feb. 14.

CARTER VISITED Maine three times before the caucusing began and made a triumphant appearance in Portland on the first day of caucusing, after Democrats in that city awarded him 46 per cent of the delegates. His wife visited the state twice as well.

In the more heavily populated 1st Congressional District, including Portland, Carter accumulated 214 delegates as compared to 310 uncommitted delegates.

In the 2nd Congressional District, made up of many small towns and Bangor, the state's second largest city, Carter picked up only 87 delegates, compared with 330 uncommitted.

David Smith, chairman of the Bangor Democratic committee, cited three reasons its caucus gave Carter only 8 per cent and suggested they might apply to other communities as well:

- His city's Democrats were afraid to commit the state's delegation so early in the race for fear they would be ignored by other candidates.
- A highly critical article on Carter in this month's Harper's Magazine hurt his image.
- The Carter organization in Maine may have pushed too much.

Robert Nolette, caucus chairman of Biddeford where over half the delegates went to Carter, disagreed.

"Carter had a pretty good machine in Biddeford and his people worked awfully hard," Nolette saod. "The reason for the uncommitted delegates was they think it's too early in the game to decide. But I think a lot o them will go for Carter at the con vention."

The way we see it

Let's renew our democracy

American voters face a critical choice this election year, but it has nothing to do with the Presidency or any single political race.

We either must renew our democratic system by participating actively in its election-year politics or allow apathy, indifference and cynicism to further undermine our basic freedom.

Too often, it appears we are taking the latter route. Survey after survey concludes that we, as Americans, are indifferent to our political system. The New York Times reports:

"If the clear trend of modern elections continues this year, as many as half of the roughly 150 million eligible voters in the country will declare by not voting that they see no choice worth bothering to exercise."

The Wall Street Journal, which conducted a similar review of the public's mood, agreed:

"A grim array of political evidence indicates that alienation and cynicism . . . and massive hostility . . . toward politics and government have become pervasive after the confidence-shattering decade stretching from Vietnam through Watergate and a deep recession."

Voter apathy regrettably has long been a part of our system. Other nations regularly draw almost all of their eligible voters to the polls; only in the United States do barely half of all eligible voters cast ballots.

State Rep. Richard Mugalian, D-Palatine, in a letter to The Herald last week, noted that election and political workers are harder to find in 1976 than in most election years.

Whatever the root causes of 1976's renewed public cynicism, Mugalian suggests a simple cure: much as we were "citizen-soldiers" to win our independence in the 1700's, we now should become "citizen-politicians" to restore the life-blood of our democracy.

The formula is simple. We must contribute to the candidates of our choice. We must work as election judges, as precinct workers and, most importantly, as voters.

Mugalian's prescription is an old one, but in our still-young nation, it must never be viewed as a cliche. The United States possesses no God-given right of survival; our nation can destroy itself if it allows a small handful to select our government.

This Presidential election year, the first after Watergate, should be a time of renewal, not of complacent and destructive apathy. What we leave to our children depends on our political decisions today.

Someday they'll probably take all of this for granted, and it'll be difficult even to get election judges!

The most undiplomatic diplomat

by NEA/London Economist News Service

Daniel Patrick Moynihan has a peculiar talent. He may give pleasure to many people and pain to many others, but it should be universally agreed that he is a master of the dramatic unities. His resignation as American Ambassador to the United Nations was well timed both for the retention of his professorial tenure at Harvard and for his widely predicted entry into the contest for one of the New York Senate seats.

In the few months since he took over the UN post last June, he had unquestionably made his mark in it. He was the man of the moment, in the purest sense of that phrase. At any other moment, he would have been the wrong man for the job.

It should be remembered that when he was given that job the general American view of the United Nations had become unprecedently sour. Congress had already suspended the American contributions to UNESCO and imposed sharp cuts on contributions to other UN agencies and programs. Actual withdrawal, at least from some of the agencies and possibly from the UN itself, was being publicly proposed (notice of withdrawal has in fact been served on the International Labor Organization).

DURING THE FIRST months of 1975, the Arab governments were pushing their anti-Israel campaign to the forefront at every meeting of UN agencies and organs, and trying to line up the whole third-world majority for a vote at the assembly session in the autumn either to expel Israel, or to suspend it from membership, or at least to reject its delegation's credentials, as had been done to South Africa in 1974.

In July, Henry Kissinger felt it necessary to give public warning that such a move could oblige the United States to withdraw its delegates and cut off its payments. The American public mood was so embittered that President Ford and his Secretary of State might well have decided to take these actions — especially at the start of an election year. In the event, the Arabs contented themselves with rounding up 72 votes (out of 142) for the notorious assembly resolution that equated zionism with racialism, and Kissinger settled for equating American economic help to the recipient states' UN voting performances.

In this context, the appointment of Moynihan in the full knowledge that he would blow his top in the assembly may be seen as having provided an alternative to a really drastic American pull-back from the United Nations. If so, it can be claimed that it worked.

MOYNIHAN HIMSELF makes a more ambitious claim. In the leaked text of the long message that he addressed to Kissinger and to all American embassies on Jan. 23, he argued that his bluntly forceful tactics had repeatedly swayed votes in his country's favor — specifically in reducing the majority for the "zionism" resolution. More generally: "our new stance is having more or less the effect that was hoped for; governments are beginning to think that anti-American postures at the UN and elsewhere are not without cost . . ."

The proof of that pudding will be sequent digestion. The hope of receiving favors from big country A may induce little country B not to vote against A in the assembly, but it will not necessarily make B like A any better in the long run. What is much more immediately clear is that Moynihan's performance has made a lot of Americans feel better, for the simple reason that they felt they had been shouted at long enough in the UN and it was time to shout back; and that it has made some of his colleagues, both in the State Department and in the UN missions of America's allies and friends, feel worse. The chief British representative at the UN, Ivor Richard, still felt much worse:

DANIEL P. MOYNIHAN

"The United States has put herself into a position where she has isolated herself, irritated her friends and encouraged her enemies."

WHATEVER THE MERITS of the Moynihan approach to the UN's kind of public diplomacy in the special circumstances of the 1975 assembly, its long-run limitations are evident. The basic Moynihan idea is that the democracies have become a shrinking minority in the UN. Shrinking, yes; but there has never yet been a democratic majority either in the UN or in the real world outside its walls.

To most people democracy is an attractive luxury they are unlikely to enjoy. The basic Moynihan posture is one of defiance of the big, bad majority. But the Western minority would be wiser to recognize, belatedly, that other political systems exist and will assert their existence in the crudest possible way. To speak on equal terms with this emerging majority is a much harder business with the hardest part of being one of a resentment of the fact that the majority of nondemocracies has emerged at all.

A real appeal to moderate elements in the third world would include an appeal to them to listen to basic facts. In that sense, the Moynihan shows many have been timely, but its time is up.

Repair or close Golf

Hazardous. Dangerous. Terrible. Treacherous. Inexcusable.

All these words describe Golf Road between Higgins and Barrington roads in Schaumburg Township.

The state is widening this section of highway to four lanes and has opened a temporary two-lane road which is filled with ruts, potholes and bumps.

While the state accepts responsibility for the roadway, it says it has offset the dangerous conditions by lowering the speed limit to 35 m.p.h.

State officials also claim the contractor checks the roadway weekly and fills the holes. The Herald has found this to be untrue.

We urge officials to repair or close the roadway until a safe roadbed is poured. Continued use of Golf Road in its present state could result in fatal mishaps, and we question if the state is ready to accept that responsibility.

They owe us damages

Proposed lawsuits against dozens of former county and local officials recently convicted of extortion should be initiated immediately.

The suits would seek damages and recovery of payoff and shakedown funds the officials extorted while they were in the public's trust.

At least three former Wheeling officials, nine former employes of the county assessor's office, a former county board member, a former county clerk and a former zoning administrator might be named in suits seeking millions of dollars in damages.

There have been similar court cases in Illinois in which the public has been successful in recovering funds and damages.

We urge Wheeling officials and State's Atty. Bernard Carey to follow through with the suits and recover some of the damages these officials brought upon the communities they supposedly served.

• In 1925, Floyd Collins was found dead in a cavern at Cave City, Ky., where he had been trapped for 18 days.

• In 1964, Kenny Hubbs, Chicago Cubs second baseman, was killed when the light plane he was piloting crashed in Utah.

• In 1969, Communist China seized three yachts near Hong Kong, one of them owned by an American. Four Americans were among the 15 persons taken captive.

• In 1970, Joe Frazier stopped Jimmy Ellis in five rounds to become the undisputed heavy-weight boxing champion.

He backs safety

Kurt Baer paid tribute to our ground service drivers who are indeed unsung heroes of aviation. (Mount. Prospect Herald, Feb. 2). We are proud of their contribution to the total airline picture, and are pleased that he recognized them.

He reported that the "over-all traffic is not well planned, often lacking land markings, etc." at O'Hare.

We are very safety conscious, both in the air and on the ground. We have our rules of the ramp, similar to rules of the road. For instance, lines are painted on the ramp at arrival and departure gates to denote minimum clearance of aircraft for ground equipment drivers. No one drives under aircraft wings. Vehicles not in use are parked in areas with specific markings for various sized pieces of equipment. Our drivers undergo complete physical examinations annually. Governors are on vehicles to regulate ground speed. Continuous refresher and on-the-job safety driving courses are given.

On the field, drivers observe stop signs which are strategically placed at runway intersections and service routes. In addition to looking to the right and left, drivers look up to observe proximity of aircraft landing or taking off.

We pride ourselves on our safety record, both in the air and on the ground. This record is not possible without the safety performance of our ground service personnel.

Thank you for your interest in aviation.

'Library needs you now'

The City of Rolling Meadows has many good features that attract families to live here and one of the best is the public library.

To all the library and city supporters, the library needs you now. If all the people who ever made use of the interlibrary loan service, those who have used the reference collection, the parents of children who have spent hours using the computer terminal and the children's room, members of organizations and private citizens who have used the film service, checked out magazines, taken a cassette player home for their own use and those who have used the book collection would stand up and be counted as a yes vote for the referendum on Saturday, Feb. 28, the library could at least maintain what we have and not let it crumble and become a useless shell of a building. Please stand by the library now. It needs every one of you.

Grandma thrived on hardships

Elizabeth Thompson of Rolling Meadows is this week's $5 award winner for her Backward Glance to life in pioneer America.

Sarah Howes Burton, my "four-greats" grandmother who lived at the time of the Revolutionary War, exemplifies the determination and perseverance that helped the colonists in their struggle to win independence.

Born in 1733 at Stratford, Conn., Sarah married Josiah Burton there in 1756. Fifteen years later, Josiah decided to move to a less populated area, the Hampshire Grants, later to become the state of Vermont.

So in the fall of 1771, he, Sarah, heavily pregnant, and their eight children started up the Housatonic River. They wintered there, where twins were born. In the spring they continued overland to Manchester, Vt., with the infant twins riding in leather saddle bags specially made by Josiah. At Manchester, the family settled on 80 acres.

THE DIFFICULTIES of life as a pioneer wife and mother were compounded by the rigors of war. The responsibility for the farm and the family, which, by 1780, included three more children, fell on Sarah's shoulders while Josiah served in the Green Mountain Boys regiment. In 1777, Josiah suffered a head wound that incapacitated him for the rest of his life. The eldest son, 17-year-old Elijah (my ancestor) enlisted as his replacement and served till the fall of 1780. Sarah had to manage with the help of two teenage daughters and three sons just younger.

According to family history, when there were alarms of raids by Indians or Tories in the area, Sarah would immediately gather up the children and valuables and run for a cave in the woods. Praying with her children, she wondered if the Tories would kill them all and they would wake up in another world.

FORTUNATELY none of the raids reached their farm. But one of the twins years later remembered hearing the cannon roar during the Battle of Bennington, down the valley to the south.

Backward Glance
. . . our readers remember

Sarah must have thrived on her life of hardships for she lived to be 98, and, to judge from another family story, evidently with undampened spirits. She spent her later years with her son, Isaac,a rather sober-sided church deacon. One evening when he came home from a church meeting, he was puzzled to see a shadow passing back and forth across the window in the firelight. He knew his mother, then past 90, was alone in the house.

He went in quietly. There was Sarah, stepping about while she sang an old square dance tune,"High Betty Martin." He chided her for being so carefree at her age. She replied tartly, "I know this is a dying world, Isaac, but we needn't be dying all the time!"

Justice Burger calls for review of judicial system

ABA chief sees need for court change

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Justin A. Stanley ponders world population growth, limits on natural resources and whether civilization bypassed the American legal system.

He isn't daydreaming. As president-elect of the American Bar Assn., he hopes to start people thinking in new ways about strain in the courts and the legal profession.

Relaxing briefly in his suite for an interview during the ABA's mid-year convention, Stanley, a prominent Chicago attorney, said:

"We are living under a federal judicial structure put together long, long ago. It worked remarkably well, but now it is subject to strains . . . Our court system really was designed to handle an entirely different civilization."

STANLEY, A TALL, gray-haired man who just turned 65, isn't sure how to solve the problems of a burdened court system, or how to make legal services available to all.

His ideas include expanding small claims courts, where arguments can be settled without lawyers, and providing legal clinics for problems which a lawyer can solve easily.

He is excited about two projects he hopes will culminate before his one-year term as ABA president expires in August, 1977: A conference on the impact of limited resources and growing population on legal and governmental systems, and expansion of programs aimed at showing students how they can influence government through legal and political channels.

"The living world population is about 25 per cent of all those who ever lived," Stanley said. "This means a tremendous increase in just the number of personal relations, and personal relations are the basis of litigation."

"WE ARE TERRIBLY litigious today. If you look at someone cross-eyed, you're apt to find yourself a defendant in a lawsuit. I don't think we should look at litigation as the object of every dispute, but as a safety valve."

Stanley envisions a conference in the spring of 1977 to discuss how government and the law can deal with expanding society.

The school project already is under way, with 400 schools involved compared to only a half-dozen in 1972. Through ABA sponsorship, students at all grade levels are introduced to the adversary system, channels of political and government communication, and other ways the individual can be heard or resolve disputes with others.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger called on the legal profession Sunday to re-examine the roots of the nation's judicial process with an eye toward a complete restructuring by the end of the century.

Burger, in his annual "State of the Judiciary" address to the American Bar Assn. said:

"We should take a searching look at some of the basic aspects and underlying assumptions of our legal and judicial institutions and try to determine, not merely how to tighten the 'nuts and bolts' of the existing mechanisms of the judicial system, but whether fundamental changes need to be made."

He compared the system, which faces increasingly overloaded courts and demands for effecting social change, to the automobile industry, which he said "finally" began producing smaller, cheaper automobiles "in response to a public demand of at least 20 years standing."

"PERHAPS WHAT we lawyers have been doing for many, many years is to scrape the barnacles off the hulls of the 'judicial ships' and clean the boilers and engines when we should have been considering new and different kinds of vessels more fitted to the 20th century world," Burger said.

Burger did not attend the ABA meeting because of the flu, and his speech was read by association President Lawrence E. Walsh.

Burger said the initial step in re-examining the basic legal structure would come in April at a conference designed to study the nation's judicial system.

The conference will "take a hard look at how we lawyers and judges fulfill our historic function as the 'healers' and 'lubricators' and 'resolvers' of the conflicts of society," Burger said, and "to ask whether there are other, simpler, speedier and less costly ways to reach desired objectives."

Burger said the April meeting of federal and state lawyers and judges will "consider what we must do to be ready for the year 2000 when, in place of 200 million Americans, there will be 260 million, with social, economic, and political forces that will generate incalculable problems and conflicts to be resolved."

'Talk back' aids emergency cases

Doctors at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, now can "talk back" to paramedics at the scene of an emergency and follow through until the patient is brought to the hospital.

Formerly, the hospital's emergency room staff was only authorized to "listen in" as other hospitals transmitted orders for Lutheran General's emergency patients.

The new two-way communication is possible because Lutheran General was recently designated by the Illinois Dept. of Public Health an associate hospital in the St. Francis Hospital telemetry network.

LUTHERAN GENERAL uses a transmitter owned by St. Francis Hospital, Evanston, and linked to Evanston Hospital and Skokie Valley Hospital. This permits Lutheran General personnel to talk directly with paramedics in Glenbrook, Glenview, Morton Grove, Niles and Skokie.

Similar base station transmitters are at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, and Highland Park Hospital.

The telemetry equipment at Lutheran General is manned by a physician and a nurse who transmit doctor's orders to the paramedics.

"IF YOU CAN give initial orders and then follow through and see the results of those orders, there is a much greater continuity of care for the patient," said Deborah Buckley, R.N., Lutheran General's coordinator of emergency medical services.

"It's much better to begin treatment with one physician giving the orders and have him follow through in person when the patient arrives," she said.

Studies show in cases of cardiac arrest, when the heart has stopped beating, only 1 out of 10,000 people will survive after 12 minutes if no resuscitation is given, Miss Buckley said.

If an ambulance arrives four minutes after the cardiac arrest and paramedics render emergency care under a doctor's order, 50 out of 100 cases will survive. If resusciation is given immediately 98 out of 100 will survive, she said.

Oksana Moros

by ELEANOR RIVES

In her tasteful Arlington Heights home, beautifully appointed with art objects and accents of another culture, Oksana Moros, a handsome dark-haired woman talked proudly of her Ukrainian heritage, but painfully of her past.

She spent much of her toddlerhood in Dachau, the German concentration camp, where she and her parents were incarcerated during World War II. Her sister was born there.

She spent much of her young childhood in a displaced persons camp in Berchtesgaden, Germany. Her brother was born there.

"MY EARLIEST memories are of constantly being hungry," she said. "I remember the DP camp, the long breadlines. But I also remember the park where we played and the beautiful scenery."

In 1950, when Oksana was 7 years old, she and her family came to the United States and settled in Detroit, the common destination of many Ukrainian families and the adopted home of the Ukrainian Bandurist Chorus, now a nationally acclaimed musical group which includes among its members Oksana's father, husband and brother-in-law.

Being an immigrant child in Detroit was difficult at first. "We were poor; things were pretty hard for us," said Oksana, adding that children can be cruel by ridiculing other children who can't speak English. "But once we adjusted and our parents dressed us as the other kids, everything was fine," she said.

OKSANA'S HUSBAND, Roman Moros, studied art and music in Paris, and had just returned to Detroit from his studies at the Sorbonne when he met Oksana. They were married in 1963.

Armed with his first pistol when he was only 12, Roman fought beside his father with the Ukrainian Freedom Fighters during World War II. Miraculously the pair escaped through Czechoslovakia from the Ukraine, now a part of the Soviet Socialist Republic, by crossing the Carpathian Mountains on foot.

Roman and Oksana have lived in their present home 10 years. The walls are alive with Roman's oil paintings ("Sunflowers and poppies are almost considered national flowers," Oksana said with a smile.) Fine examples of Trypilian art with its geometric motifs abound in their ceramic pieces — many of which were made by Oksana's mother.

"TRYPILIAN ART dates back thousands of years," she said. "It flourished from 3,000 to 2,000 B.C."

Other ceramic pieces are decorated with the flowery, swirly Kiev-type art. Wood carvings and wood inlays, the work of the Hutsuls, Carpathian Mountain people, are exquisite table and piano decorations in the Moros' home. A basket of pysanky, intricately decorated Ukrainian Easter eggs, occupies a permanent place in the dining room china cabinet.

Ukrainian folk art abounds in pillows, tablecloths, runners and other textile objects in colorful, complex, finely stitched embroidery that is painstakingly accomplished by counting threads without benefit of stamped pattern.

PERHAPS MOST important to the Moros family is the wood plaque above the fireplace. It bears a Trident, the Ukrainian symbol of freedom.

In 1965, Oksana and her sister were granted permission to go back to the Ukraine on a visit. Relatives there were amazed that the two women could still speak Ukrainian — they had been told that only English is allowed in the United States.

"Conditions were bad in every way," said Oksana. "The clothing, the food. But worse than these was the fright. They were afraid to talk, afraid to sing. One of our hosts insisted on locking us in a room and maintaining silence every time he heard a noise on the stairs outside.

"AND RELIGIOUS freedom? Forget it. They couldn't believe that I would dare to wear a holy medal, especially in sight. There was no political freedom either. The news was all twisted."

Roman's father who lives with them in Arlington Heights, has been separated from his wife for 32 years — by an ocean, a continent and by political circumstance. A learned man with many scholastic degrees, he speaks 14 languages. An author, an historian, a philosopher, he spends many hours laboriously writing in longhand a 3-volume epic on man's relation to the universe.

The joy of the Moros household is 2-year-old Dorian who is rapidly learning Ukrainian at an age when it easily absorbed. "English will be his language the rest of his life," said Oksana. "It's too difficult to learn Ukrainian later."

ROMAN AND Oksana are instilling in their son a proud sense of his heritage in still other ways. They observe Ukrainian Christmas, New Year and Easter customs. They take Dorian with them to the Ukrainian Catholic Church, Next year, when he is 3, he will go to the Ukrainian nursery school three times a week. He will learn Ukrainian songs and games. Later he will attend Ukrainian school on Saturdays.

"He has a heritage he can really be proud of," said his mother. "It will help him to be a better American, too."

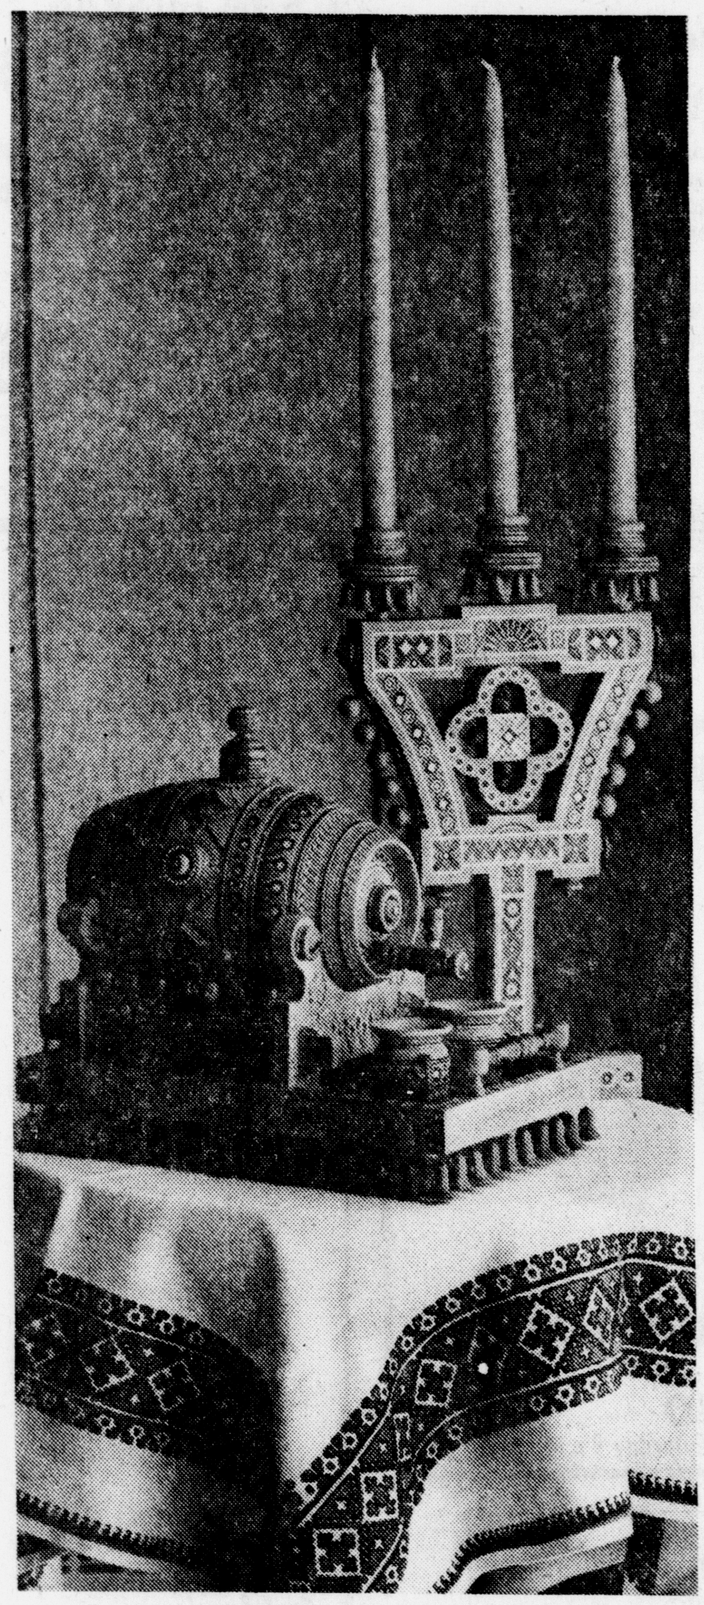
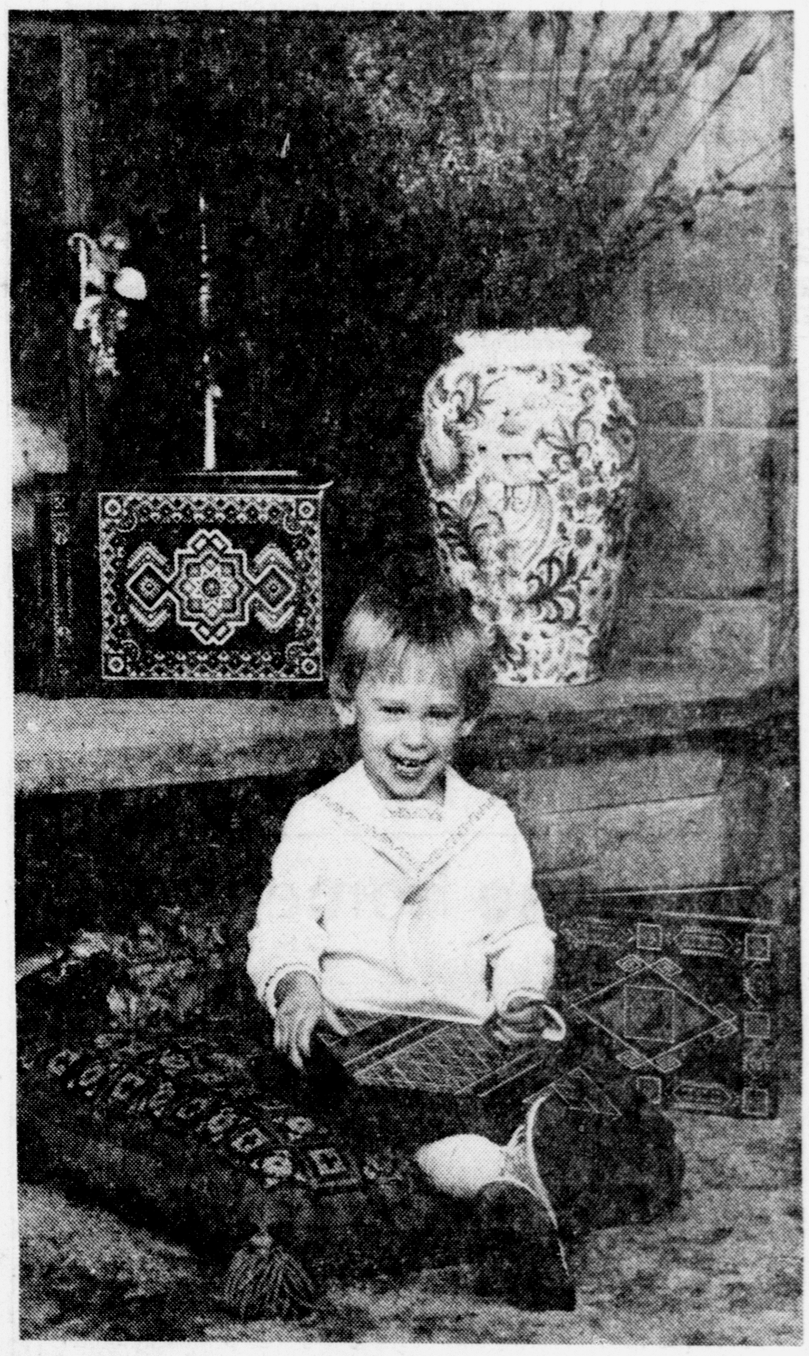
PROUD OF HER CULTURAL heritage, Oksana Moros of Arlington Heights, member of the Ukrainian National Women's League, is one of two million Ukrainians in America. Besides English and Ukrainian, she speaks German. Polish, Spanish, and reads and understands Russian.



FINE EXAMPLES OF the exquisite wood-inlay of the Hutsul folk artists in the Ukraine are these two pieces, the buchivka (barrel) and candelabrum. The three candles represent the Trinity.



TOO YOUNG TO appreciate the wealth of Ukranian culture around him, Dorian Moros, 2, enjoys looking through the family albums, unaware of their wood inlay covers or embroidered pillow on which he sits. Large vase is an example of Kiev type art.

Birth control death risk revealed in new study

by PATRICIA McCORMACK

A new study shows the death risk associated with use of any major method of birth control is much less than the risk of death from childbearing.

The latter is less than the risk of dying in a car crash.

The exception in the investigation of mortality risk: the pill when used by those past 40.

At the older ages, pill use carries a mortality risk slightly greater than that associated with childbirth.

Research into mortality risks when using the various methods of birth control was conducted by Dr. Christopher Tietze, senior consultant with The Population Council, and his colleagues, Drs. John Bongaarts and Bruce Schearer.

THE REPORT WILL be published later this month in Family Planning Perspectives, the journal of Planned Parenthood's Alan Guttmacher Institute. The report was released in New York by Planned Parenthood.

Mortality risk is lowest for women who use traditional methods backed up by early legal abortion.

But such a course would require most women to have one or more abortions in the course of their reproductive lifetime — a practice medical authorities do not condone, especially if a wanted pregnancy subsequently is in a women's plans.

Some studies have shown children born after a mother has had multiple abortions don't always turn out quite right.

Dr. Louise Tyrer, Planned Parenthood's vice president for Medical Affairs, said in a press briefing that the organization's policy on the pill calls for outlining the risks to a woman over 40 after certain laboratory tests are added to a thorough physical.

Even then, if a woman wants to go on oral contraceptives, the policy calls for her signing an "informed consent."

In the over-40 women, pill use has been implicated in deaths from heart attacks and strokes.

In patients receiving oral contraceptives serious adverse reactions seen also include pulmonary embolism, hypertension, thrombophlebitis and gall bladder disease.

THE POSSIBILE carcinogenicity of estrogens for the oral contraceptive user can't be ruled in or ruled out at this time, according to authorities.

At the briefing authorities acknowledged that the cancer-causing potential of the oral contraceptives is in the back of a great many minds.

But it was noted that information confirming or denying this potentiality can only be gained in time — as many women take oral contraceptives for a long time.

Among other findings noted by Dr. Tietze and associates:

• With advancing age the relative risk of mortality associated with Intra-Uterine Devices declines, until by age 35, it is about as low as that with traditional methods backed up by abortion.

• For women who have completed their childbearing, tubal ligation is associated with very low mortality levels — especially when desired family size has been reached by an early age. It carries a lower death risk at all ages than do orals, abortion and no method of control.

• The only method of birth control that carries no known risk of death is vasectomy.

The investigators developed a "computer model" to estimate age-specific and lifetime mortality risks associated with various risks of childbearing without fertility regulation.

The model is based on information from the United States and Britain and therefore applies only to women living in the United States and other developed countries.

Even in the United States, they cautioned it may not be applicable to every ethnic or socioeconomic group.

Commenting on the findings in an accompanying Perspectives article, Dr. Tietze and Frederick S. Jaffe, the Institute's president, point to the absence of significant variation in mortality risks of the various methods for women under age 30 as evidence that "women in these age groups who are otherwise satisfied with oral contraceptives, for example, have little reason to switch to other methods out of concern over the risk of mortality."

They note that if the 6.3 million married women in the United States under age 40 who are currently using the pill were to switch to the diaphragm or condom, the result would be an additional 800,000 unwanted births per year - or 1.1 million additional abortions (more than doubling the current number).

"THE HEALTH RISKS for some women associated with some existing methods of fertility control . . . are serious enough to cause concern," the authors conclude. But "there are few currently available practical alternatives to large-scale dependence on these methods, and none that are risk-free.

"The availability of safer, effective methods depends on rapid expansion of research in reproductive biology and contraceptive development. Legislators and other public officials, organizations, scientists and others concerned with women's health would be well advised to use their voices and their influence to seek increased support for such a research effort."

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Homogenized milk theory lacks proof

I am enclosing an article from the National Enquirer pointing out the danger of drinking homogenized milk. According to the article, "the fat in milk contains a substance called zanthine oxidase, an enzyme. This enzyme will attack the heart and its arteries if it enters the bloodstream and it is able to get into the blood from homogenized milk." Since then I've been worried about drinking homogenized milk. Is it really dangerous? Is it really a good idea to boil the milk before drinking to kill the xanthine oxidase? I would be very much interested in your opinion.

This idea has been publicized through the efforts of Dr. Kurt A. Oster and is about as you relate it. Dr. Oster thinks that heart disease first became a problem about the time that homogenized milk came on the market. He claims that homogenizing the milk breaks down the fat molecules into small particles (which is true) and makes it easier then for the enzyme, which is attached to fat globules, to be absorbed through the intestinal wall.

Dr. Edwin L. Bierman of the University of Washington in Seattle and Dr. Robert E. Shank of Washington University in St. Louis recently reviewed this theory in an editorial for the Journal of the American Medical Assn. and they point out several important facts that the Oster theory ignores.

The truth is that the increase in heart and vascular disease had already begun well before homogenized milk was widely used. Moreover, the incidence has declined recently although the use of homogenized milk has not.

Still more important, enzymes are proteins and the acid and pepsin material in the stomach breaks down proteins as the first stage of digestion. Presumably the Oster enzyme is not immune to normal digestion and would no longer be an enzyme after passing through the stomach.

THERE IS no satisfactory proof the enzyme would be absorbed through the intestine into the blood stream if it escaped the digestive process of the stomach. Small protein molecules with molecular weights of less than 80,000 can be absorbed, but the Oster enzyme has a molecular weight of 300,000. Neither Drs. Bierman nor Shank think any of the research Oster has advanced to support the idea that it is absorbed permits any such conclusion at all.

Finally, there is no proof that the enzyme in question really does decrease the normal protective mechanisms within arteries and permit atherosclerosis to occur, leading to heart and vascular disease.

Drs. Bierman and Shank pretty well sum up the attitude of knowledgeable scientists with this statement in their editorial. "The conclusion seems warranted that a hypothesis has been stated and restated by a single protagonist (Oster). It remains tenuous and implausible and requires support from critically designed experiments. At this time it is far from an established fact that the drinking of homogenized milk contributes to mortality from coronary artery disease through the intestinal absorption of bovine xanthine oxidase. To advise the public to avoid homogenized milk or to boil milk for this purpose, on the basis of the meager published evidence, is unwarranted and unjustified."

Reader has question on proper humidity

Dear Dorothy: Recently I moved from an apartment to a house and since I love indoor plants acquired new ones at moving time. Looking at them now, I wonder whether the humidity in the house is the right level. I have a small portable humidifier. It puts out a lot of moisture, but how much should it be used? Do you know what the humidity in a house ought to be? — Patricia Foster

The best winter humidity rate in a home is around 30 per cent. Simple humidity gauges give accurate readings. Many say they don't have to check gauges — that they know the moment their throats get dry. Static electricity when walking on carpets is another signal. I have no idea what type of humidifier you have. Most portables have built-in humidistats which determine the amount of water needed to replenish moisture. Not only will your plants do far better with proper humidity, but you'll be healthier, too; your furniture won't dry out — and, most important in these days of high fuel cost, you will find your fuel consumption running lower.

Dearth Dorothy: I have a wooden bread board and some wooden spoons (they were mother's and made of pretty good stuff). They have gotten rough and I've been sanding them and then rubbing with fine steel wool in an effort to give them a good surface again. Any other suggestions? —Edwina Sparkman

None. I'd say you've handled the problem like a professional.

Dear Dorothy: Is it true that bread put in the freezer should not be touching the freezing plate? What happens if it does? Does it spoil? — Mary Ellen Hegeman

It doesn't spoil, but if ice crystals form the bread turns soggy when thawed.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Too warm

Bathroom medicine cabinets are too warm and steamy for storing some medicines. Prescription and over-the-counter drugs labeled for cool, dry storage usually contain special storage instructions, which should be followed for safety's sake. To maintain medicinal strength, pills such as nitroglycerine never should be carried in pill boxes. Many other medicines stored in pill boxes for long periods either lose strength or become too strong.

Ask Andy

Mount Rushmore is very special

HOW WERE THE FOUR PRESIDENTS ON MOUNT RUSHMORE CHOSEN?

The road leading to South Dakota's Mount Rushmore takes you through a stately park and winds through an area of about two square miles. As you approach the massive granite bluff that contains the memorial, you begin to get the feeling that this is really going to be something special. And when you finally get your first peek of it through the trees, you know you were right.

In 1923 the idea for Mount Rushmore was born in the imagination of Jonah Leroy Robinson, who was superintendent of the South Dakota State Historical Society for many years. By 1925 the concept had been approved by the federal and South Dakota governments. In October of that year it was dedicated as a national memorial.

The famous American Sculptor Gutzon Borglum was selected to design the memorial and supervise its construction. Work on the project began in 1927, and it is a tribute to his engineering genius that the project was completed. The hugeness of the task necessitated that Borglum invent new methods of sculpting.

Four American Presidents were selected as subjects for the sculpture — George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt. Washington was selected to represent our nation's founding; Jefferson, our political philosophy; Lincoln, the preservation of our nation, and Roosevelt, the expansion and conservation of our resources.

The heads of the Presidents are carved on a huge granite cliff that rises 500 feet above the floor of the valley. Each face is about 60 feet from chin to forehead — as tall as a five-story building. A full-size statue built to the same scale would be 465 feet high. More than 400,000 tons of solid rock were blasted and chiseled away to form the memorial. Models, built on the scale of one inch to one foot, were lifted to the edge of the cliff to serve as guides for the workmen.

The head of Washington was completed in 1930, and seven years later the heads of Jefferson and Lincoln were finished. Though not completed, the head of Roosevelt was dedicated in 1939. Work on the project halted in 1941, still leaving it not quite finished. In the 14 years spent on the memorial only six and a half were spent in actual labor due to lack of funds or unfavorable weather. The total cost was just under $1 million.

Gutzon Borglum died in early 1941, leaving his son, Lincoln Borglum, to continue the work. Today, a quarter of a century later, almost 1 million people each year visit Mount Rushmore to marvel at the beauty and greatness of his tribute to the men who helped formulate, shape and strengthen American democracy.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Pamela Zygmunt, age 8, of Utica, N.Y., for her question:

HOW DO ANIMALS LAP UP LIQUIDS?

Next time you give your pet a dish of water, watch how easily his tongue laps it up. Most mammals lap water frequently and effortlessly, and their tongues are designed perfectly for the task. They are long enough and curl just right, forming a sort of built-in mini cup with which to take in liquids. Animals' tongues differ greatly, however, because besides drinking they serve other important purposes.

The giraffe's black tongue, for example, is long and sticky so that leaves, shoots and twigs in tall trees can be grabbed and munched easily. Members of the cat family have extremely coarse tongues, as rough as files, to enable them to clean themselves and also to lick meat off the bones of fallen prey. The tongue of the anteater is truly specialized, darting out eight inches or more to press hundreds of insects to its sticky surface.

Do you have a question to ASK ANDY? Send it on a post card with your name, age and complete address to ASK ANDY in care of The Herald, P.O. Box 680, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006. Entries open to girls and boys 7 to 17.

Farrell loves 'M-A-S-H' but not TV

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Farrell joined the "M-A-S-H" cast last fall and walked into what seemed like an actor's ultimate nightmare.

Farrell took on the role of B.J. Hunnicutt, who became "Hawkeye" Pierce's sidekick when "Trapper" John Wayne Rogers left the highly successful CBS half-hour comedy after last season.

"It's very frightening," Farrell said in an interview, explaining that an actor coming into a successful show worries that the ratings will start to go downhill and he'll be blamed.

"It almost happened," Farrell said. "Here was a show that had been very successful for three years and it started to slip in the ratings. It could have looked like it was my fault."

INSTEAD THE blame probably lies with the programming department, which had switched "M-A-S-H" to Friday night opposite NBC's "Chico and the Man." Returned to Tuesday night, the show zoomed back up among the leaders.

"Quite often I grind my teeth at the lack of taste on television and in movies," Farrell said, explaining why he is getting into theatrical production in Los Angeles.

"I'd like to try out being in the driver's seat. Television, for instance, suffers from some horrendous writing, but the problem goes beyond that. It's a question of choices. I watch things on television and in motion pictures and I cringe at the choices.

Farrell, who finds "M-A-S-H" an exception, also wrote a series premise for television about a parole officer, "an antipolice show where the hero gets people out of jail and back into society — no violence, no guns allowed."

The networks said no, and now Farrell says, "I want to be the guy who can say yes. I don't agree with the network philosophy, the trend of sitcoms and whatever sells. I believe we need to find good dramatic and comedic formats and put them on the air, instead of everybody playing it safe."

Diamond bid is best shot

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Oswald: "No matter what system you play there are going to be occasions when you just don't have a proper bid."

Jim: "Even when you have an obvious bid, it doesn't mean that you will get the best result from your action."

Oswald: "South has 14 highcard points, made up of aces and kings. His hand clearly calls for an opening bid, but he is too weak for one notrump and has no biddable suit. He opens one diamond. North bids rather unscientifically to six diamonds."

Jim: "The contract wraps up. South draws trumps with three leads, cashes dummy's king and queen of hearts, enters his hand with the ace of spades, discards one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts and winds up with twelve easy tricks."

Oswald: "I have to admit that I constructed the North, East and West hands. A club lead beats six diamonds if North plays the hand and six notrump is beaten by perfect defense so South's doubtful diamond opening is a real winner."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Accepted Influence in the Northwest Suburbs

Unless Congress acts fast

Court order may hurt candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unless Congress acts within two weeks, the federal purse will snap shut on candidates for the Presidential nominations.

The Supreme Court has ordered the Federal Elections Commission to disband at the end of the month unless the law creating it is rewritten so all members are Presidential appointees. The court gave Congress 30 days to make the change.

Without a commission, there would be no agency to distribute the federal matching funds on which most candidates are counting to help finance pre-convention campaigns.

Republicans, fighting the court-imposed deadline, will attempt a rare maneuver Tuesday to force House consideration of legislation under which all FEC members would be chosen by the president.

LED BY REP. John Anderson, R-Ill., they will ask the House Rules Committee to send legislation to the floor with all amendments barred. This would bypass the House Administration Committee, whose chairman, Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, is hostile to the FEC.

Anderson's chances are rated even at best, and Hays plans to call a meeting of his committee this week. Although the Hays committee failed to reach agreement last week, the consensus appeared to favor restructuring the commission but limiting its duties to dispensing federal funds.

The Senate and House scheduled the traditional reading of George Washington's Farewell Address in both chambers Monday before resuming fulltime duties after the Lincoln's Day recess.

The Senate plans to vote Wednesday on a $3 billion package of foreign military aid, but only after administration-backed Republicans seek to kill or modify provisions that would make overseas arms sales more public.

In other action this week:

• The House is scheduled to vote on overriding Ford's veto of a $6.2 billion public works jobs program which sponsors say would create 600,000 new jobs.

• The Senate plans to continue considering a major revision of U.S. copyright laws.

• The House has scheduled a vote on a four-year, $1.9 billion appropriation for ConRail, the 17,000-mile rail system to be formed April 1 from the best lines of seven bankrupt railroads.

• The House must decide what to do with the report of its Intelligence Committee, which is classified although it has been publicly printed. The House could permit only members to read it, or a highlevel committee could determine what should be made public.

Walker worst manager in state, Howlett charges

by STEVE BROWN

Sec. of State Michael Howlett issued two statements during the weekend which he said will show Gov. Daniel Walker is the "worst manager the state has ever had."

Howlett, Walker's opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor in Illinois' March 16 primary, cited the problems with the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid and the state Medicaid program as examples of Walker's poor management.

Howlett said the public aid dept. erroneously spent $400 million in state and federal tax money. He charged the department aids nearly four times the number of ineligible persons than the federal government allows. He also said the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare is withholding $30 million from Illinois because of mismanagement.

Turning to the Medicaid program, Howlett charged the program has grown at a "runaway fashion under Gov. Walker."

Payment for services are delayed, fraud goes unchecked, few effective audit procedures have been undertaken," he said.

Walker administration officials have denied reports of mismanagement. There have been conflicting statements over reports that Walker aides are delaying payments to hospitals and other agencies claiming funds under the Medicaid program.

Political briefs

Mikva and his aides have consistently declined to respond to comments made by the candidates in the Republican primary contest.

Results of Mikva poll

Residents in the 10th District want more federal funds for domestic programs, according to a poll taken by U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th.

More than 13,000 persons responded to the questionnaire mailed by the congressman recently. Mikva noted a majority of persons favor maintaining or increasing federal funds for health, education, social security benefits and the creation of new jobs.

He said the highest positive response, 73 per cent, came from persons who favored new tax breaks or tax incentives for small businesses.

In another section of the poll, 97 per cent of the respondents called increased development of coal, solar and geothermal energy.

The respondents were nearly even split on the issue of sharply increasing the number of public service jobs during periods of high unemployment. Forty-five per cent favored the move, while 44 per cent said they were opposed.

Bakalis asks overhaul

Michael Bakalis, Democratic candidate for comptroller, has called for a "massive managerial overhaul" of state government.

Bakalis cited his record as superintendent of public instruction, where he cut his administrative costs and spending.

"If every agency was able to do for only one year, what we accomplished in the state office of education, the state could save between $10 to $20 million," he said.

Props not needed: Nimrod

State Sen. John Nimrod, R-Glenview, said he does not need props to develop issues in the campaign for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 10th Congressional District.

"All I need is U.S. Rep. Abner Mikva's, D-10th, record."

"In the 10th District, our congressman (Mikva) says he is concerned for small business. In Washington he votes with organized labor right down the line regardless of who it hurts," Nimrod charged.

State budget meets urged

Michael Bakalis, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, has called for a series of statewide meetings on the proposed Illinois budget for the next fiscal year.

Gov. Daniel Walker is scheduled to introduce his budget to the Illinois General Assembly next month.

Bakalis said the hearings will allow persons from throughout the state to express their views about how the government proposes to spend their tax dollars.

"State budget making remains a vague and a distant process in which who, when and how anyone is consulted remains a great mystery," Bakalis said.

Schlickman fundraiser set

Supporters of State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, have announced plans for a Feb. 22 fundraiser at Allgauer's Fireside Restaurant in Northbrook.

Tickets for the event are $25 per couple or $12.50 per person and can be obtained by calling 253-1976 or 259-3640.

You're throwing away money, if you're throwing away old newspapers

CCA Pioneer Paper Stock is paying money for old newspapers.

We need paper for recycling mills, so we're paying to get it. Individuals, companies, municipalities—anyone who has old newspapers and can bring them in, can make money.

Just deliver your old newspapers to the Pioneer facility at 1750 W. Fullerton (just off Route 53) in Addison, or 900 N. Ogden Avenue in Chicago. You can drop off newspapers between 7:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., Monday through Saturday. We'll weigh them and pay you on the spot—$1.25 per hundred pounds (about a 4' stack) or $25 per ton.

If you have a large load (8 tons or more), we'll provide trailers or bins and pick them up. For newspaper that we pick up, we pay 85¢ per hundred pounds or $17 per ton.

We are also paying for old corrugated containers, computer print-out paper and cards, and many other grades of wastepaper.

It's easy to make extra money from old newspapers—almost easier than throwing them away.

Elk Grove gymnasts take league honors

by CHARLIE DICKINSON
Gymnastics Editor

Fred Gaines had his hands happily filled Saturday night, juggling a huge cake and handshakes and, most importantly, the championship trophy of the Mid-Suburban League gynastics season. His Elk Grove Grenadiers edged the Hersey Huskies 142.44 to 141.53 and five other contenders for a title that meant so much.

"This is great, just great," Gaines laughed. "We didn't even look good where we were supposed to."

The Grens looked good enough to the eight judges to put a halt to the Hersey Habit, an addiction the Huskies held for the league championship three years in a row.

"We've had a lot of problems this year," Gaines said. "But this team has come together like champions. We're closer now, as a team, than we've ever been."

The closeness was inspired by a masterful team effort and a pleasant surprise from a gymnast who has been standing backstage most of the year.

Dan Wudtke, a tough little senior who has been in the sport of gymnastics only three years, came out of the pack to place fourth in the all-around.

"More than any other kid on this team," Gaines said. "Dan came through in the clutch to help us win this meet."

Wudtke's 7.02 all-around average was highlighted by a 7.7 still rings routine that held off the charging Huskies.

"I was confident going into the final events," Gaines remarked. "Then Dan came along and hit his potential and I knew we had it."

But Wudtke was just a small part of the Grens' story as they battled their way to the title in a meet that was as close as everyone expected.

Gene Christensen stepped out as the finest all-around gymnast in the league, taking that title with an 8.14 average and also proving himself the best on free exercise (8.65) and P-Bars (8.80).

"Gene can do better," Gaines said. "But he did well enough tonight to prove what I've felt all year. He's the best in the league."

Christensen took the all-around lead after one event and then lost it to Hersey's Danny Muenz on side horse. But an 8.65 showing on high bar put him back on top for good.

Muenz, despite a painful rib separation injury, put up a gallant fight.

"Danny was bothered the whole meet," said Hersey head coach Don Von Ebers. "We put ice on him after every event but he was still in a lot of pain.

"He's a gritty little kid, though, and under the circumstances I think he did a super job."

Muenz' 7.98 all-around average included medals on side horse and P-Bars. His courage was most evident on the parallel bars, where the pain was greatest and he still threw an 8.50 to place second.

Perhaps the best routine of the night was fashioned by Elk Grove's Tim Connelly, who blew away the still rings field with a masterful 8.90.

Gaines knew it, too. Even before Connelly had completed his routine the Elk Grove coach was striding across the floor to wrap his arms around him in congratulations.

"Tim was nearly perfect," Gaines said. "If I were a judge and a kid finished with an 8.9 I'd go ahead and give him a 9.00. Tim deserved it tonight."

Connelly, more than any other gymnast in the meet, had something to prove to MSL skeptics Saturday night. In last year's conference meet he was tabbed as the league's best, and a possible state championship contender, only to blow his routine and finish a disappointing tenth.

The Elk Grove high bar team of Christensen and Tom Balla established a slight superiority over the Rolling Meadows tandem of Keith Liszewski and Mark Waclawski.

Liszewski won the event title with a snappy 8.70 and Waclawski grabbed a fifth place medal at 8.10 but Christensen (8.65) and Balla (8.55) took sec-

Forest View girls rally in bowling finals for 2nd

by PAUL LOGAN

According to the car rental commercial, you should try harder when you're No. 2.

The Forest View girls finished second in the state bowling tourney at Peoria Saturday. But the Falcons didn't feel too bad, according to Coach Pam Frase. They escaped finishing third!

Forest View entered the semifinal morning session with a 54-pin lead over Abingdon. "I think being ahead sometimes takes the pressure off of you," said Frase. "But sometimes it's better to have a little on them."

Abingdon, like Forest View a former state champ, was red-hot in the semifinals, taking the lead for good. The Commandos won the fourth annual tourney at Town and Country Lanes with 9,490 pins. The Falcons nosed out Rockford East for runner-up honors, 9,381 to 9,357.

"I think they were really happy to pull through for second," said Frase.

Heading into the four-team finals, Forest View trailed Abingdon 7120 to 7087. In the first game, Abingdon rolled a 771 compared to Forest View's 774, opening up a 36-pin margin. Nancy Lachus and Cheryl Hanson led the Falcons with games of 178 and 172, respectively.

But the second game proved the Falcons' downfall. The Commandos scored a 790 to Forest View's 702, increasing their lead to an almost insurmountable 124 pins heading into the last game.

The best individual effort by a Falcon in that game was a 163 by Judy Pleickhardt.

In the meantime, Rockford had rolled back-to-back super games of 882 and 895. "No one was really worried about them (the Rockford E-Rabs) until then," said Frase.

"They (the Falcons) didn't seem to have anything going for them."

Maybe the Forest View pride in having finished first ('74) and second ('75) helped shake the girls out of their slump.

"Their third game was great," said Frase, who was hoarse from cheering. "They needed a little cheering, so we gave them the best we could."

The Falcons' 818 was the best they had Saturday. It was enough to hold off Rockford, but Abingdon nearly matched the Falcons with an 809 to win the first-place trophy.

Leading Forest View in the last game was Julie Mathews with a 203.

Lachus paced the Falcons for the tourney. The strong junior had a 12-game average of 165.6. Sophomore Pleickhardt, who led the Mid-Suburban League in average this year, followed with a 164.9. Both bettered their averages in the two-day affair.

Pleickhardt's 581 series in the second round was a state tourney record and her high for the year.

Mathews was also right around her season average with a 158.9. Hanson averaged 149.4, Debbie Compton 144.7 (for 3 rounds) and substitute Linda Desrosiers 139.0 (for one round).

Leading Abingdon was Shelly Onion with a 168.6.

"Abingdon bowled excellently," said Frase. "Even if we bowled really well, it would have been really tight.

"I don't think we were overconfident, I really don't. Only two girls had been there before. I think they just started too late (in the finals).

"I'm pleased with them. They did a fine job. They may be a little disappointed game-wise in themselves, but I don't think they should be disappointed in their position.

"As long as they did the best they could. When you do, you should be satisfied with it. That's the name of the game, doing your best."

HELPING HAND. Forest View swimming coach Mike Stevens (center) lends a helping hand to freshman Tom Redig. Redig had just won the 200-yard individual medley in Mid-Suburban League conference swimming meet with a time of 2:08.707. Redig also took fifth in the butterfly and swam on the Falcons' second place medley relay team.

BURNING RUBBER are leader Richard Petty and David Pearson, top right, after a collision near the finish line of the Daytona 500 Sunday. Petty hit the wall just before taking the checkered flag and then spun into Pearson, sending both off the track. Pearson managed to get his car started first to edge out Petty.

Pearson does 'The Bump' to beat Petty at Daytona

David Pearson captured the Daytona 500, a race usually won at speeds of more than 180 miles an hour, by surviving a wreck on the last turn and limping over the finish line in his Mercury at less than 20 miles an hour at Datona, Fla.

"I was going about 15 or 20 miles an hour when I crossed the finish line," Pearson said after the 500-mile event at Daytona International Speedway. Petty, who finished second, was going even slower. The two drivers were running bumper-to-bumper in the last lap when their cars wrecked on the front stretch, both sliding into the infield grass. Petty's car would not start. Pearson's engine never shut off.

"I pulled back into low gear," said Pearson, whose car limped back on to the track and across the checkered flag for his first Daytona 500 victory ever. "I knew it was going to be close, but I didn't know it was going to be that close," he said.

When the cars halted after the collison, Petty, of Randleman, N.C., was about 30 feet from the finish line. Pearson, who stopped about 50 feet behind him, passed the stock car king as he sat in his Dodge.

Petty's crew rushed to the scene and pushed his crippled car, which managed to cross the finish line under its own power.

Ratelle rips Hawks with hat trick

Jean Ratelle's three-goal hat trick led the visiting Boston Bruin's past the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday at the Stadium, 4-1.

The Bruins jumped on Hawk goalie Gilles Villemure early in the first period. Jean Ratelle accounted for both goals, scoring at 3:00 and at 5:25. The Hawks had two power play opportunities, but Bruin goalie Gilles Gilbert was up to the task.

Pit Martin put the Hawks on the scoreboard in the second period. But Ratelle came right back with his third goal. Teammate Bobby Schmautz made it 4-1 late in the period.

Tony Esposito replaced Villemure in the nets in the third period. The veteran goalie blanked the Bruins, turning back several offensive charges. Gilbert also put in another solid period of goal keeping for the winners.

Olympics conclude on high, low notes

While all Austria celebrated a double victory by its 90-meter hill ski jumpers, the 12th Winter Olympic Games ended on a sour note for two U.S. hockey players who were fined $18 each after being involved in a midnight nightclub brawl in Innsbruck.

Gary Ross, of Roseau, Minn., and Bob Miller, of Billerica, Mass., were charged with disturbing the peace after police dropped the original charge of assaulting a policeman.

Phillip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said the matter had been resolved amicably after the authorities conducted an investigation at the team's quarters in the athletes' village.

Ausgria ended the Games the way it began it, with a gold medal. Karl Schnabl won the 90-meter ski jumping with 234.8 points following jumps of 319 feet 1¼ inches and 318.3. Teammate Toni Innauer, only 17, finished second with 232.9 points after getting off the longest jump of the competition, 336, 3¾, and East Germany's Henry Glass was third with 221.7 points.

Jim Denny of Duluth, Minn., was the best placed American, finishing 18th in the field of 55 with 191.1 points. He had jumps of 292-0 and 278, 10½.

Krumm refused to release the names of the other players involved in the brawl, but said four were treated for lacerations and contusions by the U.S. team medical officer and another was taken to the hospital with a suspected fractured jaw. "The X-ray showed no fracture," Krumm said, "but he had three stitches for a cut inside his mouth."

The brawl broke out when the players tried to enter a nightclub which was full. Police said the players were pushed back by patrons using fire extinguishers. Then the fists began to fly. The players were driven back into the street and it was here, the police charged, that Ross and Miller attacked the law officers.

Hoosiers give fans winning snack

Thanks to the Indiana basketball team's defensive play last weekend, Hoosier fans enjoyed a hamburger and a drink Sunday at a Bloomington restaurant. Indiana held Illinois to 48 points, one under the minimum set by the hamburger stand, while winning its 21st game Saturday. So every Hoosier fan who attended the contest and kept the ticket stub chowed down for free. Ranked No. 1 nationally, the Hoosiers will be trying to keep that lofty ranking at arch-rival Purdue tonight. . .

Defending champion J. C. Snead, wasting most of a five stroke lead while playing it safe, rolled in a four-foot birdie putt on the final hole for an even par 72 to beat Don Bies by a stroke and win the $180,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

A Minnesota Vikings spokesman admitted that the team has been approached by New York City officials about playing at the newly renovated Yankee Satdium, but he said the team was waiting to see what developed i Minnesota before seriously considering a move.

Joanne Carner blew a four-shot lead but came back and defeated Sandra Palmer on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the $45,000 Orange Blossom Classic in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Phil Esposito's two goals and one assist moved him into fifth place on the NHL's all-time scoring list Sunday night and paced the New York Rangers to a 5-1 victory over the Kansas City Scouts.

Can spring training be far behind?

Despite threatening skies, an estimated 28,500 baseball fans turned out at Dodger Stadium Sunday and saw the Los Angeles Dodgers and University of Southern California play to a 3-3 tie in a five-inning exhibition.

Cards' soph swimmers capture league title; Meadows' Rowland stars

The Arlington sophomore swimming team took its league title over the weekend by winning the Mid-Suburban League sophomore level conference meet.

The Young Cards won easily with 228 points to runner-up Prospect (175) and third place Rolling Meadows (173).

Rolling Meadows' Jim Rowland took two firsts in the meet, breaking two league records. Rowland also swam on his squad's winning medley relay team.

Rowland's 23.49 in the 50-yard freestyle broke a 1972 record of 24.2 set by Arlington's Brian Kelly. In winning the 100-yard backstroke, Rowland's time of 1:01.39 eclipsed the 1972 mark of 1:03.5, set by Arlington's Rob Carstens.

Arlington took four first enroute to its second victory of the weekend. The Cards' varsity won its conference meet Friday, giving them the league championship also.

Brandon Tanner took a first for the Cards in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:05.17. Paul Neave took the top spot in diving earlier in the week with 262.05 points. John Maves took first for Arlington in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 56.32 seconds. The Cards also won the free relay.

Maves, Tanner, Matt Malone and Steve Hall made up the winning entry for Arlington in the free relay, which won with a time of 3:51.26.

Other first place winners were: Medley Relay — Rolling Meadows (Rowland, Meisenheimer, Mate Ulbrick) 1:54.85; Individual Medley, — Earl Keegan, Elk Grove, 2:23.72; Butterfly — Scott Baete, Elk Grove; 1:04.03; Breaststroke — Mark Meisenheimer, Rolling Meadows, 1:12.57.

The meet results mean that conference champ Arlington will be followed in the final league standings by Prospect. Hersey finished third in the final league standings.

Marriott hosts tennis clinic

An array of talented and well-known tennis authorities, headed by Bill Murphy, tennis coach at the University of Arizona, will be featured at the second annual Midwest Tennis Coaches Clinic at the Chicago Marriott Hotel (8535 West Higgins Road), March 5-6.

Murphy, the former head coach at the University of Michigan for 19 seasons, has guided his Arizona teams to a 32-6 dual meet record over the past two seasons, along with two Western Athletic Conference Championships and top ten national finishes.

Murphy's two-day topics will include: "Key Drills for Intermediate and Advanced Players," and "Play Situation, Tactical Analysis."

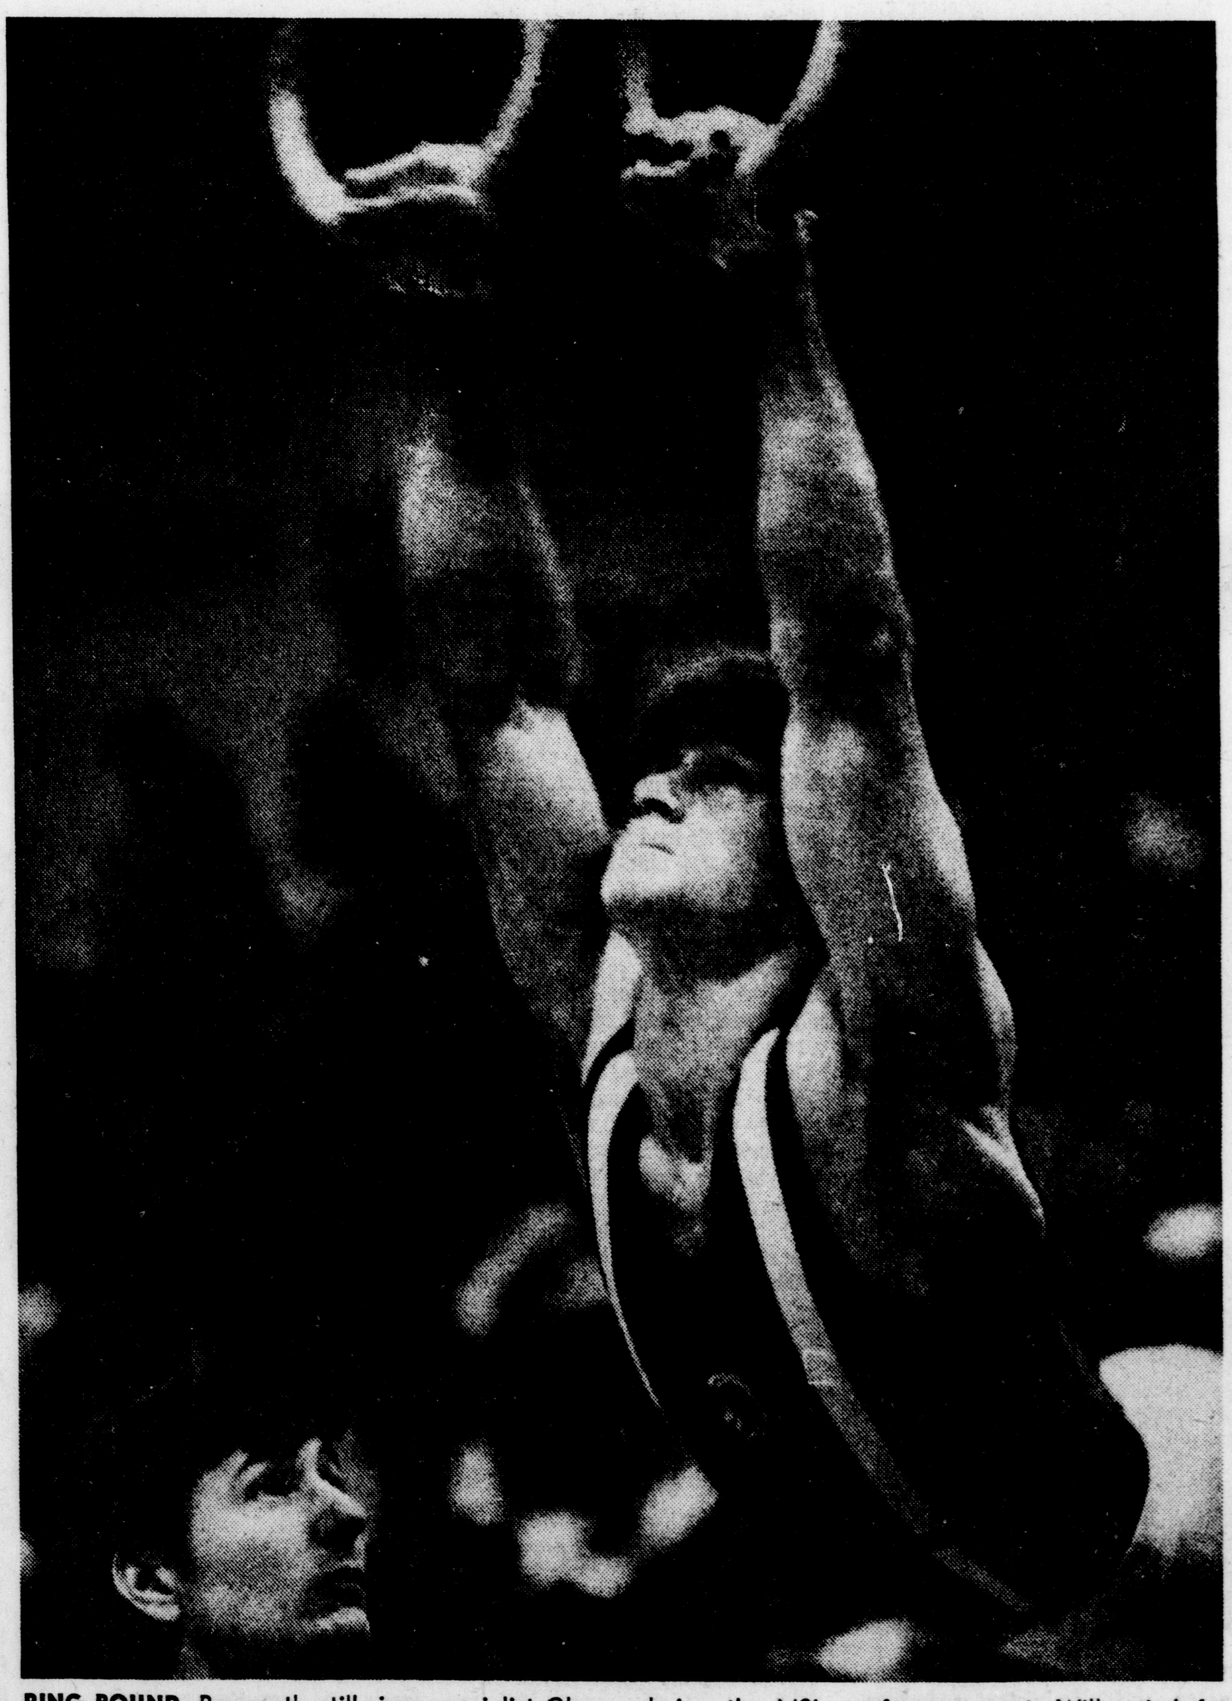
Other speakers to appear will include: Joan Ramey, head tennis pro at the Northeast Indoor Club, Indianapolis; Jack Wayne, head coach at Homewood-Flossmoor High School; Al Kranz, head trainer for Standard Oil, Allan Carvell, president of Rainbo Sports Center, Chicago; and Stephen Wilkinson, head tennis coach, Gustavus Adolphus College.

The clinic speakers will present their lectures from a regulation court, while the spectators view their presentations from an elevated seating arrangement.

All interested persons should contact clinic directors Lee Frederick, head tennis coach at Western Illinois, or Bill Callahan, head tennis coach at DeKalb High School.

DePaul on radio

The basketball game between DePaul and nationally ranked Virginia Tech tonight will be broadcast live on WWMM-FM (92.7), starting at 7:45 p.m. with The Coach Ray Meyer Show. Bob Houghton of WWMM will call the plays and Bob Frisk of The Herald will give color commentary.



RING BOUND. Prospect's still rings specialist Glenn Wilke gets the eye from head coach Pat Kivland during the MSL conference meet. Wilke tied for fifth place with an 8.15 judging.

Sectional battles ahead for area mat qualifiers

by KEITH REINHARD
Wrestling Editor

Quality rather than quantity was the area's wrestling battle cry Saturday while Maine West and Buffalo Grove were putting forth the best local efforts at four district wrestling tournaments.

The Warriors, somewhat expectedly, and the Bison, very unexpectedly, sauntered off with repeat championships over the weekend to head up the march into sectional warfare beginning this Friday.

On an individual basis, however, pickings were much slimmer than in recent years with only 41 total area wrestlers qualifying for the next round of the state tourney.

Dick Carlini's West crew, with a well-balanced attack, racked up 126 points to win the Ridgewood district gathering handily and marched seven grapplers into West Leyden's sectional showdown.

Dennis Riccio's Grove outfit crowned four champs and qualified five at Highland Park while bursting past the favored hosting Little Giants, Barrington and Glenbrook North to win by a nose.

At Crown's district it was Dundee unseating the defending champions from Hersey while at Elgin the favored Addison Trail Blazers roared off with another throne while qualifying two thirds of their team.

The Huskies, along with Elk Grove out of the Elgin District, and the Bison were the only schools in the Mid-Suburban League to advance more than three wrestlers to the sectionals and the conference produced only 32 overall . . . a far cry from last year's 44.

Here's the rundown by district:

RIDGEWOOD

With two champs, five runnersup and a pair of third place finishers, Maine West outdistanced the rest of the pack by nearly 50 points. There was only one repeating champ — Maine South's John Carroll dropping down from heavyweight to win the 185-pound division — but two Warriors, Tom Krauser at 98 and Mike Tramel at 119, requalified as runnersup and Maine East's Mike Fiorio and Maine South's Kurt Fiech will also go to sectionals again.

The two West champs were Rob Krusinski at 105 and Bill Barringer at 155. Krusinski logged a shutout and a pair of pins to win his title handily.

Also advancing for West were Dave Cavazos at 185 and heavyweight Bob Smith. Louie DePasquale at 132 and Dan Cavazos at 145 notched thirds, the latter losing out 10-7 to Fiorio in the wrestlebacks.

The wrestleback route was employed with better success by Prospect's Carl Schimmelman at 167 and he won over Notre Dame's Dave Mandolini by default to qualify. Another Knight, Jim Audet, was turned back at 155 after rallying through the lower bracket and settled for third.

Forest View had third place windups from Frank Roemisch at 112 and Lon Reitz at 185, the latter winning four out of five bouts — three by pin to earn his ranking.

HIGHLAND PARK

The Bison were down by 13 points going into the final session but dumped Highland Park four times in head-to-head combat Saturday night and squeaked off with the title by a narrow 2½-point margin. Rich Wilhelm remained unbeaten at 126 and was joined in the winner's circle by teammates Doug Browning at 145, Greg Thomson at 132 and Tim Foley at 112.

Foley turned no easy trick in winning his crown. His victims were GBN's Dave Gimbel (20-8), Barrington's Pat Connolly (14-9) and Highland Park's Billy Clark (25-2-1).

Also advancing for Buffalo Grove was Tim Dunn, via the wrestlebacks at 138, while Bob Fechtner at 155 and Chris Rugg at 167 annexed thirds.

CROWN

A well-balanced tournament saw every team qualify two or more wrestlers and Hersey's five advancing matmen was tops although they were beaten out by Dundee on the scoreboard 86-70½.

Rolling Meadows came in third and produced three champs — Pete Martin at 145, Ted Tyk at 167 and Jim Carlstrom at 119. The latter Mustang barely edged Huskie Jim Watters in a rerun of their MSL title duel.

Other Hersey grapplers advancing included champions Dan Lococo at 132 and John Haney at 185 and runnersup Rick Dewar at 145 and Brett Benz at 138.

St. Viator had a pair of champs in Scott Malouf at 105 and repeat heavyweight victor Scott Zettek. Fremd also had first place performances from two entries — Doug McCarthy at 126 and Russ Pollard at 155 — along with a second through the wrestlebacks by 105-pound Bob Dean.

Arlington had second place efforts from Dan Weber at 112, John Preissing at 126 and Dan Kennedy at 132. For Palatine it was Mike Cullen qualifying at 98 and Jim Popp advancing at 155, both in second place.

ELGIN

The surprise at Elgin was Larkin's strong second place windup behind Addison Trail and they led the meeting with five champions.

Elk Grove dominated only one class, 138 with John Carpenter, but Steve King at 112, Tim Bush at 119, Tim McGuire at 167 and Mike Malone at heavyweight all chipped in with seconds and Wayne Stoltzman at 185 and Bill Lancaster at 105 added thirds to the cause.

Lancaster was blanked in the wrestlebacks by Al Blount of Schaumburg, who lost his first bout of the campaign but still went on to qualify. Saxon Dave Cooke also qualified behind Conant's Jon Gluck in a rough and tumble 98-pound division that left MSL champ Darcy Rice of Hoffman Estates by the wayside.

For the Hawks Jim Thomas at 155 and Chad McCreary at 145 both became repeat qualifiers, the latter in the wrestlebacks at the expence of another defending area qualifier, Cougar Tim Goergen.

Coach finds the way to avoid rabbit stew

Well, I suppose it's the function of a university to prepare people to become captains of industry. So I don't see why everyone should be so shocked that Dick Vermeil should leave the state-supported ivy halls of UCLA to go to work for a Philadelphia corporation.

Isn't that what universities are for — to keep the National Football League freshly supplied?

Does any department of our multiversity function half as efficiently as the athletic? No one from UCLA has yet been elected President or named to the Supreme Court. But its basketball team goes directly and intact to the Hall of Fame. Its football coach goes to the Philadelphia Eagles. Or the Rams. Its backs go to the Super Bowl.

If the biology and pre-med departments were run nearly as efficiently, cancer would have been stamped out years ago. If the psychology department had as much success, mental illness would be as extinct as the dinosaur. If economics processed its scholars with half the care the football department does, there'd be no unemployment.

You see, the atheletic department takes a no-nonsense approach to its education. No cockamamie theories about sight-reading, experimental studies. The football department doesn't care how many frivolous courses its students take in the regular curriculum, but there are no snap courses in the locker room. You hit the sled — or you hit the road. You block and tackle — or you go home and take your chances in the post office.

Everyone clearly understands what he's there for — the Green Bay Packers. Or the Philadelphia Eagles. Everyone from the coach on down appreciates that his main obligation is to become a fully-trained, fully-publicized, fully-skilled football commodity, so that someday he'll be paid a million dollars a minute to jump over counters in rent-a-car commercials, or someday he'll sell himself for half of Tampa.

The Prussian War College was sloppy compared to a modern college football brain trust. Kids who can see an eye chart at 100 paces but don't know what the letters are can solve the most complicated diagrams of a playbook and carry them out on the field. The only letters in the alphabet they know right off are "X's" and "O's" but they are letter-perfect in their blocking assignments.

If English Lit professors were one-tenth as proficient, UCLA would be turning out Hemingways instead of halfbacks. If the Physics Department had a Rose Bowl, we'd be colonizing Mars by now.

No one should be shocked at Dick Vermeil jumping the club for more money than any university president can ever make. Football coaches historically have driven out of town with better jobs and new cars just given them by the alumni. Think they care about all that hype, the old blue-and-gold or scarlet-and-gray or boola-boola or card tricks? Think they care what color their teaam wears? Or what school they play for?

But, what other group of educators can take an illiterate, incoherent, uncommunicative, barely social mass of muscle, and, in four years, have it accepting a trophy in a tuxedo from a bunch of the nation's business elite, making a gracious speech, and handing it over to one of his many agents or lawyers to carry to the plane for him?

Dick Vermeil just speeded up the process, is all. He achieved Instant Genius with one ride out of the Rose Bowl on the shoulders of his players. But he's no dummy. He's getting out of the mines. Now he has 150 colleges and universities and 150 million taxpayers working for him, providing his product at no cost to management.

Instead of having to beat Woody Hayes and Bo Schembechler, he now has full-time employes, suppliers, as it were, scouring the country and finding his product for him. When he looks at films of Archie Griffin now, he doesn't have to figure how to tackle him, but how to sign him. He'll never again have to gag down rabbit stew in the house of some 3-2, 220-pound allstate prospect. Bear Bryant and Woody and Darrell and all those other unpaid hirelings of the NFL will do it for him.

Assil's hurdles victories highlight Conant success

Conant's track team captured seven firsts to take top honors in a triangular meet at Niles East Saturday. Among the Cougar victories were a pair of wins for junior hurdler Sam Assil.

In other indoor track action Saturday, Rolling Meadows opened its season with an impressive second-place finish behind Niles West, and Schaumburg and Elk Grove turned in some good performances in running behind a strong team from Addison Trail.

Conant (75) beat Dundee (61) and Niles East (12) as Assil won the 50-yard low hurdles (:06.4) and the 50-yard highs (:06.9) and sophomore teammate Bill Baird took first in the mile in 4:39. Other Cougar winners were Pat Hagen in the two-mile, Mike Walston in the 440 (:58.2), Jeff Carter in the pole vault (12-0), and Dave Janzow and Steve Frederick who tied for first in the high jump at 5-8.

The Rolling Meadows squad was operating at about one-half effectiveness effots were turned in by Jeff Lund, Dave Boursaw, and Tom Choice, among others. The Mustangs totaled 72 points to finish behind Niles West (92) and ahead of Taft (41).

Lund won the high jump (6-0) and the triple jump (38-8½), and Boursaw took first in the 50-yard dash (:05.9) and second in the long jump, where his 19-6½ mark was a half-inch better than teammate Pat Murphy. Choice overcame illness to register a win in the 880 in 2:11.2.

Mustang shotputters Dave Thompson and Rich Huber took first and second, reaching marks of 47-6¼ and 46-3¼ respectively. Mike Quinnett won the pole vault with a 9-6 effort against little competition.

At Addison Trail, the host Blazers won with 80½ points, followed by Schaumburg (50½) and Elk Grove (38).

Elk Grove's first meet of the season was highlighted by a double victory for Joe Cullen, who won the mile (4:52) and the two-mile (10:26), and a pair of wins for hurdler Pat O'Brien (:06.3 in the lows and :06.9 in the highs).

Elk Grove's John Fabbrini won the 660 in 1:30.5.

Schaumburg's Mike Christy won the shot put (44-5½) and took second in the long jump (19-5). Teammate Mark Seltzer was first in the 880 in 2:11.3.

Schaumburg's Mike Christy won the hot put (44-5½) and took second in the long jump (19-5). Teammate Mark Seltzer was first in the 880 in 2:11.3. Saxons Scott Mielke and Bill Bolger were second in the high jump (5-10) and the shot put (42-9) respectively.

ond and third.

Hersey and Prospect were caught in a running battle for second place throughout with the Huskies overhauling the Knights on P-Bars and taking the second spot by half a point.

The trampoline title, which went to Hersey's Mike Kropp last year, stayed in the school as Bob Barut bounced to an 8.60 to take the title for the Huskies.

Ray Peters, showing no ill effects from the knee injury that sidelined him part of the season, took third with an 8.25.

Elk Grove's trampoline team, the weak link in an otherwise formidable team, was lead by Christensen's 7.10.

"We aren't very good on trampoline," Gaines said. "But we're getting better."

The Prospect Knights, with only an outside chance at taking the team title because of two dual meet losses in the conference during the regular season, got off to a good start when Doug Zahour took second on free ex.

They were helped further by Dave Scheible's showing on side horse. His 8.20 placed him in second behind Elk Grove's Connelly.

Jim Tangney and Glenn Wilke provided the Knights with their other two medals. Tangney fired off an 8.25 to place third on P-Bars and Wilke's 8.15 still rings score tied him for fifth.

Rolling Meadows had medalists in all but two events as they copped fourth place.

All-arounder Mike Illingworth grabbed the fourth place award on free ex when he scored an 8.15. Liszewski and Waclawski teamed up for medals on high bar and Dave Bycroft, the final competitor in the meet, sent the Mustang fans home happy when he won the still rings competition with an 8.50 score.

Meadows all-arounder Guy Owsiany tied for fifth with Fremd's Doug Smidl with an 6.90 mean.

Trampolinists Glenn Johnson (8.40) and Tom Sidor (7.70) established the Mustang tramp team as second to only Hersey's as they took second and fifth place medals respectively.

The surprising Smidl, who, with his brother Dave is half of a look alike duo that has brought the Vikings from ridicule to respectability, also placed third on the side horse with a 7.90.

Buffalo Grove's Bison fell short of their goal of a 135 score but their 131.62 score pushed them into fifth place and they, along with the Wheeling Wildcats, will be title contenders next year.

Dewey Deal, the Bison sophomore all-arounder, fulfilled coach Dennis Mazur's projection of a third place all-around finish when he averaged out to 7.27.

He also picked up a medal on P-Bars when he tied with Hersey's Rich Stange for fourth place at 7.80.

The Bison also picked up some spare change when Lee Battaglia's 8.20 took fourth on high bar and Mark Farrington tied for second with Arlington's Tom Staley on rings with an 8.35.

Wheeling's Wildcats got off to a good start when Jim Geske tied for fourth on side horse at 7.45. The Wildcats, who placed sixth as a team, got their only other medal from a familiar source. Still rings specialist Dale Brungraber grabbed the fourth place medal with an 8.25.

Arlington's Cardinals, edged out of a North Division team spot by Wheeling, fared best of the at-large competitors.

Besides Staley's still rings medal, Chris Smith took fourth on the trampoline with a 7.85 score.

Hersey defended one title Saturday as their frosh-soph team took the league championship.
